Crowds Watch Battle Near Settlement's Border

FIGHT TO FINISH

U. S. Marines Offer to Help Battalion Withdraw

Shanghai—(AP)—The United States marines and British troops offered tonight to aid withdrawal of a Chinese battalion, trapped by Japanese, to end the menace of stray bullets falling into Shanghai's International Settlement with its thousands of foreigners, including Americans. The offer was refused. The defiant, almost certainly doomed battalion held grimly to a small area within Chinese Cilapei which the remainder of their army abandoned yesterday to flames and advancing Japanese.

Crowds of foreigners and Chinese had gathered on rooftops, despite a shower of machine gun bullets, to watch the battle along the settlement's northern border when the American and British offer of aid was made.

There was danger to the International Settlement, too, on the western edges and along the French concession frontier, with a major battle in progress around Hunjiao, suburb in which are located many of the city's finest homes.

Japanese Ready to Discuss Peace in Far East, Report

Paris—(AP)—Japan is disposed to accept friendly conversations with interested powers, including particularly the United States, looking toward eventual restoration of peace between Japan and China, a high Japanese authority said tonight.

As the American delegation entrained for Brussels, enroute to the nine-power conference which Japan has declined to attend, this Japanese authority suggested that the Brussels conference might give a mandate to interested powers to open peace negotiations at Tokyo and Nanking.

The idea broached was that Ambassador Joseph C. Grew, American ambassador to Japan, and Sir Robert L. Craigie, British ambassador, would talk with Foreign Minister Koki Hirota in Tokyo. The American and British ambassadors to Nanking then could sound out the Chinese government.

contacted the embattled battalion in Cilapei by a still serviceable telephone line connecting with a warehouse in the battle zone.

The American and British commanders suggested that their forces be used to aid the beleaguered Chinese in obtaining sanctuary south of Soochow creek.

Reminded of the destruction that Japanese planes might cause to their position, Commander Colonel Chin-Yuan replied:

"We are not much worried by the Japanese planes and we're prepared for their infantry."

Marines Warned

Japanese naval headquarters advised United States marines to take precautionary measures against possible severe action to wipe out the Chinese battalion, opposite one section of marine defense lines.

Designating the Chinese detachment as stragglers, the navy spokesman predicted they soon would be killed.

Crowds of hero-worshipping Chinese who flocked to the settlement edge of the creek to cheer their fighting countrymen declared

Mysterious Political Force

Newton's Law of Gravitation is all wrong, according to Dr. Conway Robinson, a noted engineer who says that gravitation is the force with which all bodies attract each other, is not caused by pull but by push. Except in politics of course. Because that's a force that requires both push and pull. And so, by the way, do the Post-Crescent classified want-ads. And they have it, too. That's how this one, for instance, attracted such a good sale:

Expert Testifies Anna Hahn Forged Name of Wagner

'Last Will and Testament' And Other Documents Listed at Trial

Cincinnati—(AP)—A handwriting expert's testimony that Anna Marie Hahn forged the name of Jacob Wagner on three documents, including his purported will, was added today to the state's evidence in her murder trial.

The blonde 31-year-old mother, accused by the prosecution of "mass murders" for profit, is being tried for the poison death of Wagner, 78, a retired gardener.

Albert D. Osborn, of New York, engaged by the state to identify documents in the case, testified at a night session that Mrs. Hahn was the author of a scrawled handwriting which, the state asserted, she represented as Wagner's "last will and testament," leaving to her all his modest fortune.

"Poor Imitation"

Osborn also declared the signature on an order giving Mrs. Hahn power of attorney for Wagner was a "poor imitation" and that a check bearing Wagner's name in reality was made out by Mrs. Hahn. The defense has admitted that the defendant forged a check for $1,000 several hours after Wagner died June 3.

Previously Dr. Willard Machle, a chemist, testified lining of a hand bag taken from Mrs. Hahn when she was arrested Aug. 11 contained the same type of metallic poison found in Wagner's body.

Dr. Machle, over defense objection, stated he found scrapings of lint from the bag were 35 per cent poison.

Osborn, describing himself as the expert in the Bruno Richard Hauptmann trial in the Lindbergh kidnap-murder case, identified also Mrs. Hahn's letters written to Albert J. Palmer, retired watchman whose death the state listed among three others as collateral evidence.

Among the letters to Palmer identified by Osborn were ones addressed "my dear sweet dady" and another asking for $100.

New Libel Suit in Race Track Fight

O'Hara Sues Rhode Island Governor for Half Million Dollars

Providence, R. I.—(AP)—A warrant for the arrest of Governor Robert E. Quinn in a $500,000 libel suit by Walter E. O'Hara remained in the pocket of Sheriff Thomas Barry of Kent county as Quinn insisted he could not be arrested as chief executive.

Meanwhile, O'Hara remained free on $5,000 bail awaiting arraignment on a grand jury indictment returned yesterday charging him with libeling the governor in an extra edition of the Star Tribune by calling him "a liar."

The libel action was only one of several confronting O'Hara, managing director of Narragansett race track. A second criminal libel charge has been brought by William E. Beahan of Larchmont, N. Y., general counsel for the Outdoor Advertising company, who charged O'Hara called him "a bribe-taker." Beahan also sought $100,000 in a civil action.

Tuesday night Governor Quinn had O'Hara arrested on a civil libel suit for $500,000 basing his action on a radio speech O'Hara delivered a few hours earlier. The turfman countered yesterday with a similar libel suit for the same amount against the governor. This was the suit on which Quinn refused to accept a warrant for his arrest.

At nearby Pawtucket national guardsmen continued to enforce martial law and prevent a fall race meeting.

Milwaukee Florist Is Traffic Accident Victim

33, a Florist, Killed When Struck by Truck as He Rode on his Bicycle Near Here Yesterday

Milwaukee—(AP)—Hans Doering, 33, a florist, was killed when struck by a truck as he rode on his bicycle near here yesterday.

The truck driver, who first reported he found the man's body lying in the ditch and then later admitted his truck was involved in the accident, was ordered by sheriff's deputies to report for further questioning today.

Give Business Chance to Live, Senator's Plea

'Must Survive, or None of Us' Can Survive, Vandenberg Says

RAPS U. S. POLICIES

'Wealth Has to be Created Before It Can be Shared,' He States

Grand Rapids, Mich.—(AP)—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) told a joint meeting of luncheon and community clubs here today that "if legitimate American business does not have a fair chance to profitably survive, none of us has a chance to survive."

In an address which criticized the New Deal's business policies, Senator Vandenberg asserted "it is a fine ideal to share the wealth. Wealth ought to be as widely shared as possible in a democracy. But wealth has to be created before it can be shared. Business has to succeed before it can make jobs. Money must go to work before men can go to work."

Declaring the government today is putting these "axioms" in reverse, he said it is trying to go "in two opposite directions" at the same time.

Burglar Slain as He Fails to Heed Command to Halt

Brothers Trap Him When Alarm Sounds in Their Home

Kenosha—(AP)—An unidentified man of about 50, apparently a transient, was shot and instantly killed early today when he failed to heed a command to halt after burglarizing the general store at Somers, operated by James and Albert Bullamore, elderly brothers. The brothers were aroused when their locally famous home-made burglar alarm functioned successfully for the fifth time in the last six years.

James Bullamore shot the burglar from a distance of about 30 feet, discharging both barrels of an old 16-gauge shotgun. Both loads struck the transient in the back. He dropped in his tracks.

The Bullamore brothers' home is about 100 feet from their country store. Awakened by their alarm they followed their usual procedure of hastening to the store and turning on the lights with an outside switch. The burglar bolted out the door, dropping a gunnysack containing merchandise.

James told him to stop, and pointed his shotgun. Albert raised his .45 pistol. The man kept running, and James fired. Albert's marksman's eye was not needed.

Entering the store, the brothers found the man had cracked open the post office money box and removed some of the contents. He also had tried on several pairs of shoes, and helped himself to cakes and rolls.

The burglar was about 50 years old, and wore dark blue corduroy trousers, a sheepskin coat, two sweaters, and a blue workshirt.

He was the first to have been killed in the series of store robberies, but not the first to have been shot. The last previous robbery reported was in May, 1936, when the brothers captured a robber without firing a shot. He now is serving a one to ten year sentence at Waupun.

With an ingenious system of wires, the brothers contrived an alarm which when tripped would awaken them with a signal, and turn on the lights.

Pleads Guilty of Drunken Driving

Appleton Trucker Fined $50 and Costs, License Revoked

Pleading guilty to a charge of drunken driving, Harry Van Heuklon, 820 W. Brewster street, was fined $50 and costs by Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court this morning.

Judge Ryan also fined him $50 and costs and ordered his license revoked for one year under the state statute on the same charge.

The state charge was remitted upon payment of costs and the city fine.

Van Heuklon was arrested on Richmond street about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by city police. They reported he was driving a truck in an erratic manner.

Urges Definite Reserve For Social Security Plan

Des Moines, Iowa, Told Wisconsin Association of Mutual Insurance Companies Last Night That the Federal Government Should be Required to Operate its Social Security Program with a Definite Reserve Such as is Required of Insurance Companies

Jones, former president of the National Association of Mutual Insurance Agents, declared:

"The federal practice of dipping into the social security fund to pay current expenses is unfair to the workers who are compelled to contribute and expect to build and old age fund. The treasury department apparently is working on the theory the Uncle Sam is always good for whatever he borrows."

Chicago—(AP)—A true bill charging Donald Lewandowski, Jr., a 13-year-old sixth grade pupil, with manslaughter in the death of an 11-year-old girl was reported voted yesterday by the grand jury.

A member of the state's attorney's staff said the youth was the youngest charged with such an offense in Cook county records.

The girl, Lorraine Rzepka, died of cerebral hemorrhage Oct. 26. Students at her school said she was hit over the head with a cardboard tube.

Heavy Rains Create Flood Threats In Maryland and Pennsylvania Areas

Cumberland, Md.—(AP)—Rain which sent the Potomac river above flood stage today stepped as backwaters rose even with the streets in storm sewers in the business section.

Shortly after noon no damage had been reported in Cumberland, but half of Ridgely, Va., across the river, was under water. All persons in the flooded section had time to flee to high ground.

The Western Maryland railroad halted trains west of here to Elkins, W. Va. Other railroads and roads carried normal traffic.

School was suspended in Kitzmiller, Md., when flood waters isolated the schoolhouse.

The Potomac river was rising two feet an hour at Hancock, Md., farther down the Potomac valley. Williamsport, Md., in the valley, also reported a rise. The rate of rise here showed but did not halt.

More than 120 families in mining towns above here already had been driven from their homes.

Johnstown, Pa.—(AP)—Johnstown's Stonycreek river climbed past the six-foot level today toward a predicted crest of at least 10 feet tonight, within two feet of flood stage.

Government Weather Observer Robert Tross made the forecast while a steady downpour sent the river rising at the rate of one foot an hour.

At 12 feet, the waters would pour into basements of homes and business houses along low-lying streets but the streets themselves would not be inundated unless the river reached 14 feet.

During the 28-hour period from 8 a. m. yesterday, 187 inches of rain fell over the historic flood city.

Pittsburgh—(AP)—Heavy rainfall over the western Pennsylvania watershed sent rivers climbing today, with a predicted level within 3 feet of the 25-foot flood stage at Pittsburgh by tomorrow.

Weather Forecaster W. S. Brotzman said the 22-foot level would be reached by 8 o'clock a. m. Friday at "the point" where the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers converge to form the Ohio river.

He said the water might go beyond this stage later tomorrow.

DENIES 'SHAKEDOWN'

Leopold McGlavin (above), 48-year-old brother of the screen star, Victor McLaglen, denied at Los Angeles that he tried to "shake-down" Phillip Chancellor for a salary bonus of $8,000. He was booked on suspicion of solicitation of the commission of a crime.

Duce Supports Reich Demand For Colonies

Says Germany Must be Restored to 'Place in African Sun'

HITS 'BOLSHEVISM'

Revision of Peace Treaties Is Necessary, Mussolini States

Rome—(AP)—Premier Mussolini, celebrating the fifteenth anniversary of the fascist march on Rome, declared today it is "necessary" that Germany be restored to her "place in the African sun."

It duce thus voiced support for Germany's desire for return of her war-lost colonies. He spoke at Mussolini forum in the presence of 100,000 fascists from all parts of Italy.

A German delegation, sent to Rome by Reichschancellor Hitler for the celebration, heard the premier, along with other foreign diplomats.

Mussolini turned to what both Nazi Germany and fascist Italy term the threat of "bolshivism" in Europe.

"For durable and fruitful peace it is necessary that bolshivism be eliminated in Europe," he told the massed blackshirts and visitors.

Favors Revision

"It is necessary that some clauses of the (World War) peace treaties be revised," he went on. "It is necessary that a great people, the German people, have once more the place to which it is entitled and which it once possessed in the African sun."

The premier shifted to Italy's own colonial empire.

"It is necessary that Italy be left tranquil because she has created her empire with her own blood and with her resources without touching a single corner of the empires of others," he said.

He defended Italy against what he called foreign criticism in connection with the recently imposed 10 per cent capital levy for re-armament.

"We cannot be judged by these ridiculous standards," he duce said, "in fascist Italy capital is at the orders of the state while in the great

Publisher and Son are Lost in Idaho Wilds

Stanley, Idaho—(AP)—Mountain folk, wise in the treachery of wilderness trails, beat through the nation's greatest wilderness area today in search of an Idaho newspaper publisher and his 10-year-old son, missing six days on a hunting trip.

Somewhere in Challis National forest area they hope to locate R. L. Cornwell of Jerome, Idaho, and his son, Dean.

"More'n likely," suggested an old-timer, "they wandered out on one of them game trails that straggle on and on into the wilderness."

"But with their guns and packs they shouldn't be too bad off. There's thousands of deer, elk and other animals they can eat. There's plenty of water."

Smoke From Peat Fires Hampers Auto Traffic

Racine—(AP)—Crews of highway workers and sheriff's deputies patrolled heavily-travelled United States highway 41 through Racine county today as dense clouds of smoke emanating from peat fires west of here menaced farm homes and brought traffic to a virtual standstill.

Red lanterns and flares were posted along the highway through the smoke area and deputies and highway authorities enlisted the aid of farmers in the vicinity for night patrol work when the smoke makes motoring extremely perilous.

Trenches were dug today to prevent the spread of the fires, but there was no immediate danger to homes. No homes have been abandoned.

Indian Airman Killed On First Leg of Flight

London—(AP)—G. P. Nair, Indian airman who left Croydon airdrome today on the first leg of a projected round trip crossing of the Atlantic, was reported killed in the crash of his plane, The Spirit of India, near Forges-les-Eaux, France.

Forges-les-Eaux is near Rouen, about 25 miles inland from Le Havre, on the English channel, and about 350 miles short of Nair's goal, Marseille, first stop on his projected flight.

London—(AP)—The four officers of the state beverage tax division whose discharge was announced today by State Treasurer Solomon Levitan, will contest removal, by court action if necessary, he declared today, branding the state treasurer's action as "a political move."

"Levitan has been trying to oust me ever since he took office," declared Deuster, who has been an agent of the division for the last three years. "This is his third attempt. Nearly all the appointments by Robert K. Henry, as I was, already have been dropped. But he's not going to accuse me of drinking confiscated liquor when I didn't do it."

The four men—Deuster, group leader; Walter Denning, Oshkosh; Eric Goike and Al Keltz, Milwaukee—are charged with consuming liquor seized in a series of raids on Washington Island taverns Oct. 1. They were first discharged by Sam Woldenberg, chief enforcement officer on Oct. 7. Today's action by Levitan, who studied the charges against the men for two weeks, closed the case insofar as the treasury department is concerned, it was stated.

Bears Rush to Cover After Board Changes Margin Requirements

Shares Lose Most of Early Gains, Then Climb Again

MANY PROFIT SALES

Short Operators Kept on Run During Most Of Session

New York—(AP)—A shift in Washington's money controls over speculation tipped the stock market scales abruptly to the buying side today and sent traders scrambling to cover shares they had sold short.

In wake of the overnight news of a change in margin requirements by the federal reserve board, some trading favorites were swept up for gains of $8 or more as blocks of 1,000 to 15,000 shares changed hands at the opening.

Subsequently, as Wall street pondered the meaning of the credit screws the board put on short-selling and relaxation of credit restrictions against buying, the market lost most of the early gains. But a fresh wave of buying in the last hour lifted many issues near the early tops again and kept bear operators on the run.

Prominent on the initial advance were recent leaders of the rapid August-October decline. Gains of about $2 to $3 or more were recorded around the opening in American Can, New York Central, Consolidated Edison, Republic Steel and International Harvester.

As buyers swarmed into the market, driving prices of some leaders above the tops of last week's rally from the lows of the 1937 decline, the stock exchange ticker was unable to keep abreast the trading pace on the floor.

Encourages Buying

Apparently the overnight news of the margin changes from Washington, although hardly surprising to financial quarters in view of recent hints from the capital, emboldened traders to plunge into the buying side.

Since the changes do not become effective until Monday, the immediate influence was seen as brokers said, the new rules would expand substantially the potential buying power of traders operating partly with borrowed money.

Indications that recent short-sellers were beating a hasty retreat were seen as big blocks, mostly representing opening transactions, continued to appear on the ticker throughout the first half hour of dealings.

Chrysler, one of the most spectacular movers on the recent decline, opened on 10,000 shares at $47.75, up more than $5, and United States Steel, another trading favorite, jumped more than $4 to above $82 on an initial block of 15,000. Both surpassed last week's best rally efforts.

Service to People Is City's Biggest Job, Dykstra Says

Actual Governing Minor Part of Municipal Administration

Running a city is 90 per cent service to the public and 10 per cent government and if cities are to progress, they must plan more carefully and demand trained "public operators" who are most capable of giving these services, Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra, president of the University of Wisconsin, said in his talk before the forum meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions clubs yesterday noon in the Conlay hotel.

"It is perhaps unfortunate that we call it government when it is really the conduct of enterprise on a public basis," the university president said.

"It isn't government to collect garbage, give fire and police protection and clean the streets, it's just plain service. We're throwing these burdens on public officials and calling it government. . . . Cities are gradually going to get interested in public operators who can make a business out of public operations just like you make a business out of managing a paper mill or running a store."

A crowd of unexpected size came to hear Dykstra talk. The three clubs had suspended their weekly noon luncheons to attend the joint luncheon and the chamber of commerce forum committee, headed by Dr. Carl Neldhold, had 125 reservations for the dinner.

The hotel served about 250 persons and when Dr. Dykstra began to speak, others moved in bringing

Green Bay Man Brands Dismissal as 'Political Move'

Violent Wells Norton's Conviction Is Reversed

San Francisco—(AP)—The federal circuit court of appeals today reversed Violet Wells Norton's mail from a letter she sent Clark Gable, screen actor.

Mrs. Norton was convicted last April 23 on the basis of a letter the prosecution charged she mailed Gable March 7, 1936, from Nanitoba, Canada, naming him as the father of her daughter, Gwendoline.

The court held the letter did not come within the scope of the statute concerning mail fraud, but that it was a "scheme to coerce or extort and is a specie of blackmail."

All Parts of New Automobiles Shown At New York Exhibit

New York—(AP)—The 1938 National Automobile Show went into high today with all the glitter of a Christmas tree—and with spectators as pleased as kids with new toys.

Grand Central palace was the focal point and officials predicted greater attendance records than last year.

The machines, making a play primarily to the eye, were exhibited in almost every conceivable fashion.

Motors had glass walls so you could see what made them tick; some cars were cut in half, the makers proud of the skeletons which they wouldn't think of putting in a closet; bodies were exhibited in "before and after" phases to show how they looked in rough and finished form; motors were kept running and chassis revolved so the patrons could see every nut and bolt.

Windsors Planning Extensive Journey In United States

Paris—(AP)—The duke and duchess of Windsor are planning a double swing across the United States from New York to Hollywood and back to Miami, a close associate disclosed today.

They will travel with about 70 trunks and a retinue of six persons, he explained. The westward trip would take the former British monarch and his American-born wife along a northern route while the eastward journey would be through the south.

This member of the duke's suite emphasized that the exact itinerary of the five-week tour was still under discussion. The duke and duchess will sail, Nov. 6 on the liner Bremen.

After arrival in Florida they planned to visit a Caribbean island not yet decided upon. A friend of the couple said Washington and Pittsburgh already were on the list of places likely to be visited. Windsor's associate added that some industrial areas of New England were almost certain to be included.

No Indication of Peace in Labor Dispute; Recess May Last Indefinitely, Belief

Federation and CIO Forces Take 'No Surrender Attitude'

Washington—(AP)—Attitudes of "no surrender" by both factions in organized labor's civil war created a widespread belief today that the week's recess of the peace conference might last indefinitely.

An American Federation of Labor statement last night said:

"We have not received any help from the representatives of the Committee for Industrial Organization. Unless there is a change in their attitude ... it is doubtful if any progress can be made toward peace."

The federation's peace committee had just heard its own peace terms rejected by the CIO delegates in equally strong language. Philip Murray, CIO peace committee chairman, said the A. F. of L. offer would mean "abject surrender" and was wholly unacceptable.

Proposal Rejected

The CIO made the first peace proposal Tuesday. In brief, it called for the CIO to fly the A. F. of L. flag but to remain virtually an independent department.

The A. F. of L. would have none of that. The federation's peace committee proposed that John L. Lewis' unions dissolve the CIO and march back into the A. F. of L. to fight for their principles at federation conventions.

The federation charged that Murray "issued a public statement rejecting our proposal without advising the conference."

It spoke of "extravagant and unsupported" CIO membership claims and defended its own peace terms as affording "a reasonable opportunity of healing the breach."

"We offered to continue an intensive campaign along both industrial and craft lines," the A. F. of L. statement said.

On analysis, the federation said, the CIO plan offers "no basis of settlement," and "simply means a continuation and enlargement of the existing confusion and division."

Different Views

"It would give the CIO organizations within such a department every right, privilege and opportunity of controlling the affairs of those not holding membership in the CIO department."

A few observers expressed an opinion that the initial proposals were made just to start off the bargaining. Others, however, said they believed both groups had made their final offers.

Those on the sidelines speculated on the possibility of President Roosevelt bringing pressure on both sides to force an agreement.

James F. Dewey, veteran labor department conciliator, has kept in close touch with developments at the conference, although Secretary Perkins denied he was mediating. Senator Berry (D-Tenn.) has begun a series of informal conferences with leaders of both sides.

The appearance of Dewey and Berry at the recent A. F. of L. convention in Denver started unfounded reports that Mr. Roosevelt was actively interested in settling the fight.

Berry has been one of the president's advisers on labor problems. He is president of the Printing Pressman, a loyal A. F. of L. union, but voted with Lewis' friends at the Denver convention.

Wisconsin Weeklies to Meet Tomorrow at U. W.

Madison—(AP)—Representatives of 102 weekly newspapers of Wisconsin are expected to meet tomorrow at the University of Wisconsin journalism school at an annual conference sponsored by the university and the Wisconsin Press association.

President Clarence A. Dykstra and Athletic Director Harry Stuhldreher will speak at a dinner meeting in the Memorial union tomorrow evening. Other speakers include C. C. Younggreen, L. J. Collins and J. A. Lyons, all of Chicago.

Topics listed for discussion are promotion for weekly newspapers, community service, modernizing typography and national advertising. The conference will end Saturday noon, permitting the visitors to attend the Northwestern-Wisconsin football game.

Firemen Rescue Cat From Treetop Perch

An adventuresome "it forgot to look back when climbing a tree at 22 Bollaire court about 10:30 yesterday morning, and when it finally did found it had gone too far to safely embark on the return journey. Neighbors noticing its plight called firemen who with the aid of a 25-foot ladder made the rescue without mishap.

28,140 Lives Lost On Nation's Roads During 9 Months

9 Pct. Gain Over Similar Period in 1936; Rate Cut Down Recently

Chicago—(AP)—The National Safety council reported today 28,140 persons died in traffic accidents during the first nine months of 1937, a 9 per cent increase over the total for the same periods last year.

Despite the increase, the council noted "several favorable aspects" of the traffic situation. September was the second month in which no increase over 1936 was registered. The total for the month—3,500—represented a 10 per cent drop from August.

For the first time this year the increase in deaths for 1937 was less than the 10 per cent increase in motor traffic, the council said. The increase in deaths during the second and third quarters of 1937 was only 4 per cent over the same periods last year. During the first quarter it was 24 per cent.

Thirteen states reported declines in traffic fatalities for the first nine months of 1937 as compared with the same period last year while two reported no change. The council figured the reductions represented a saving of 317 lives.

Milwaukee "Safest"

The distinction of being the "safest city" among those with more than 500,000 population—held by New York for 21 consecutive months—was regained by Milwaukee when it recorded only two fatalities last month.

New York led in fatalities for the nine months period with a total of 551. Chicago was next with 544 and Los Angeles third with 342. In the 500,000 population or over class, only Boston and Pittsburgh showed reductions from last year. Milwaukee's total was unchanged.

Bangor, Maine, was the largest of 66 cities having perfect no-death accident records for the first three quarters of 1937. Similar records for September were achieved by 249 cities, of which Memphis was the largest.

Age Groups Percentages

The council said a comparison of statistics for the first eight months of 1937 with the like period in 1936 disclosed traffic fatalities among the age group of 65 years and over increased 25 per cent. Increases in other age groups were: 25-64 years, 11 per cent; 15-24 years, 9 per cent; 5-14 years, 2 per cent. A decline of 2 per cent in the age group under 2 years was recorded.

The 13 states which recorded decreases were: Kansas, 17 per cent; Maine, 17; South Dakota, and Nevada, 14; Minnesota, 13; Washington, 11; West Virginia, 7; Arkansas and Arizona, 5; Virginia, 4; Massachusetts, 3; Connecticut and North Dakota, 2; Georgia and Vermont had no change.

Among cities with a population of 500,000 or over, Milwaukee had 10.9 deaths per 100,000 population. New York's was 11.3 and Boston, third in the group, had a rate of 13.

Wausau, Wis., had a perfect record in the 10,000 to 25,000 class for nine months.

Credit Association to Meet at Fond du Lac

Stockholders of the Fond du Lac Production Credit association will hold their annual meeting at Fond du Lac Nov. 3. More than 1,000 farmers from Fond du Lac, Green Lake, Calumet, Sheboygan and Winnebago counties will attend. M. V. Adkins, Ripon, president, will preside. George Susans, president of the Production Credit corporation, St. Paul, Minn., will be the principal speaker.

The association has 464 members and has loaned them $311,874 in the 9-month period for livestock, dairying and general farm purposes. The members now own $18,265 in capital stock, 10 per cent of the total capital, the rest of the capital being subscribed by the Production Credit corporation of St. Paul, the supervising organization, Mr. Cameron said.

solid friendship between the two peoples."

The watchword with which Italy wished to inaugurate the sixteenth year of fascism, he said, could be expressed by "peace."

"This word has been abused in the beating sheepfolds of the so-called great democracies," he asserted, concluding with his prescription for peace which included restoration of the African colonies to Germany.

The 10,000 fascists, who camped last night on the outskirts of Rome, had marched into the capital in a re-enactment of the history-making march of 15 years ago.

Kimberly Mill Employees Plan Another Union Organization Meeting Set For Sunday in New Auditorium

Kimberly—An organization meeting for the purpose of reorganizing a union for mill workers will be held 6:30 Sunday evening at the new high school auditorium. A committee of three appointed last week, H. J. Kokke, W. Kaufman and Carl Van Rysin, has selected Sunday to give all workers an opportunity to attend. The meeting will be held in the auditorium to provide seating space for the large attendance expected. At last week's gathering in the village hall about one-fourth of the mill employees were present, filling the hall.

A meeting of all production employees of the Kimberly mill will be held at 7:30 Thursday evening at De Leeuw's hall. Discussion will center on "Why Workers Should Join the American Federation of Labor."

Chief of Police John Bernardy has appointed a number of deputies for Halloween Sunday evening. The chief said pranksters caught doing any property damage will be subject to arrest. Soaping windows is not permitted in the village.

With many residents in the village cleaning their yards of leaves, Fire Chief Alex Malcolm has warned against burning them on windy days. Leaves should be burned only on quiet days, he said, to prevent fires, and, if possible, should be burned in a metal container.

Boonfires, he said, must never be left unattended.

Group No. 2 of the Ladies Aid society met at the home of Mrs. Emil Breier Tuesday evening and made final plans for the annual bazaar to be held at the clubhouse in connection with the supper Thursday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Arthur Tideman is chairman of the bazaar and Mrs. Nina Hopkenbroek is chairman of Group No. 2.

The Fleur-de-Lis club was entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Tref. Lennel. Schafkopf was played and prizes awarded to Mrs. Joseph Mennen, first; Mrs. Clara LaBerge, second; and Mrs. Ben Couillard was awarded the traveling prize. Next week the club will play at the home of Mrs. Joseph Mennen.

Weyauwega Lions Hosts at Party

Entertain Members of Clintonville and New London Clubs

Weyauwega—The Weyauwega Lions club entertained the Waupaca and Clintonville clubs in their lions den at Hotel Robbins Monday evening. District Governor E. W. Mackey of Manitowish was the speaker and gave a talk on Lionsism. The Weyauwega male quartet sang several songs. Covers were laid for 65 and dinner was served at 6:30.

Erich Arndt Post No. 176 of Weyauwega will hold its annual state party at Behnke's hall, Bloomfield, Thursday evening. Carl Dietrich, head of the committee, reports 73 reservations have been sent in. Officers of nearby posts have been invited.

Mrs. L. J. Steiker was hostess to her bridge club on Monday evening. Prizes at cards went to Mrs. Emil Prah and Mrs. Ervin Nader. Mrs. Edna Farley will be hostess in two weeks.

The Double Four Bridge club met with Miss Margaret Munsch Monday evening. Mrs. Lester Anderson is a new member in place of Miss Norma Kobiske who resigned to take a position in Milwaukee.

Miss Adeline Robert of Chicago is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ritchie.

Knutzen Herd Is High for October In Testing Group

Cow Owned by Loren Anderson Sets High Individual Record

A cow owned by Loren Anderson gave 1,699 pounds of milk and 71.3 pounds of butterfat this month to lead cows in herds on test in the Outagamie County Holstein Improvement association, No. 2.

H. Knutzen's herd topped the 30 herds on test with an average of 995 pounds of milk and 33.3 pounds of butterfat during October. Fred Kaphingst and William Moreau's herds tied for second place with averages of 30.4 pounds of butterfat. Third place went to Edwin Lemke's herd with an average of 771 pounds of milk and 29.9 pounds of butterfat. Ben Bolinski's herd took fourth place with an average of 704 pounds of milk and 29.8 pounds of butterfat while William Tiedt's herd was fifth with an average of 662 pounds of milk and 28.2 pounds of butterfat.

Another cow owned by Anderson took second individual honors with 1,541 pounds of milk and 68.3 pounds of butterfat. Third place went to a cow owned by Alfred Bungert with 1,226 pounds of milk and 66.2 pounds of butterfat. Fourth high individual cow was found in the herd of Gerald Ruppel credited with 1,059 pounds of milk and 62.4 pounds of butterfat. A cow owned by Luther Huebner's was fifth and was credited with producing 1,438 pounds of milk containing 54.6 pounds of butterfat.

The following members of the association have cows that produced more than 40 pounds of butterfat during October: Alfred Bungert, 1; Victor Bohl, 2; William Griesbach, 1; Anton Otto, 1; Joseph Utschig, 1.

Large Group at Special Class

Third of Ten Lessons in Parliamentary Law Given at Clintonville

Clintonville—A large group was in attendance at the third lesson in parliamentary law at the city hall on Tuesday evening. This was one in a series of 10 lessons being taught by Walter Uphoff of the School for Workers in Industry, a division of the University of Wisconsin.

A model meeting was held for the purposes of acquainting the members with the following parliamentary motions: main or principal motion, to postpone indefinitely, amendment, amendment to the amendment, refer to a committee, previous questions, lay on the table, suspend the rules, withdraw a motion, divide a motion, read papers, objection, appeal, points of order, orders of the day, questions of privilege, and time and place to adjourn. The aim of the local group is to learn the legal method of conducting public meetings.

The Birthday club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Spiegel to celebrate the birthday anniversaries of Miss Viola Behling and Mrs. Richard Milbauer. Three tables of bridge were played with honors awarded to Mesdames H. V. Larson, R. Milbauer and Reuben Lendved.

Mrs. Mary Joubert has returned this week to her home near Tigerton after visiting for the last two weeks at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Roy Martin, and family.

Mrs. John Meinhardt was hostess to her bridge club Wednesday afternoon, when two tables of cards were followed by the serving of a luncheon. Those receiving prizes were Mrs. Ella Genskow, first; Mrs. Harry Isaacson, second; and Mrs. T. A. Patterson, travel.

Hostesses at a 1 o'clock luncheon Wednesday at Hotel Marson were Mesdames W. H. Finney, Roger Marson and O. C. Eberhardt. Eleven tables of bridge followed during the afternoon and prizes were given for high score at each table.

Congregational Missionary society met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Herbert Boyce on Torrey street. All former officers were reelected for the ensuing year. They are: Mrs. August Pinkowsky, president, Mrs. John Buehrens, vice president, and Mrs. W. H. Schmidt, secretary-treasurer. The lesson topic was presented by Miss Amelia Metzner and devotionals were in charge of Mrs. Pinkowsky and Mrs. Harry Dodge. Plans were made for a benefit tea to be held at the Congregational church parlors on Nov. 30.

A Halloween dance will be held at the Masonic hall on Friday evening.

Proposal Will Come Before Members at Meeting Monday

The purchase of a building for use as a clubhouse will be considered at a regular meeting of the Oney Johnston post of the American Legion at 8 o'clock Monday night at Elks hall, Raymond G. Kleist, commander, said today.

An option has been taken on a building, Kleist said, and a committee has been studying the proposal for several weeks.

Past commanders of the post will be honored Monday night, each man presiding for a time during the meeting.

Final plans for Armistice Day observances and the dinner and dance which the Legion will sponsor will be formulated. Charles Pond and George Limpert are in charge of arrangements.

A court of honor will be held for Troop 4 of Boy Scouts which is sponsored by the Legion. Ray Rancier is scoutmaster of the troop.

At the October meeting of the post, members discussed a municipal swimming pool project for the city and were asked to give their opinions regarding it. Two aldermen, Gustave Keller and George Brautigam, have been invited to attend Monday night's meeting. Kleist said, and explain certain phases of the plan.

Between November 1933 and December 1936 nearly $18,000,000 in federal government funds was spent for the construction and improvement of recreation areas in the various states.

Lawrence Expects Change in Federal Tax Methods Soon

Says Development Most Encouraging to Business at Present Time

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—A general revision of the entire federal tax structure, so as to afford a better balance and a more equitable relationship between rates, may be confidently expected to materialize for the coming calendar year 1938 on recommendation of Secretary Morgenthau and with the approval of President Roosevelt.

This development, perhaps one of the most encouraging that American business could possibly anticipate at this time, will doubtless not be credited until the ways and means committee of the house and the finance committee of the senate get together next month and begin consideration of treasury proposals. But the important fact is that the full drive of the administration will be behind the effort to achieve tax revision.

Heretofore, tax "revision" has usually meant indiscriminate increases in rates, and the public has come to look upon every change as more burdensome than its predecessor. But the time now has come for a realistic understanding that it is not a revision of rates, but a revision of tax methods which is bound to bring sustenance and support to a business recovery.

America's tax system has been developed with typical political inconsistency as a sort of crazy quilt. Rates have been compromised between extremes in congress that never have represented any well-considered tax theory as a whole, but simply the individual efforts of certain congressmen to win political prestige by soaking this or that class in the community.

Today, the complicated tax system of America is one of the major factors in the current business recession. Considerable study has been given by Roswell Magill, undersecretary of the treasury, and some of his associates to the British system of administering taxes, and it may be that some of the methods that have worked well in Great Britain will be found among the treasury's forthcoming recommendations.

Clumsy Methods
A good example of the clumsy and destructive way that tax laws have evolved may be seen in the way the undistributed profits tax was introduced. President Roosevelt proposed in 1936 to abandon the corporate income tax, the excess profits tax and the capital stock tax and to substitute the undistributed profits tax for all of them. Apprehension over possible loss of revenues and the usual hit-or-miss methods in drafting tax legislation prevailed, so that finally all these taxes were retained as well as the so-called substitute. Also, instead of doing away with the graduated income tax for corporations, the principle first injected in the 1935 law was modified somewhat to provide a lower starting point, but the top bracket was kept unchanged at 15 per cent.

In other words, there has not been in the making of our tax laws any well-defined plan, but a sort of makeshift that has suited the political conditions of the moment. So far as tax theory itself is concerned, very little popular education on it has been developed. Many business men talk frequently of wanting to see a "broadening of the base," by which they mean a lower exemption, and while there is undoubtedly much merit in reducing the exemptions somewhat, the latest studies of the twentieth century fund research staff show that hidden taxes are proportionately more burdensome to the persons of small incomes than any other group.

Basically, what is needed is a general recognition of the important principles that should guide the congress in making tax laws. First and foremost is acceptance of the principle that "capacity to pay" is a desirable yardstick, but that destruction of incentive has ill effects upon the normal expansion of business activity.

Purpose of Taxation
Secondly, it will be conceded universally that the primary purpose of taxation should be to get the revenues necessary to balance a prudently built budget, but here again, as between two methods, both of which are likely to attain the goal, the decision might well in favor of the tax that burdens least the exchange of goods or the price structure.

Thirdly, the imposition of a tax purely to accomplish social reform is detrimental to the growth or expansion of business. This principle perhaps could better be stated thus: taxation to get revenue is desirable, but regulation in the guise of taxation is undesirable.

Fourthly, the revision of tax rates, some of which may actually reduce revenues but encourage business activity, should be balanced against the imposition of taxes that increase revenues without discouraging business volume.

What is little realized perhaps is that most of the states of the union have been building top-heavy tax structures and that, with 48 different taxing systems in the states, to say nothing of the municipal tax experiments, business volume finds itself hampered at every turn in an effort to plan expenses as much as a year in advance. For a long time, there has been agitation in favor of a conference between federal and state authorities to eliminate duplication and specifically to prevent competition in certain tax fields as between federal and local taxing bodies. Impetus for the holding of such a conference can come only from the president of the United States. It would be a constructive move if a start in this direction could soon be made. President Roosevelt, however, is well aware of the importance of a general tax revision, and rumor hath it, as an example of his attitude, that he already has agreed to substantial changes in the undistributed surplus tax and revision of the holding of the capital gains tax, both of which moves would be considered quite favorably by the business world.

Biology Division Will Make Study Of Fish Diseases

Sturgeon Bay Temporary Headquarters of New State Unit

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau) Madison—H. W. McKenzie, director of the state conservation department, has announced that the headquarters of the new biology division within the department will temporarily be at Sturgeon Bay, where all information and all inquiries relating to death of fish in considerable quantities should be forwarded immediately.

Head of the new division, authorized by the conservation commissioners at a recent meeting, is Dr. Edward W. Schnberger, who until the first of the new year, will be stationed at the state fish hatchery at Sturgeon Bay.

"Among the duties of the biology division will be the careful study of fish diseases, and it will be absolutely necessary that the findings and orders of procedure in connection with the treatment of such diseases be followed closely by the personnel of the fisheries division," McKenzie's announcement said.

"Before the first of next year the office of the chief biologist will be established at Madison where Dr. Schnberger will have an opportunity to be in closer contact with the biology department of the University of Wisconsin. The death of fish in wholesale lots in any lake or stream should be reported to Dr. Schnberger promptly — by telephone or telegraph if haste is necessary," he said.

Schnberger, whose job is a new one, will be directly responsible to McKenzie, executive head of the conservation department.

Seymour Rebekahs Go To District Conclave

Seymour — Rebekahs from Seymour who attended the district convention at New London Tuesday were: Mrs. Harrison Smith, Mrs. Oral Berry, Mrs. Harold Olson, Mrs. Herbert Leininger, Mrs. Minnie Shepherd, Mrs. James Sherman, Mrs. George Mott, Mrs. F. W. Axley, Mrs. William Burgoine, Mrs. Mary Falk, Mrs. Fern Blanshan, and Mrs. Ada Ueckle. James Wiese entertained nine guests at a Halloween party at his home on Tuesday evening. Luncheon was served at 6 o'clock followed by games.

Mrs. H. A. Peper of Lark is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. A. Bernhardt, this week.

TOOT AND BE DARNED

Graz, Austria — (P) Special yellow plates bearing the word "Taubstumm," meaning deaf and dumb, have been put on bicycles of deaf mutes by police here. The plates show motorists it is useless to sound their horns. The regulation become necessary because it is a Graz custom to employ deaf persons to distribute newspapers.

The WORLD OF STAMPS

BY JAMES B. HATCHER

Two thousand years ago, Augustus Caesar was born in Rome. This month collectors are turning to the Italian pages of their albums to huddle two new sets of stamps from Rome commemorating his birthday.

Italy is celebrating this date also with a large exposition of imperial Rome. "We must go back to Augustus," said Mussolini, "to find a spectacle that compares to what Italy offers today."

Augustus was born September 23, 63 B. C., the grand-nephew of Julius Caesar, who made him his heir, Octavianus, as he was known then, became first emperor of Rome in 27 B. C. He was ruthless in attaining his power, joining in a mass purge of senators and knights, and wiping out Mark Antony and other rivals.

At 34 he was sole master of the Roman world. He closed the temple of Janus, the war god, as a token of peace and began a regime of wise ruling. He loved architectural splendor, boasting that he "had found Rome brick and left it marble." The month August was named for him. He died at 77, worshipped by his people.

The regular postage set contains 10 stamps, each with a different design and a Latin quotation from Augustus. The designs include statues of the emperor, temples, warships and insignia of imperial Rome. Values: 10-centesimi myrtle green, 15-cent olive brown, 20-cent red, 25-cent green, 30-cent olive bister, 50-cent purple, 75-cent scarlet, 1.25-lire dark blue, 1.75 plus 1-lire plum, 2.55 plus 2-lire slate black.

The 5-stamp airmail set, using different designs, includes: 25-cent maroon, 50-cent olive brown, 80-cent orange brown, 1 plus 1-lire blue, 5 plus 1-lire violet gray.

A Note From Honolulu

A Kamaaina (old-timer) from Honolulu reports that the model for Kamehameha's statue, which appears on the new Hawaiian stamp, was John Baker, a strapping part-Samoan who was governor of the island of Hawaii in the eighties. For a likeness of the real Kamehameha I, collectors must turn to the $1 revenue stamp of the republic period.

The Hawaiian stamp was issued first at Honolulu October 18. The Alaskan is due at Juneau November 12, the Puerto Rican at San Juan November 25, Thanksgiving Day, and the Virgin Islands commemorative at Charlotte Amalie December 15. All are 3-cent values.

A view of snow-capped Mt. McKinley will appear on the Alaskan stamp, with a rural scene symbolizing present-day territorial development in the foreground. The old Governor's Palace, "La Fortaleza," will be shown on the Puerto Rican stamp. And the Virgin Islands commemorative will carry a view of the city of Charlotte Amalie with outlying harbor and mountains in the distance.

Benefactor's Eighth Year

The Dominican Republic is holding the advent (August 8) of the eighth year in office of President Rafael Leonidas Trujillo by issuing a 3-centimos purple commemorative.

The design shows a farmer plowing with a team of oxen, and factories smoking in the distance. The motto "Peace-Work-Progress" appears at the top in Spanish below "Año VIII del Benefactor."

Trujillo started his career as a telegraph operator in his home town of San Cristobal. He joined the U. S. Marine-trained constabulary, rising to its head as colonel. He is now only 46 and has carried out a vast plan of public improvements without foreign loans of public debt increase. He is credited with road repairs, new highways and bridges, improved ports.

Dominican agriculture has developed amazingly under Trujillo, who is expert in this field. Perhaps this accounts for the stamp design.

Scouts Face Practical Problems in First Aid

Boy Scouts of the valley council will be called upon to face practical problems in the first aid contests that will start next month and culminate in an all-valley final.

One of the accidents for which the scouts must give treatment within seven minutes after the situation is explained to them by a leader follows. "A student aviator comes too close to a whirling propeller and his right arm is struck. There is a long gash across the outside of the shoulder spurting bright red blood. There is another on the outside of his forearm two inches below the elbow which is bleeding. His arm is in an unnatural position at the wound. His left ankle is swelling and hurts."

Millwrights Form New Local Chapter

Wallerman President of Group; 60 Members Are Enrolled

A local chapter of the millwrights has been formed as an affiliate of the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, it was announced yesterday by officials of the Appleton Trades and Labor council. The local is number 2062.

The charter was installed by George Orris of Indianapolis, Indiana, a representative of the carpenters and joiners national organization.

Officers of the local are Paul Wallerman, president; Gust Solis, vice president; Ed Sams, treasurer; Charles Behling, financial secretary; Joseph Mollen, recording secretary; Fred Steinert, warden; Edward Mantie, conductor; Earl Herman, Jack Miller, John Beauhieu, trustee.

The local will meet at Odd Fellows hall on the first and third Wednesday nights of each month. It has 60 members.

The entrance of this new unit boosts the total number of locals in the Appleton Trades and Labor council to 35, with a combined membership of 4,000. Seventeen new locals have been established during the last year.

Varney May Speak At 4-H Club Meet

Invite State Leader to Address Achievement Day Gathering

V. V. Varney, assistant state 4-H club leader, has been invited to speak at the Outagamie county 4-H club Achievement day meeting Nov. 13 at Wilson Junior High school, according to R. C. Swanson, county agent.

Plans for the program were discussed at a meeting of the committee Tuesday night at the courthouse. Achievement medals and awards will be distributed to members of 13 clubs in the county. The Pleasant Corner 4-H club will present a 1-act play and other forms of entertainment are being planned.

Members of the arrangements committee are Mrs. Leo Schreier, Greenville, chairman, Mrs. Frank Tubbs, Seymour, Nick Rietter, Black Creek, and Olive Meltz, Greenville. Frank Tubbs, president of 4-H club leaders, also attended the meeting.

GRANDPA NOW STEPFATHER

South Bend, Ind.—(P)—When Mrs. Rosie May Billings Orsborn, 34, married Oscar H. Orsborn, 77, the second husband of her mother who died last year, she married not only her stepfather, but her father-in-law as well because she previously had married Orsborn's son, who died this spring. She was the mother of a child by the son, thus making her present husband the stepfather of his own grandchild.

FLASHES OF LIFE

By the Associated Press

Philadelphia, Pa.—The "Big Apple" dance craze closed a liquor store here. Dancers in a hall over the store became so enthusiastic doing the "Big Apple" the store's ceiling fell. There were no casualties among the whisky bottles.

Aw, Shoot!

Seattle—A luckless hunter dropped wearily to a log, when a big bull elk crashed through the brush and dropped dead at his feet. He quickly applied his game seal to the elk's horns.

A moment later another sportsman came up, rifle smoking. He took in the carcass, hunter and seal, then stalked on, muttering: "By golly, mine can't be very far away."

THE MASSES TO THE FORE

The government of the United States has spent hundreds of millions of dollars collected in the shape of levies upon workers and employers for old age income and unemployment insurance. That is all right because the money is thus invested in government bonds.

Majestically the government announces that by and by government bonds will be owned by the masses instead of the banks. But not so fast. How can that desirable result be accomplished while the banks hold their bonds and the masses obtain new issues? Only when the government uses the money morally belonging to the workers to pay for the bonds now held by the banks will its boast come true. And if the masses are to eventually own all government bonds they may interest themselves in the buying value of the dollars guaranteed by those bonds, a very important matter now slurred over at Washington.

To deal with that proposition one must learn something about the future of national policy in respect to spending, budget, debts and the like.

For the masses will not be easily put aside or desist, as bankers a hopeless minority, must, when it comes to that critical matter of buying power so widely and wildly affected by inflation.

It will not profit a man a great deal to see a percentage of his wages go to the United States government if that government is to be conducted in such a manner that when it is required to pay back those wages in the form of old age income they will not buy so very much.

The super-spenders like to talk about having the masses own the government bonds because it sounds perfectly fine but when they get the government bonds in the hands of the masses they will have turned their guns upon themselves because if the masses have any sense at all they will appreciate the necessity of quitting trying to make Tommy Manville supplant the Goddess of Liberty as a great national figure.

CIO MAKES A FLANK ATTACK

Though there is every sound reason why the hostility among laboring groups in this country should be eliminated still the prodigious seldom comes home until he needs a place to lay down his head and feels he can relish some of the products of the good kitchen he once abandoned.

The CIO is in need of money for Mr. Lewis appears to be a spender somewhat comparable to the President. And the CIO has lost prestige just as it has lost numerous strikes that only headless men would have called, strikes when there was nothing to strike about.

But the proposal by CIO to AFL that a separate department shall be created in the federation and "be completely autonomous" or independent, and operate "under its own departmental constitution" and be subject only to the direction of "its own properly designated officers," is the greatest hybrid proposition ever made by employing good language in a defenseless cause.

Lincoln would have had that sort of peace with the confederate states any time for it is tantamount to complete separation and complete independence with the added advantage of gaining the respectability of the federation for those not subject to its principles nor its tolerant guidance.

It may bring to mind the methods often employed in the great cities to conceal non-legal operations. The system is called "a club within a club." A respectable organization is used to house, perhaps a gambling game, upon the pretense that a few of the members want a little fun. The law officers are thus confronted with great difficulties in ferreting out wrongdoers.

The CIO proposal could wreck AFL because its actions and conduct would be beyond AFL control but its misconduct would be found upon AFL doorsteps.

WORDS AND BOMBS

Dismissing Mr. Pegler's advice The O'Hara of the Narragansett Race Track struck back at Adolf Quinn with another public statement promising unbending defiance and concluding that he makes his stand because "I am right under the constitution and laws of Rhode Island and under the constitution and laws of the United States," a conclusion which "has given me the courage to carry on, and so I will continue to do."

But what good is the constitution of either Rhode Island or the United States against the national guard supplied with hand grenades and all the other paraphernalia of war?

Although entirely in the right according to the supreme court of Rhode Island Mr. O'Hara finds that he is living in an age and in a place where the right is on the side of the heaviest artillery, a cynicism no one would ever have thought to apply to America.

THE KLAN AND THE SCOTTSBORO CASE

The Scottsboro case came into the limelight again last week when the supreme court of the United States declined to interfere with a long prison term given to one of the convicted negroes, Justice Black taking no part in the decision of the case.

Quite often there is general misunderstanding of the function of the supreme court of the United States in cases of this character, but there can never be misunderstanding of what this case demonstrates to the people concerning the degradation and collapse of justice when the spirit of the Klan rules any community.

The federal supreme court does not intervene in any criminal case alleged to have been committed off government property or that does not involve government agents excepting to make certain that the defendant, whoever he be or however humble or poverty-stricken, shall be given the rights guaranteed to him by the constitution of the United States.

The undisputed facts in the Scottsboro case indicate that that contest was a tug of war between the Klan and the constitution, between the mad and insane bigotry engendered by the Klan and the spirit of sober justice searching after truth and which is demanded by the humane instincts of every decent and civilized society.

Observe the hideous conduct of the Klan in action, a record that now is to be smothered for the sake of political expediency.

At the first Scottsboro trial no one would ever think the Bill of Rights ruled in America. With nine men on trial for their lives what was done with the constitutional provision insuring competent counsel for those who do not have the cash to pay? The trial judge as the proceeding opened swept his hand at eight or ten lawyers seated in the courtroom and said, "I appoint the entire bar to represent the defendants," amid the general laughter. The record disclosed that no one participated in any genuine sense for the defendants. They were shuttled through to their doom as cattle are driven through a chute at the stockyards.

The supreme court of the United States said that such conduct was a perversion of the Bill of Rights, and that since none of the lawyers present took the responsibility of a good faith defense, the conviction must be set and a decent, fair and orderly trial had.

Again after another trial the supreme court of the United States intervened because despite the fact that half the people of that state are blacks no negroes are permitted on juries. If the Bill of Rights insures a jury trial is the great constitution obeyed when the spirit of the Klan so works it that it is sure to be a packed jury. No, said the highest court, give these men their plain rights freely and voluntarily, give them an honest, fair jury picked from the whole people and give them a lawyer who will really defend them.

Once more the men went to trial. This time a courageous trial judge set aside the verdict of guilty returned by the jury and remarked that he would not shoot a dog on such evidence, the evidence of female tramps who disputed one another and told highly conflicting stories at different times.

You may rest assured the Klan took care of that judge. One so unpatriotic as to do his duty in the face of the night riders must be defeated at the next election, and he was.

Alabama is the home of hundreds of thousands of splendid American citizens. It has demonstrated that fact on many a sodden field where the willingness to sacrifice was the only hallmark of the man.

But even such a people may be reduced to the standards of the jungle and take to their hearts an abased form of justice if surrounded by the force of racial hatred and constantly aroused by alleged threats on "white supremacy."

BLEEDING THE CONSUMER

The pocket-picking nuisance taxes are still with you.

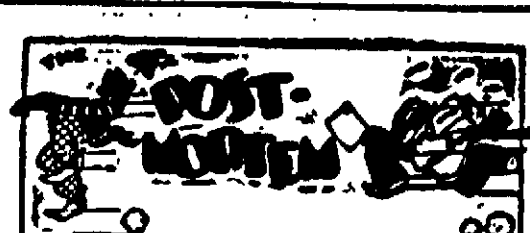

For instance, in August, according to figures just released by the Internal Revenue bureau: Your taxes on playing cards totaled $254,790; Your taxes on tires totaled $2,198,788; Your taxes on inner tubes totaled $458,747; Your taxes on chewing gum totaled $109,937.

Your taxes on sporting goods totaled $500,347. These are but part of the excise taxes that month after month dip into consumers' pockets. There was a time, perhaps, when they were necessary. Most of them were substitutes for the proposed general manufacturers' excise tax—the sales tax—which, fortunately, was killed.

But they've outlived their usefulness. And while New Dealers have protested against them, they have been re-enacted year after year.

The next session of congress should lose no time in repealing them.

And in their stead adequate income taxes should be imposed—imposed on persons in the middle income brackets, where the real money actually is, and imposed by reducing exemp-

I HEAR that there is a move on hand to combine Gary, East Chicago, Hammond and Whiting, Indiana, into one city. This news leaves me with somewhat mingled emotions. . . . it probably leaves any of you who have driven through those places with the same emotional status. . . . personally, I might be somewhat against it, since there seems to be no immediate reason to pack all of those noisy, smoky spots into one political entity. . . . probably I got that way from the old days when, in order to drive home, it was necessary to go through all of them. . . . you wend your way down crowded streets, past oil refining plants, across innumerable railroad tracks, near steel mills. . . . it is a slow, rough and smelly trip. . . . however, you also never are sure when you have gone from one town to the other (as in the case of Neenah and Menasha), with the exception of Gary which is somewhat east of the other three and whose city limits extend way out into the country. . . . the trouble is that the super-city would be spread out along the southern shore of Lake Michigan for too great a distance and a stranger in town would go batty trying to locate an address. . . . I don't know why I'm worrying about this, either, especially when the highways are so routed that I can now drive home without ever touching more than the outskirts of any of these places. . . .

CHIROGRAPHY

Handwriting will soon become like a ghost. Of yesterday. The machine age. The typewriter's click. Make paragraphs cold and clear. No more intimate letters. To focus before one's mind. Love, once depended on, now less kind.

No more love letters. To tie and put away. The "gone commercial" sign now holds sway. Handwriting will not haunt us. When "regret" is our last host: Stalking cobweb scrolls of the past—a gray ghost!

—Jane Patricia McCarthy

At that, however, considerably more than half of the letters sent to this column are handwritten. The danger, of course, is that handwriting unless sharp, may be misread on occasion. Fortunately, most of the handwriting I get is clear and usually unmistakable.

The gags about newspapermen having the world's worst handwriting are not, I'm reminded, very far wrong.

SUNDAY MORNING BREAKFAST

Sunday morning breakfast! That's the nicest meal! Through the kitchen window, Lazy sunbeams steal. There is bacon sizzling; Flapjacks frying, too! And the fragrant coffee Is a welcome brew.

Sunday morning breakfast! Long ago the charm. Of the Sabbath morning Soothed us on the farm. We would linger talking While the climbing sun Warned us we must hurry! Chores must still be done!

Sunday morning breakfast! We don't hitch the team! Meeting house is nearer! Buggies are unknown! Still, we dawdle, talking; Still our mother sings; "There are no more pancakes. And the church bell rings!" (Copyright, 1937)

WHERE SUN DOES NOT ENTER

DOCTOR WILL

From the study of the physical vigor and development of a thousand children in private practice, Drs. C. U. Moore and H. G. Dennis, Portland pediatricians, conclude that altho extreme signs of rickets are not common milder manifestations are still too common. They advance the opinion that the routine practice of supplementing the diet in childhood with vitamin D may bring a closer approach to the goal of perfect skeletal development.

Dr. J. E. Becker, recently discussed the same subject, that is, optimal nutrition, in the Jour. of the American Dietetic Association, and among other things expressed this conclusion:

"For the adult, Vitamin D is also essential not as an antirachitic factor (preventive of rickets) but to maintain a normal calcium-phosphorus balance and the integrity of bones and teeth."

Only natural foods of man, at least, civilized man, containing appreciable amounts of vitamin D are egg yolk, butter, cream, milk, cheese made from whole milk or cream, fresh or canned salmon and sardines. None of these can provide enough, in the quantities ordinarily used, to meet the minimum daily requirement of infant or adult, much less, optimally, better than average, I call it, vitamin.

Optimal nutrition means better than average. I call it, vitamin. Vitamin D is essential for the assimilation and utilization of calcium and phosphorus in the body. The metabolism of these elements determines the condition of bones, teeth, nervous system, in fact the degree of vitality.

Need for vitamin D to supplement the limited amount obtainable in our ordinary diet varies inversely with age. Elderly folks have the least need for it. Adults under middle age need a moderate amount to keep them in most vigorous health and to maintain good immunity. The prospective mother needs a liberal daily ration, not only to protect her own health but to supply the vitamin D the fetus requires, else the growing fetus, being parasitic robs the mother's bones and teeth of calcium and phosphorus. The child in his or her early teens needs a vitamin D ration to prevent late rickets, spinal curvature, weak ankles, flat feet, faulty development of teeth.

Every infant should have from 1,000 to 3,000 units of vitamin D daily throughout the first year, to prevent rickets and promote good and vigorous growth and development.

Infant, child or adult may manufacture considerable vitamin D in naked skin is sufficiently exposed to the mid-day sun. The popular concept of a coat of tan as a sign of abundant health has some foundation; the tan indicates that the individual has received an extra ration of vitamin D.

Ordinary window glass screens keep out most of the ultraviolet rays of sunlight—the rays that generate vitamin D and tan. But today special glass is available which permits most of the ultra-violet rays of sunlight to enter, and such glass is now much used for windows in houses in northern climates where cold weather renders exposure to the sun uncomfortable. thru a large portion of the year.

If exposure to sunshine is not available, a suitable daily ration of vitamin D in one form or another is rather beneficial for every one, especially during the winter months.

Answer—Liver makes no more blood than other food does. Quantity of blood is unrelated to blood pressure. Tobacco tends to increase blood pressure.

Answer — It would probably break the habit. Send ten cent coin and stamped envelope bearing your address, for booklet "The Constipation Habit."

Drafts
You have convinced me that grownups have nothing to fear from drafts, but I am not so sure about babies. (J. L.)

Answer—Yankee baby specialists try to keep 'em under their supervision until they are about 21 years old. That's better than no draft at all.

Your Birthday

"SCORPIO"
If October 29 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:45 to 11:45 a. m. from 1:45 to 3:45 p. m., and from 7:45 to 9:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:45 to 9:45 a. m. from 5:45 to 7:45 p. m., and from 9:45 to 11:45 p. m.

This will be a poor day to try to accomplish anything by driving somebody. Force will fail where cajolery is likely to succeed. If, for any reason, you convey the impression that you are too much on the defensive this day, you may succeed in arousing suspicion. Reticule will be a dangerous weapon to use this day, for many a friendship is liable to be killed by it. Consistent work is apt to be well rewarded, and through it a liberal amount of praise and money is likely to be won. Any social activity you engage in this day, if it is thoroughly enjoyable. On your return to your home or office it is advisable for you to ascertain if any message came for you during your absence because forgetfulness on the part of others, is likely to be one of the upsetting influences prevailing this day. Married and engaged couples, and those who are in love, should view things from a sentimental rather than from a financial angle this day, if they desire to be contented.

If a woman and October 29 is your birthday, you may have diversified interests to occupy your mind. Your sense of humor and a witty tongue probably will make you a social favorite. You ought to possess a great deal of tact, and have the ability to patch up your misunderstandings among your friends. You probably have a decided talent for organization work, particularly when it comes to directing the efforts of other people. School, missionary, church, or social welfare work, writing, painting, lecturing or interior decorating are among the activities in which you are likely to do your best work. Your matrimonial chances for happiness appear to be unlimited.

The child born on October 29, may, during its adolescence, be inclined to be timid, but with reasoning and encouragement this can be readily overcome. If this youngster takes up a profession, a brilliant career is likely to be the result.

If a man and October 29 is your natal day, hunting, fishing and sailing are among the sports in which you should excel. As an insurance or real estate agent, banker, salesman, author, actor, lecturer or artist fame is apt to be awaiting you.

Seen And Heard In New York

By DENNIS HOEY

(Of the Post-Crescent, Appleton, Wis.)

New York—British actors are always ready with opinions on America and Americans, but I should like to offer one that I have never heard discussed. That is, why don't Americans travel more in their own country? Possibly I am thinking too much of American actors, who have a marked disposition to "stay put," but in any case I put the question for what it is worth.

Frequently I am astonished, and pleased, in conversation with American actors to discover that I know far more about their own land than they do. I acquired my knowledge by touring with Katharine Hepburn in "Jane Eyre" which covered a remarkable range of territory a year ago.

During an acting career of not too many years, I have traveled on five continents—South America and Antarctica yet to be toured. American cities fascinate me, and not alone because they were cities of my most recent inspection. Boston, for instance, instantly impressed me as another Edinburgh.

Chicago I shall always remember as having given me one of the loveliest sights I ever beheld.

I stood one night at a window and watched the lights go on in the buildings lining Lake Shore Drive. Minneapolis I remember for a crisp afternoon when I went skating. San Francisco has been hymned by every visitor, with justification, but let me be among the first to liken it to Des Moines. That struck me as typical of the American middle west—roomy, a bit sprawling and immensely friendly.

An actor with abundant leisure in a new town makes many pleasant discoveries. One idle afternoon in Columbus, Ohio, I happened upon an exhibit that impressed me very much. Like too many Englishmen, I had clung to the mistaken idea that art was foreign to inland cities. I remarked as much, and was heartily assured to be told that art appreciation is as lively in inland America as in New York or London. My excuse is that it was my first tour. Now, I often have the very great pleasure of rebuking people from Columbus for not knowing their city. I am, I suppose, a born tourist. My dressing room at the Center theatre, where I am playing in "Virginia" is a repository of maps and travel photographs. The evening a friend happened upon a rather good photograph of a rural scene. He remarked on its old world charm and said, with great wisdom, he would like to visit so entrancing a spot.

I took great restraint to keep from telling him that the picture was made in Staten Island, a half hour and a taxi ride from my dressing room. No, I am afraid Americans don't see enough of their America.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—It is time to take your autumn trip around Washington before snow comes and messes everything up.

Considered commonplace here, the 500-foot trip up the Washington monument is one of the most impressive excursions in the city. Climb up if you like—900 steps. It is worse climbing down, and you cannot slide down the banisters. We have not climbed up or down, and don't intend to. The elevator does it faster, and is free.

Anyhow, see the Titians and Rembrandts in the Smithsonian Institution, but if you want to impress your neighbors with your deeply endowed instinct for art, go out into Rock Creek cemetery in northwest Washington and visit the bronze statue by St. Gaudens at the grave of Henry Adams and his wife.

A Sad Experience

The statue is almost smothered by pines and shrubbery. It is a bronze statue of a woman, deeply veiled. Local residents have nicknamed it "Grief." Adams ordered it, and tradition has it that it resembles his wife, who ruled over Washington society with a sad face and a quill pen in pre-Spanish war days. Viewed from a few feet away, it is depressingly melancholy.

After viewing it 10 minutes you become so depressed that you would snatch a pick-me-up at the very next tavern except for a feeling that it would be almost sacrilegious to think of that.

The next stop is at a bronze tablet in a corner of the state department building. It is in such a prominent position that few will brave the conspicuous business of reading it. A policeman guarding a nearby door said weeks had passed without him seeing anybody stop by it.

Ode To A Horse

It says: "This tablet commemorates the services and sufferings of the 243-135 horses and mules employed by the American Expeditionary Forces overseas during the great World War which terminated November 11, 1918, and which resulted in the death of 68,682 of those animals. What they suffered is beyond words to describe."

A fitting tribute to their important services has been given by the commander in chief of the American Expeditionary Forces, General John J. Pershing, who has written:

"The army horses and mules proved of inestimable value in prosecuting the war to a successful conclusion. They were found in all the theatres of preparation and operation doing their slow but faithful work without the faculty of hoping for any reward or compensation."

"This tablet is erected by friends of the horse and mule in the United States under the auspices of the American Red Star Animal Relief, a department of the American Humane Association."

And now to the supreme court where it is an easy enough matter to see Justice Hugo Black when the court is in session. During the first few days hundreds waited out in the corridors in vain hope of a glance at the youthful justice and his black robe. The excitement over his seating has ebbed, at least among the spectators.

And by the way, Mr. Landon, Charles Evans Hughes is chief justice of the United States; not, as you said in your speech the other night, chief justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Opens With Wrong Bid In Order to Play Hand

Mr. Culbertson is conducting, through this column, a national examination of bridge players. Rate yourself by subtracting from 100 the points for each wrong answer.

BY ELY CULBERTSON Questions 25 and 26 of the national self rating bridge examination appeared yesterday. They were: Question 25: Both sides vulnerable. You are South. Your partner dealt and bid one no trump. Next hand passed. You hold:

♠ 10 5 4 3 ♥ J 7 5 ♦ 6 ♣ A J 8 3

What call do you make? Answer: You should bid two clubs. Your distribution (singleton diamond) is not advantageous at no trump. If partner now can bid either major suit your hand will warrant a raise in that suit, and definite hope of game. (One point demerit for passing. Two points demerit for any bid except two clubs).

Question 26: Both sides vulnerable. You are South. The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North
1 no trump Pass 2 no trump Pass
3 no trump Pass Pass Pass
Your holding is:

♠ Q J 10 8 4 ♥ A J 7 5 ♦ 5 3 ♣ 4 7

What card do you lead? Answer: Your best lead is the spade queen. This is an attacking lead and, at the same time, a safe one. To lead away from your heart seminate may be to present the declarer with the one trick needed for his contract. (One point demerit for fourth best heart. Two points demerit for a diamond or club lead).

TODAY'S QUESTION

Question 27: You are East, defending against a four spade contract. West opened the diamond king. Dummy and your hand are as follows:

North [dummy].
♠ K 3 2
♥ J 9 5 2
♦ A 6 3

East.
♠ 7 6 5 4
♥ Q 10
♦ J 5
♣ K 8 7 5 4

The diamond ace won the first trick, and the club queen is led. Do you or do you not cover?

TODAY'S HAND
Match point duplicate.
South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

♥ Q J 10 6 3 2

WEST EAST
♠ K Q 9 8 3 ♠ J 7 3

♦ 9 3 ♦ J 7 5
♣ J 5 5 ♣ 10 6 4 3 2

SOUTH
♦ A K 10 6 4 3
♣ A K

The bidding:
South West North East
♠ 2 no trump Pass 4 hearts Pass
♦ 4 no trump Double Pass
Pass

Obviously, South did some fancy bidding. He chose to open with two no trump rather than the correct bid of two diamonds, because his partner was weak in the play of the cards and if the final contract was to be no trump South wanted to "get there first." West's double was just one more instance of a foolish bid, much to lose by "placing cards," and little to gain.
The spade king was opened, East following with the seven. Declarer won, cashed the ace and king of clubs, then crossed to the diamond queen and discarded a spade on the club queen. Declarer then rattled off the entire diamond suit.

Coming down to three cards, West did exactly as declarer had hoped he would do. Naturally, he had to guard the heart king, and this reduced him to one spade. To his everlasting shame, he kept the spade queen instead of a low spade. He was now thrown on lead with a spade and had to return a heart from his king.

I wish I had a dollar for every time this mistake is made. I grant, unequivocally, that West could not be sure about the location of the spade jack. But one thing he should have known; that was, that if he held on to the spade queen against this particular declarer, he certainly would be end-played. The right defense would have been to chuck the spade queen and pray that East, instead of declarer, held the jack.

Old Gardener Says:

The name sounds like a misnomer, but Soliel d'Or is a narcissus, which has the general appearance of the common paper-white narcissus except for its color, and which can be grown with almost equal ease. It is more commonly grown in pots of earth than in bowls containing pebbles and water, yet it can be forced into bloom by the latter method. The bulbs respond to forcing quickly. It is only necessary to keep them cool and in a somewhat dark place for a week or so until a plentiful supply of roots has been produced. They are somewhat slower to develop than the paper-whites, but are almost certain to bloom if not forced to hard.

(Copyright, 1937)

My Neighbor Says—

The paper white narcissus is the easiest of all bulbs to force in the house. New narcissus bulbs planted every two weeks will provide a succession of blooms from Christmas to Easter.

No matter how dry and hard paint dropped on clothing may be, if saturated with equal parts of ammonia and turpentine two or three times, then washed in soap suds, they will easily be removed.

Sombrero Smartness

The western sombrero inspired this fall chapeau for a Hollywood beauty. Rosalind Russell wears it and Howard Hodge designed it. It is made of black felt and finished with a black silk cord.

Grandma Often Causes Trouble in Household

BY DOROTHY DIX Dear Miss Dix—Will you tell me how I can become hard-boiled with Grandma. She is coming to live with us and I don't want to be dominated by her and have her interfere with the way I raise my children and run my house. I can give Mother a nice, big, sunny room all to herself and I would like to fix it up for light housekeeping for her. Then she and I could get away from one another part of the time, and when the children get noisy she would have a retreat. But she says "no," she is going to eat with us, pay part of the bills and help me with my work. Well, she will be managing things as usual, and I will have to go out and take a walk to keep from saying things that I will cry over. I don't want her to do my work, and when Junior doesn't eat his supper I don't want to be wondering if he is sick or if it is just that Grandma has been stuffing him on candy and cakes. When Susan gets her allowance spent we want her to have to wait until next payday instead of having Grandma slip her money on the sly. It is our family. We are responsible for it.

If these youngsters are spoiled we will have to put up with them long after Grandma is out of the picture. We all love Grandma, and if she would only let us be by ourselves a little, and if she would be a little blind and deaf about things that are not done her way and give us a chance to bring up the children without her interference, we could enjoy having her with us, and I really believe she herself would be happier, but what can I do? I never yet got away with telling her what to do. DESPERATE DAUGHTER.

Answer: Inasmuch as your mother seems to have enough money to live on, I think you should insist upon her setting up her own little apartment, or going to stay in some nice boarding house near enough to you for her to visit back and forth every day and for you to be able to get to her in a few minutes if she should need you.

No doubt she will be greatly offended when you tell her that you do not think it best for her to live with you, and will accuse you of being a cruel and heartless daughter not to want your own mother with you all the time. But, in reality, you are doing the kindest possible thing for her because you are saving her from the most terrible of all fates—being an unwanted guest—and from knowing that she is the cause of friction in your household.

Living apart and seeing each other only when you want to see each other, your mother will be able to keep her place of honor and respect as the matriarch of the family, loved and looked up to by you, your husband and your children. Living together in such close contact that her peculiarities, her bossiness and her interference will rub you and your children will become a pest and a bore and lose all of your affections.

In a case like yours, you have to consider the good of the greatest number. You have your husband's and your children's happiness and welfare to think of as well as that of your mother. It seems to me it far outweighs an old woman's preference for living under the same roof with you.

For, after all, you are not deserting her, or really separating yourself from her, or depriving her of any service that you can give her. You are only taking a sane precaution to safeguard your home by breaking through the old tradition that parents should live with their children when they are old, no matter how unbecomingly they are, or how much happier they would be if separated.

It is folly to expect a dominating old woman, who has bossed her husband and her children and everybody around her for forty or fifty years, to turn into a self-effacing guest when she goes to live with her children. She couldn't do it if she wanted to. And she wouldn't do it if she could, because she is incarnate egotism and believes that her judgment is infallible and that wisdom will perish with her. Hence, she never even suspects that she

Mirrors and Scale Can be Best Friends

BY ELSIE FIERCE Oh, your critics can be your best friends, too, depending upon how you look at them. You can get together with them, have a "true party" and if you are sensible enough to take notice, you can profit by what they tell you. If you are open-minded enough and study and study any warning flashes you can see yourself as others see you, through the eyes of these severest critics: your bathroom scales and your mirrors.

Watch Your Weight The best way to know which way your weight is going is to get on the scales every morning (before breakfast is the best time, and without any clothes on the best way). If you are underweight you should certainly watch your weight; if you are just right you cannot afford to go up or down and if you are overweight you surely want to check any addition . . . for the first ten pounds seems to come very easily and after that it becomes very hard to shed them.

Your Mirror The mirror is not quite as unpopular as its partner in our true party. Every woman, well, practically every woman, looks at it every day. But we are not talking about the pocket edition of the mirror, or even the hand mirror. We have reference to the full length mirror for only that type can tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. It's the full length mirror that can look you over from head to toe, scrutinize every detail of grooming, tell you whether you look as well in the back as you do in the front, tell you whether you look consistently lovely or whether you appear to have dressed in sections. The full-length true mirror is the most perfect triple-story teller of them all; but the single mirror with the help of the hand glass is good enough. If you are particular about looking pretty from head to heel, if you are meticulous about little matters of grooming, as well as big matters, surround yourself with mirrors, even at the risk of being called vain, and make at least one of them a full length looking glass.

JAUNTY FROCK FOR TINY MISS

BY ANNE ADAMS One of the jauntiest and most becoming of little girl fashions—this cunning frock that boasts matching bloomers! It takes so little time, so little money to make it of washable cotton, challis or percale; and there's not a tiny miss who wouldn't call this frock her "favorite" for school or playtime. Your daughter will revel in the saucy panel skirt the snug bodice and the cute Peter Pan collar. Perky buttons, half-way adjustable sash and choice of dainty puffed or flared sleeves are further attractions. Mother is sure to find Pattern 4470 as easy as can be to make in several versions.

Pattern 4470 is available in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6 takes 2 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

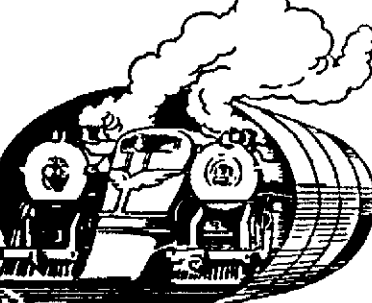

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

Crossing The Atlantic

IV—FOURTH DAY AT SEA Some idea of the size of the smokestacks of the "Queen Mary" can be gained by the fact that three railway locomotives could be placed inside one of them. Each of these stacks rises 70 feet from the boat deck. Fuel for the great engines is supplied by oil, of which thousands of tons are burned during a voyage.

Three locomotives could be placed inside one of the smokestacks. Sometimes the sea has looked green to me, but now it seems very blue. The weather has been fine ever since we left New York. Yesterday we covered a distance of 710 knots or, 817 land miles. That is twice the distance some steamers cover in a day.

Passengers can amuse themselves in many ways while making an ocean voyage. Every liner seems to have the good old game called shuffle-board. It is played with wooden disks which are shoved along the deck. Each player tries to make his disks go into marked spaces which will count scores for him.

Deck tennis is another common ship board sport. Rubber rings are used instead of tennis balls. A player tosses the ring over the net, and his opponent catches it and throws it back. There are ways of making the ring "wobble" so it is hard to catch. Today I played several games of deck tennis with a 12 year-old English girl, Moyca Field. She proved to be quite an expert in making the ring twist and turn as it went over the net.

Pingpong, quoits, dancing and talking pictures are other features of amusement on board. Each afternoon there is a picture show, and each evening a dance. Passengers who like to read can have their choice of a large number of books in the ship library.

Going down in one of the elevators, we reach a deck with a gymnasium and a large swimming pool. The pool contains salt water—fresh from the ocean. It is too deep for children unless they can swim.

While I was in the swimming pool, I helped a four-year-old boy splash about a bit. I held him up while he kicked his legs, and made his arms move like windmills. He was in the water only half a minute before he made signs to show that he would like to get out again. After he was taken safely out of the pool, he exclaimed, "Can I ever swim! Wow!"

Our voyage is now almost over. Early tomorrow morning we shall land some passengers at Cherbourg, France. Tomorrow afternoon the rest of us will anchor in England's great harbor—Southampton.

Cultivate Good Speech Habits in Early Years

BY ANGELO PATRI "Of thy own mouth will I judge thee." That judgment is made every day, and the first judgment is passed, not on the wisdom of the speech, but on its sound, its accent, enunciation, rhythm. Socrates might get a hearing in time if his voice and speech were bad, but it would take time and that might mean the loss of opportunity, the passing of the crucial moment.

A pleasing voice, clear and simple language, are a good introduction to any society. They are essential for a hearing. The speaker whose voice is harsh, whose words are slurred, ill-chosen and spoken without charm has an almost insurmountable obstacle in his way.

Everybody cannot have a Caruso tone, but most people can cultivate the habit of clear speech. It is a matter of hearing, study, practice. The ear has to be trained to catch the distinction of tone necessary to correct pronunciation. The vocabulary must be selected and learned. The art of speech must be practiced daily, hourly, in every situation where speech is required.

The best time to learn good speech, to master the intonation and phrasing and rhythm that are the essential qualities, is the period of infancy, roughly measured by the first six years. It is at this time that language instinct is at full tide. The children are eager to talk. They learn to talk by imitation and not by direct instruction and drill. What is needed is a fine example of good speech for the child to pattern by. The speech of the family becomes the speech of its members.

Yes, speech instruction in later years, in school, in adult classes will help defects, but it rarely removes them without trace. What the tongue learns in those first years stays. That is why the teachers of children in the first grades of the kindergarten and elementary grades should be subjected to the

GOOD TASTE TODAY

BY EMILY POST

IS IT GOOD FORM? Dear Mrs. Post: Do you consider it overpolite to write notes of appreciation to friends whom we see every day and have verbally thanked for kindnesses shown during the serious illness of our little girl—now happily recovered. I don't want to appear a stickler for form, and yet I want to do whatever would be the nicest way of showing the extent of our gratitude.

Answer: It would sound to me very unnecessary to write letters to those whom you see constantly, and yet there are occasions when very deep appreciation is more easily said on paper than by word of mouth. By this I mean if some one showed you so great a kindness that it is hard to express your thanks without emotion, a note would perhaps solve the difficulty. But for ordinary neighborly exchanges of kindnesses notes in addition to verbal thanks would be rather absurd.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a friend who always answers the telephone by saying "Yes?" in an inquiring tone of voice. I've never heard that there is any correct form but certainly "Hello" seems to be the most often used. What is your opinion of answering "Yes?" Answer: I have never heard any one say this, and personally I like "Hello" better because words in ordinary use are best suited to ordinary situations. To say "Yes?" on the telephone would be like calling "Let me see you" when some one knocks instead of "Come in!" And I can easily understand the revolt of some one against the unvarying "Hello!" and see no real reason why she may not be allowed to say "Yes?" if she wants to!

Dear Mrs. Post: How many dining chairs should be left standing pushed in at the table between meals? Is it good form to leave only two? Answer: If the dining room is very small and you live informally, yes. But in a formal house four is the correct number.

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend and I have had several heated discussions as to the propriety of a young woman accepting a valuable ring from a man. I believe that she should not accept such a present unless the ring is an engagement ring, and she does not agree.

Answer: No young woman can possibly receive a ring of value from a man excepting as an engagement ring. She might wear a ring of his, as all college girls do, and even this means that she is his best girl. But the giving and receiving of a ring has always been taken seriously. A bangle or a clip or personal present of any other sort has no such significance. Obviously the present that a man may give a girl to whom he is not engaged are limited to trinkets of comparatively trifling value.

State University Needs Additional Facilities, Dykstra Tells Graduates

THAT the University of Wisconsin is foremost a teaching institution and its first need is vital and strong classroom work was the view expressed by Clarence A. Dykstra, president of the university, in an address before about 125 graduates and former students of the institution last night at Conway hotel.

The great responsibility of the university is to do something for the 10,000 students enrolled there, President Dykstra went on, pointing out that in order to have vital classroom work there must be adequate space for the students. This problem of space is one of the first to confront him in his new job, the speaker said, adding that other problems are an inadequate staff, laboratories and library facilities.

"It is a condition and not a theory that confronts us," President Dykstra stated.

He explained that in 1906 a plan was laid out for the university to expand so that it could take care of

Hold Party In Honor of Ethel Miller

A miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Ethel Elaine Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Miller, 402 E. Pacific street, who will be married in November to Clyde E. Leonard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Leonard, N. Morrison street, was given last night at the home of Mrs. Herman Trentlage, 1102 N. Oneida street. Mrs. Miller, mother of the bride-to-be, was co-hostess, and Mrs. H. A. Petersen was in charge of games.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Trentlage and Mrs. E. Arnold. Seventeen guests were present.

Mrs. E. Mitag, 802 W. Commercial street, was hostess to 24 guests at her home last evening in honor of her daughter, Gertrude, who will be married on Thanksgiving day to C. L. Butts, Dearborn, Mich. Schafskopf prizes went to Mrs. Albert Reinheim and Mrs. George Annholder and the traveling prize was won by Mrs. William Nowell. A mock wedding was staged by Mrs. Arnold Hickinbotham, Mrs. Winton Lansing, Mrs. Harry Cunningham and Mrs. Annholder. The bride-to-be was presented with a gift.

Others present were Mrs. John Huelbeck, Mrs. Albert Haferbeck, Mrs. Hugo Krueger, Mrs. Nolan Schuchknecht, Mrs. M. Schuchknecht, Mrs. Herman Hegeman, Mrs. William Darrow, Mrs. A. Gant, Mrs. Ed Hoffman, Mrs. H. Frank, Mrs. Charles Kruckeberg, Mrs. Fred Tiedt, Mrs. M. Thompson, Mrs. Albert Mueller, Mrs. William Falk, Mrs. William Biedenbender, Mrs. Fred Pazla and Mrs. Clarence Schroeder.

About 40 friends and neighbors honored Miss Lucinda Behm of New London and Milton Gough of Clintonville at a grocery shower Tuesday evening at the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. Arthur Gough near Clintonville. Cards provided entertainment, and prizes were won by Henry Korb, Herbert Zick, Raymond Gough and Ruth Lyon. Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Walter Schoepke, Mrs. John Ewer and Mrs. Herman Helms. The marriage of Miss Behm and Milton Gough will take place at St. Rose Catholic parsonage in Clintonville Saturday.

Miss Minerva Prue, who has chosen Nov. 6 as the date of her wedding to Harvey Damsheuser, will be honored at a miscellaneous shower to be given tonight by her future mother-in-law, Mrs. Robert C. Damsheuser, 1514 N. Richmond street. A week from tonight the bride-to-be's mother, Mrs. Charles Prue, 1210 N. Appleton street, will entertain at a luncheon shower for her.

The Misses Peggy Burke and Ryllis Batzler were co-hostesses at a bridge party last evening at the Copper Kettle restaurant in honor of Miss Effie Crowe who will be married Nov. 27 to Arthur Hansen. Celebrate Anniversary Of W. C. O. F.

THE Rev. J. E. Meagher, pastor of St. Mary church and spiritual advisor for the local court of Women's Catholic Order of Foresters, spoke on the value of a fraternal order at the thirty-ninth anniversary dinner of the court Wednesday night at Catholic home.

Mrs. Henry Tennie, who was the first chief ranger of the local court when it was organized 39 years ago, was also a guest of honor and spoke briefly as did Mrs. William J. Stur, present chief ranger. Both Father Meagher and Mrs. Tennie were presented with gifts. Mrs. J. C. Hilligan, Bessmer, Mich., was a guest at the celebration.

Tables were decorated with autumn leaves and bitter sweet and black and orange pumpkins in keeping with the Halloween season, and a feature of the dinner was a yellow and white birthday cake, the color scheme being the colors of the order.

During the business session which followed the dinner plans were made for the annual memorial race to be held at 8 o'clock the morning of Nov. 9 at St. Theres church. Arrangements were also completed for the juvenile Halloween party to be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Catholic home with Mrs. Edward Massonette in charge.

Cards were played during the social hour, prizes at schafskopf going to Mrs. John Hietpas and Mrs. Michael Peters, at bridge to Mrs. Frank Cook and Mrs. W. J. Appleton Will Join in Girl Scout Week Program

APPLETON Girl Scouts will join with other scouts throughout the country in observing National Girl Scout week next week. Local activities in honor of the week will begin with a joint meeting of Girl Scout council members and leaders at the home of Mrs. J. L. Benton, 207 N. Drew street, at 7:30 Monday evening.

Miss Ruth Cope, dean of women at Lawrence college, will speak to the group on the subject, "The Challenge of Working with Girls." Leaders who have worked in troops for three years will be given recognition by the council at this time.

Motion pictures taken at Camp Onaway last summer during the camp session will be shown to the audience and short council and leaders' meetings will be held in order that each group may learn how the other functions.

Mrs. Milton C. Tower, chairman of the training and personnel committee, will introduce the leaders to the council and will make the recognition awards. Mrs. Homer H. Benton, commissioner, will preside at the council meeting, and Miss Marion Neumann, president of the leaders' association, will conduct the meeting of that body. Mrs. William Rounds is chairman of the refreshment committee for the meeting.

Girl Scout troops are planning to celebrate Girl Scout week with various events such as hikes, teas, homemaking activities and special projects.

Partly Tonight

A capacity crowd of Girl Scouts from all troops in the city will gather at the army at 6:30 this evening for the annual Halloween party which is an event usually held in connection with National Girl Scout week. The girls will dress in costumes of various kinds, and the party will open with a ghost walk, a traditional feature, which will be followed by short troop meetings at which the girls will vote on the best-costumed girl in each troop. A prize will be given to the winner of each troop, after which the grand march will take place. Grand prizes will then be awarded for the prettiest, funniest and most original costumes at the entire party. Girl Scout council members will act as judges.

The newest troop in Appleton, the Juliette Low troop of Appleton Orthodox school which was organized during National Girl Scout week last year, will attend the party tonight for the first time. The troop will celebrate its first anniversary at this time. It is sponsored by the Geneva committee of Lawrence college, which forms the leadership group and troop committee for this troop.

In addition to the usual Halloween events, several surprises are planned for the party this evening. The party will end with a goodnight circle at which a short talk will be given on Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouting.

Mrs. Earl B. Fisher left today for her home in Chicago after having been a guest for about 10 days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Dutcher, 129 N. Lawe street.

'Doctor's Odyssey' Author To Talk at College Chapel

RESIDENTS of Appleton and the vicinity will have an opportunity on Nov. 8 to hear, first hand, more of the interesting adventures which made "An American Doctor's Odyssey" a long-run best seller, for its author, Dr. Victor Heiser, will speak here that night at Lawrence Memorial chapel under the auspices of the Appleton branch of the American Association of University Women.

Ever since the day, as a boy, he escaped drowning in the historic Johnstown flood, Dr. Heiser has devoted his time and energy to the saving and prolongation of human life. Not long after several special trips to Europe, he was appointed director of health for the Philippines. For the following decade he worked to change the natives from a plague-stricken people to a virile race. His tasks concluded there, he became associated with the Rockefeller Foundation as its director of international health, and for 20 years thereafter he was its "globe-trotting drummer."

Like many busy people, Dr. Heiser has a pet hobby which absorbs much of his time. It is leprosy, his tales about the general history of leprosy and modern conditions throughout the world, particularly in the Philippines, are told in several chapters of "An American Doctor's Odyssey."

He started a colony for the segregation of leprosy on the island of Cebu in the Philippines, now the largest such colony in the world. With the recent advances of medicine, treatments for the cure of leprosy are in use, and 1,500 lepers already have been released at Cebu as cured. Dr. Heiser was recently elected president of the International Leprosy association.

On his most recent trip, in addition to visiting various leprosy colonies in Central Africa, he studied the transmission of yellow fever. He foresees a grave danger in the spread of airplane travel with the possibility of transmission of anopheles mosquitoes from Africa to other countries.

Dr. Heiser was born in Pennsylvania in 1873. After attending preparatory schools, he decided to become a doctor, and in order to gain admittance to medical school, he regularly took the examinations of the University of the State of New York until he received his B. A. degree in 1894. Three years later he was graduated from Jefferson Medical college, Philadelphia, with an M. D. degree.

He is coming here directly from the west coast. His only other engagements in this area are at Minneapolis and Milwaukee.

WILL SPEAK HERE

Dr. Victor Heiser, above, author of "An American Doctor's Odyssey," will speak Nov. 8 at Lawrence Memorial chapel under the auspices of the Appleton branch of the American Association of University Women. The title of his lecture is "More of an American Doctor's Odyssey."

Ladies Aid Society to Hold Banquet

THE annual banquet of Ladies Aid society of Mt. Olive Lutheran church will take place at 6:30 Friday evening at Hotel Appleton. The Rev. R. E. Ziesemer, pastor of the church, will be the speaker, and there will be special music on the program.

Officers of the society are acting as the committee on arrangements. They are Mrs. Frank Schneider, Mrs. Ed Mueller, Mrs. Herbert Christensen and Mrs. Bernard Bohm.

Friendship class of First Baptist church which was to have a Halloween party Friday night at the home of Mrs. Wesley Latham, has postponed the party in favor of a regular meeting to take place at the home of Mrs. Ed Peotter, 926 W. Lorain street. Halloween games will be played after the meeting.

Mrs. Wolfe Is Hostess At Luncheon, Bridge

Mrs. L. S. Wolfe entertained members of her bridge club at a luncheon Wednesday afternoon at her home on N. Union street. Prizes at the bridge game which followed the luncheon went to Mrs. E. L. 100 Attend Men's Night At Church

NEARLY 100 persons attended the Men's night program of Women's Missionary society of Emmanuel Evangelical church Wednesday night at the church. The principal feature of the program was a talk by John Yonan on his trip to Persia.

A program entitled "Men Discuss Missions" was put on by Ed Keller, Ralph Zachow, Lawrence Voss, the Rev. C. M. Schendel, John Trautman, Forest Jabas, Arthur Erdman, Robert Potter and William Flotow, and mandolin selections were given by Mr. and Mrs. Otto Polzin and Ben Merkle accompanied by Mrs. Robert Luebke. A men's chorus composed of Forest Jabas, Clifford Selig, Robert Potter, Ray Sailerich, Gordon Haase, Howard Polzin, Arthur Erdman, Ralph Zachow and Ben Merkle sang "There's Work to be Done."

Mrs. Nick Zylstra, chairman of the meeting last night, gave a short introduction to the new text book which the missionary society will study this year, "Mecca and Beyond," and the Rev. G. H. Blum, pastor, gave the Mohammedan call to prayer. Thankoffering day was announced for Nov. 7.

The committee in charge of the program included Mrs. Zylstra, chairman; Mrs. Morton Christensen, Mrs. Rudolph Schwere, Mrs. Leonard Seybold, Mrs. August Lemke, Mrs. Bertha Wistoff, Mrs. Ben Greb, Miss Christina Wolfmeyer, Mrs. Joseph J. Franzke and Mrs. Arthur Erdman.

Catholic Women Organize Club

Clintonville Group to be Affiliated With National Council

Clintonville—The Catholic Women's club was organized here Tuesday evening by women of St. Rose parish, who met at the home of Mrs. Russell Weller on N. Clinton avenue. The local group is to be affiliated with the National Council of Catholic Women's clubs. Mrs. Russell Weller was elected president of the new organization, with Mrs. Francis Higgins, vice president, and Mrs. Anton Bohr, secretary-treasurer. The club's activities will include an educational program for the members in classic and modern literature, current events, Catholic doctrine and theology. Meetings are to be held the last Tuesday evening of each month. The November meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. Joe Tesar with Mrs. V. L. Joswiak as the assisting hostess.

Miss Doris Johnson and Miss Leola Knudsen entertained a group of friends Tuesday evening at a farewell party for Miss Alice Faust at the home of Mrs. E. E. Witt on E. Fifteenth street. The time was spent informally and a lunch was served. The affair was in the form of a handkerchief shower for Miss Faust, who has resigned her position at the library to accept a similar post at the public library at Davenport, Iowa, on Nov. 1.

IT MIGHT HAPPEN TO YOUR CHILD

Each year many helpless children as well as grownups, fall prey to diseases which in many cases could have been avoided if the child had been given an adequate supply of vitamins D, B and G. These protective vitamins help build up a resistance to infection and sickness. They promote vitality, increase appetite, and turn food into energy. On Vitamin D depends the calcium metabolism which assures sound teeth and bones. Straight legs and strong backs. Many physicians are advising parents to give the child RAY-D irradiated yeast. Tablets with other yeast or yeast tablets of inferior vitamin potency. Start your child on RAY-D tablets without delay. Build up his supply of these protective vitamins which are necessary to vitality and disease resistance. Packages of 100 at all drug stores. Always ask for RAY-D YEAST TABLETS.

Two Counties in State Still Free Of Auto Fatalities

1,148 Serious Accidents Reported in Wisconsin Last Month

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — The mournful pronouncement that only two counties out of Wisconsin's 71, Polk and Marquette, have passed through the first nine months of this year without a traffic death was issued by the state highway commission today. Counties reporting their first 1937 traffic fatalities in September were Crawford, Door, Florence, Green Lake and Pepin, the commission said.

In the whole state there were 1,148 serious accidents reported to the commission last month, with 83 lives lost in September accidents, and 1,049 persons injured. In September of 1936, as a comparison, the commission pointed out that there were 881 serious accidents.

The commission declared the young drivers last month continued to head the list of those involved in accidents. Most of them were between 20 and 29 years of age, while 154 were under 20.

The traffic accident scorecard for the Appleton area during September:

Outagamie county: 18 accidents, three fatalities, 13 injuries.
Calumet county: 18 accidents, no fatalities, 1 injuries.
Waupaca county: 13 accidents, one fatality, 17 injuries.
Shawano county: 13 accidents, two fatalities, 11 injuries.
Brown county: 39 accidents, four fatalities, 26 injuries.
Winnebago county: 32 accidents, four fatalities, 34 injuries.

1937 Clarion Gets High Honor Mark

High School Annual Judged 1st Class by National Press Association

First class honor rating has been awarded the 1937 edition of the Clarion, Appleton High school year book, by the National Scholastic Press association, according to school authorities. Only 15 high school year books in the country were rated higher than the Clarion, which was one of 46 from high schools with enrollments from 900 to 1,600 to receive honor rating. A total of 573 high school annuals were judged this year by the association.

Ratings given books by the association are as follows: all American, superior; first class, excellent; second class, good; third class, fair; and fourth class, poor. The year books are scored on the general plan, sections in the book, editing and make-up, mechanical consideration, general effect and financial status.

Harry Zerbel was editor in chief of last year's Clarion and was assisted by Dolores Jones, Walter Schmidt was business manager.

Iowa Man Intends to Preside at Own Wake

Council Bluffs, Ia. — Few indeed are the men who attend their own wake.

But that's just what George S. Wright, widely known Council Bluffs attorney and bachelor, intends to do.

The dandified attorney, with distinctive gray hair and mustache and twinkling eyes, began planning for his wake several years ago. He took an insurance policy that next fall will net him $1,000 — all to be spent on the wake. He'll be 70-years-old then.

"It looks like there isn't much chance but what George S. Wright will be there at the head of the table—not under it," he said, putting aside a garden weeding job to talk about the party.

"My friends keep telling me I'm not looking so well, but I don't intend to die until I have my share of the fun at that party," he added.

However, if Wright should die before he gets the money, the fund will go to several close friends who will stage the wake.

Possible Candidates for Senate are Quiet About It

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison, Wis.—The deep, dark mystery which is supplying an excuse for speculative conversations of politicians in the capital city and wherever else they are gathering these days is next year's United States senatorial campaign.

While the special session of the legislature which finished its remarkable deeds a week ago, and the prospects for a Democratic-Republican fusion furnish plenty of material for political gossip, at least as important, and more interesting in the minds of the politicians is the question: "Who will be the candidates for senator in 1938?"

Although the election is still a considerable distance in the future, many observers point out that in previous years candidates for the highest office in the state were generally pretty well known eight or nine months in advance. This year, however, the outlook contains little that is definite, although there are many probabilities.

Hoan Is Possibility

Currently the field of probable candidates, as seen by well informed political figures, looks something like this:

Progressives: Congressman Gerald J. Boileau, Wausau, of the Seventh district; Congressman Thomas R. Amle, Elkhorn, of the Second district; Mayor Daniel W. Hoan, Milwaukee, long-time mayor of Wisconsin's metropolis.

Democrats: Senator F. Ryan Duffy, who, however, is discreetly awaiting developments and withholding a definite announcement that he will be a candidate for reelection.

Republicans: Walter J. Kohler, former governor, Kohler industrialist; Fred Clausen, Horicon manufacturer, prominent in party councils; Edward J. Samp, Madison, head of the Republican state voluntary committee; Glenn Frank, de-

IT'S ODD But It's Science

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

New York—Women marry each other in Dahomey, Africa. It is just an innocent custom, as explained in the British journal of science, Nature, for giving children to a childless woman. Or to a woman who doesn't have as many as she wants all by herself.

The woman who is the "husband" under this custom, admits a male friend to visit the "wife." The children resulting from this practice then belong to the woman who is the "husband."

Among these people, the children ordinarily belong to the male who is their father. But in this way wealthy women are able to build up families, economic prestige and power, all under their own control.

COUNT UNEMPLOYED

London —(AP)—When America takes its voluntary unemployment census it will be borrowing a page from the British. British unemployed register every week at one of the some 2,000 government offices. The weekly registration keeps the government posted and guides employment offices.

The Oct. 4 report showed 1,090,967 wholly unemployed, 191,737 temporarily stopped, and 56,500 normally in casual employment making a total of 1,339,204. This was an increase of 30,000 over August 23 but a decrease of 236,000 over Sept. 21, 1936.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of aching backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give a happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Homecoming to Open With Jazz Music in Chapel

Lawrence Will Celebrate Return of Alumni This Weekend

The appearance of a jazz orchestra at convocation in Memorial chapel tomorrow morning will mark the start of a gayety which will attend homecoming activities at Lawrence college this weekend.

Freshmen teams from Lawrence and St. Norbert's at DePere will tangle on Whiting field tomorrow afternoon. Judges will inspect house decorations at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

From 7 o'clock to 9 o'clock tomorrow evening the W. A. A. will sponsor a free frolic. A pep session behind Science hall will start at 8:15 at which R. K. Wolters, class of 1906, Cliff Osen, class of 1937, Coach Paul Derr, Captain Tut Grode and President Thomas N. Barrows will talk.

At the close of the pep program, each student will be given a torch and a parade float.

The homecoming parade will start down College avenue at 10:30 Saturday morning. Led by the pep band, the following floats in order of march will be in the procession: Phi Delta Theta, Alpha Delta Pi, Delta Sigma Tau, Alpha Chi Omega, Beta Theta Pi, Kappa Alpha Theta, Sigma Alpha Iota, Delta Tau Delta, Zeta Tau Alpha, Phi Kappa Tau, Delta Gamma, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Kappa Delta.

The new Lawrence was cry "Rip-on's Slippin'" will ring out at the homecoming game which will start at 2 o'clock in the afternoon on Whiting field. A bleacher stunt will be presented between halves and the pep band will attend the game in new uniforms.

The homecoming dance, beginning at 8:30 Saturday night, will be the last of the feature homecoming events.

Symphony Orchestra to Hold Rehearsal Tonight

The Appleton Symphony orchestra will hold a rehearsal at 7:30 tonight in the high school playhouse, Jay I. Williams, one of the directors, said today.

Tonight's will be the second rehearsal of the season. The orchestra, which will be enlarged this year, has scheduled tentative dates for two concerts, one Jan. 20 and the second April 21.

Library Seeks Copies Of '32, '34 Directories

An appeal for copies of the 1932 and 1934 Wright directories of the city of Appleton has been issued by Mrs. Nancy E. Thomas, librarian at Appleton Public Library. The copies which were in the library have been stolen, and anyone having copies from 1932 or 1934 which they are willing to part with are asked by Mrs. Thomas to notify the library.

Building Matters are Topic as Board Meets

Selection of terrazzo for the floor and steps in the new senior high school and other matters pertaining to the new building were up before the board of education at its meeting last night in Lincoln school.

George Smith, architect, and R. E. DeLong, technical advisor, discussed building matters with the board members.

Moore to Show Colored Movie of National Park

E. C. Moore, director of junior high school bands will show a motion picture on Glacier National park to pupils of Roosevelt Junior High school at 1:15 Friday afternoon in the school auditorium. The picture showing scenes in the park, was taken by Mr. Moore in color last summer.

Chinese Battalion Refuses Offer to Quit Danger Zone

they were not strategists, but the remains of a battalion of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Eighty-eighth army which had held the North station citadel 75 days against Japanese attacks.

Proud Chinese officials said the besieged warriors all were under 30 years old and came from every province in China.

"They are fully representative of heroic China's new fighting spirit," said one.

Unit Provisioned

Somewhat, the unit obtained supplies of rice, hardtack and tea and sent back word that it would stick to the last man.

The rooftop spectators saw the doomed battalion keep Japanese bluejackets at a respectful distance with hand grenades.

As the Chinese struggle apparently approached a climax, death and destruction on a large scale continued beyond the settlement's borders. Japanese warplanes bombarded Chinese defenses along the new line stretching north from the western border of the settlement.

Even with relentless bombardments, the Japanese army's right wing was unable to crack defenses of Nanziang, eight miles west and north of Shanghai.

The warfare came closer to Shanghai's foreign residents when Japanese artillery laid down a barrage at Hungjiao, southwestern suburb where many of the city's finest foreign homes are located.

Japan's troops poised for a new thrust against Chinese who took up positions among the foreign properties. Some foreign military ob-

ADDRESSES FORUM

Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra, president of the University of Wisconsin, is shown above as he addressed more than 300 men and women in the main dining room of the Conway hotel yesterday noon. The new university head spoke on city administration at the joint meeting of the chamber of commerce, Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions clubs. It was his first appearance in Appleton.

Service to People Is City's Biggest Job, Dykstra Says

chairs with them to swell the crowd to over 300. It was his first appearance in Appleton.

"Whether we like it or not, the city is with us today," President Dykstra, who formerly was city manager of Cleveland, said. "A 100 years ago only five or six per cent of the population lived in metropolitan areas and now that ratio is up to 45. Under the agrarian era, we thought for ourselves and governed ourselves, but now we are coming to believe that as individuals we need some kind of chart for our lives. . . . Now there is more planning individually than in pioneer days. . . . There are no more limitless frontiers except as we make them."

Planning Advisable

Economic planning is plausible and advisable for cities, Dr. Dykstra declared. "When we look over cities and see the unbalanced conditions, isn't it possible to say: 'These cities can at least know their labor supply, unemployment and employment opportunity, kinds of industry they possess and the kinds they need?'"

There are cities in the United States where "such a move is on foot," Dr. Dykstra said. "I suggest that we begin to sit about and look into the business, industrial, and financial future of our city, the need for apprenticeship, education and the source and quantity of the labor supply."

It's traditional to adopt the attitude that "government does best when it does least," the university president said, but when that phrase was uttered by Jefferson, people were performing their own services such as dispensing with garbage, providing water and fire protection and others now in the hands of municipal governments.

More Services Now

"If you will investigate, you'll find that public services have increased 40-fold. . . . In an early day it wasn't necessary to think about public services, but today it is. We can't expect that machinery and tools or the lack of them that existed 100 years ago will work now."

John Callahan, superintendent of public instruction, was present at the dinner and was introduced by Dr. C. D. Neidhold who also presented Dr. Dykstra. Alex O. Benz, president of the Kiwanis club, opened the meeting.

servants said Hungao was in danger of becoming another Chapel.

Marines Endangered

Foreign military experts expected Japanese to use artillery, air bombs, or both to blast out the defense. Busting bombs or shells would endanger anyone in the marine sector, only 50 yards away across Soochow creek. The marines are under orders to shoot in self-defense at any airplane attacking them or noncombatants.

A blood red sun, symbolic of Japan's victorious war banners, burst through the smoke and haze over Shanghai to light up an awesome spectacle.

It showed the destruction and death in the wake of a terrifying pagoda—a city in flames, a defeat, but conquered army in retreat. Thousands of men, women and children fleeing from Japanese troops and from fire which destroyed homes in Chapel and the western countryside.

Adding to the rise of gruesome events, Chinese planes carried out one raid over Japanese positions, and Japanese warships engaged in an artillery duel with Chinese batteries in Pootung, just across the Whangpoo river from Shanghai.

Flames Checked

Spirals of smoke rose from burned ruins of Chapel, but major fires were quenched by Japanese blue-jackets and settlement firemen. Fires still raged west of Shanghai, with dense, billowing clouds hanging like a curtain between Chapel and the new battlefield.

Hope of ending the conflict by diplomatic means was measurably reduced, Chinese Foreign Minister Dr. Wang Chung-Hui declared at Nanking, by Japanese refusal to attend the Brussels nine-power conference called for Nov. 3.

"The refusal confirms our belief that Japan is not going to abandon her policy of aggression unless compelled to do so by measures more effective than moral persuasion on the part of interested powers," he said.

Building, Trades Advisory Council Formed in Valley

Uniform Wage and Hour Scale Is Aim of Organization

The Fox Valley Building and Trades Advisory council, an organization that will set up uniform wage and hour scales for valley cities, was formed at a meeting held last night in the Appleton Trades and Labor hall.

The council has already established blanket wage and hour provisions and the delegates at last night's meeting were instructed to submit them to locals in their respective cities.

Men from building and trades unions in Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Neenah-Menasha, Appleton, Little Chute, Kaukauna, DePere, and Green Bay, 45 in all, were present at last night's meeting.

Among them were Louis Butterfield of Green Bay, a member of the executive board of the state federation of labor, and Harvey Zelmner of Oshkosh, building and trades business agent.

Charles Denaback, Appleton, was named temporary chairman and Rufus Jackson, Appleton, temporary secretary, of the advisory council. The next meeting will be held at Fond du Lac.

Propose Relief Work In Northern Forests

Congressman George Schneider will attend a meeting called by the state conservation department tomorrow afternoon at Madison to discuss a plan for a program for using relief funds to give employment in northern counties work thinning and improving state and county forests.

Under the program the value of pulpwood, excelsior wood and some fuel and sawlogs would produce funds for local contribution of a percentage of the cost of relief work.

It was pointed out that such a program might be feasible because of the curtailment of CCC camps in the state, less than normal private employment in woods in the sparsely settled counties and the inability of the poorer towns and counties to make direct relief contributions.

The accident occurred Dec. 12, 1936 at Appleton and Franklin streets. Melzer was traveling south on N. Appleton street and Stauffering west on Franklin street when the crash occurred.

Reelect Luebke State Chairman

Appleton Man Heads Wisconsin Unite of International Association

Louis Luebke, Appleton electrical inspector, was reelected chairman of the Wisconsin Chapter of the International Association of Electrical Inspectors at a convention Wednesday at Madison.

O. B. Rode, Racine, was named vice chairman and John E. Wise, Madison, was reelected secretary and treasurer. Members elected to the board of directors were: Joseph Gloyeck, Milwaukee; E. M. Michelson, Madison; W. P. Stone, Beloit, and E. L. Pagels, Whitefish Bay.

An invitation to hold next year's meeting in Milwaukee was referred to the convention committee with power to act. Sixty delegates attended the convention.

This year is the first time in the history of the association that a chairman has been reelected. Other years the vice chairman automatically advanced to the chairmanship.

The new national electrical code was explained in an address by V. H. Tinsley, secretary of the International association and was opened to round table discussion. Rural electrical inspection was also discussed by the group.

County Offers Free Rat Poison for City Dumps

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., this morning received a letter from R. C. Swanson, county agent, offering the city free rat poison to be placed in city dumps on the night of Nov. 3—the day scheduled for the second annual banquet for Outagamie county rats. The letter also stated that Appleton citizens may obtain bait on request. The communication was turned over to the board of health.

Realty Transfers

The following real estate transfers were recorded today at the office of A. L. Collar, Outagamie county register of deeds:

Arthur J. Briggs to Alvin Broehm, a parcel of land in the Third ward, Kaukauna.

POSTPONE MEETING

A meeting of council and school board committees, scheduled for this afternoon, has been indefinitely postponed. The committees were to have discussed the proposed construction of a stadium at Spencer street field.

COMMITTEE MEETING

The finance committee of the common council will hold a meeting at 1:30 Friday afternoon at the city hall. A report to be submitted at a regular meeting of the council at 7:30 Wednesday evening will be considered.

WINS RENO DECREE

Mrs. Elizabeth Eaton Guggenheim is shown boarding an east-bound transport plane at Reno after winning a divorce at a brief private trial, from Colonel M. Robert Guggenheim, one of the heirs to the huge Guggenheim mining and smelting fortune. She said she had "nothing at all" to say about the divorce.

Awarded $160 in Auto Crash Suit

Judge Ryan Orders Verdict For Plaintiff in Municipal Court

Judges Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court this morning ordered a verdict of $160 for Charles A. Melzer, Appleton, in a damage suit for $400 against Karl Stauffering, 400 W. Foster street, resulting from an automobile accident. A counterclaim of Stauffering for $75 was ordered dismissed.

The accident occurred Dec. 12, 1936 at Appleton and Franklin streets. Melzer was traveling south on N. Appleton street and Stauffering west on Franklin street when the crash occurred.

Vandenberg Voices Plea for Business

America create more than one-half of the world's wealth.

"Fear chills the hearts of the enterprisers. They can't see as far down the road as they used; the rules may be changed next week. Their courage and daring is penalized and condemned," Thorpe said.

"To regain our industrial stride we must encourage the enterprisers and see that they get the where-withal to take a chance. So long as we deny them acclaim for their gifts, withhold the means to venture boldly, and won't tell them the rules in advance—so long as we deny freedom of expression in industrial life, our economic supremacy will not be revived."

Commenting on the federal reserve board's action last night in reducing margin requirements on brokers loans, Thorpe said the government must go still further in the removal of "obstacles" to the flow of business, and that there are "many things more than margin requirements the matter."

"The action of the federal reserve board in reducing margin requirements might as easily bring a further decline in the (stock) market as an increase," he declared. "After all, the reduction merely illustrates again—government in business."

Bar Association Names Head of New Committee

Chicago—The American Bar association announced yesterday the appointment of Fred B. H. Spellman of Alva, Okla., as chairman of the special committee on bar journal advertising, a new group.

Chairmen of two other committees were reappointed. They were Lloyd K. Garrison, dean of the University of Wisconsin law school, head of special committee on economic condition of the bar, and Stanley B. Heuck of Minneapolis, head of the committee on unauthorized practice of law.

Inspector Issues Building Permits Totaling $13,325

Three New Dwellings are Included in Construction List

Permits for construction estimated at $13,325 were issued by the city building inspector yesterday and this morning.

Andrew Kangas, Randall street, was given a permit to build a new dwelling at an estimated cost of $4,000. The house is to be of frame construction, 27 by 28 feet, with a garage 12 by 20 feet.

A permit was issued to the Kimberly Real Estate company to construct a new home at 1748 N. Harman street. The frame building is estimated to cost $3,500 and will be 34 by 20 feet.

Lee Meyer, 1316 N. Appleton street was given a permit to erect a garage, 12 by 22 feet, at an estimated cost of $150.

A permit was granted to Al Utchig, 1202 N. State street, for construction of a frame house at 325 E. Summer street at an estimated cost of $5,000.

Charles D. Krueger, 1504 N. Superior street, was granted a permit for an addition to a residence at a cost of $300. Mrs. Ella Grunert, 1102 N. Division street, secured a permit for a vestibule to cost $75.

A frame garage will be built by Alfred Klug, 1706 Reeves street, for $150, according to the permit, and Chris A. Guckenberger, 1030 W. Lorain street, secured a permit for enclosing a porch at an estimated cost of $150.

DEATHS

MRS. RALPH DEAN

Mrs. Ralph Dean, 42, Royalton, died at New London at 10 o'clock last evening after a week's illness. She had been ailing the last year. Mrs. Dean was born at Royalton July 12, 1885, and lived there her entire life with the exception of 10 years at Oshkosh. She was a member of the Ladies Aid society at the Congregational church in Royalton and the Royal Neighbors of America.

Survivors are the widower and two sons, Kermit, Milwaukee; Dale, New London. Funeral services will be held at the Royalton Congregational church at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, with the Rev. A. W. Snesby, New London, in charge. Burial will be in Royalton cemetery. The body will be taken from the Cline and Learman Funeral home to the residence at Royalton Friday afternoon.

Bearers were Alvin and Vernon Prepp, Earl Eich, Ruben Dunst, Raymond Schmidt and Clare BENDER.

Bull Association Makes Plans for Next Session

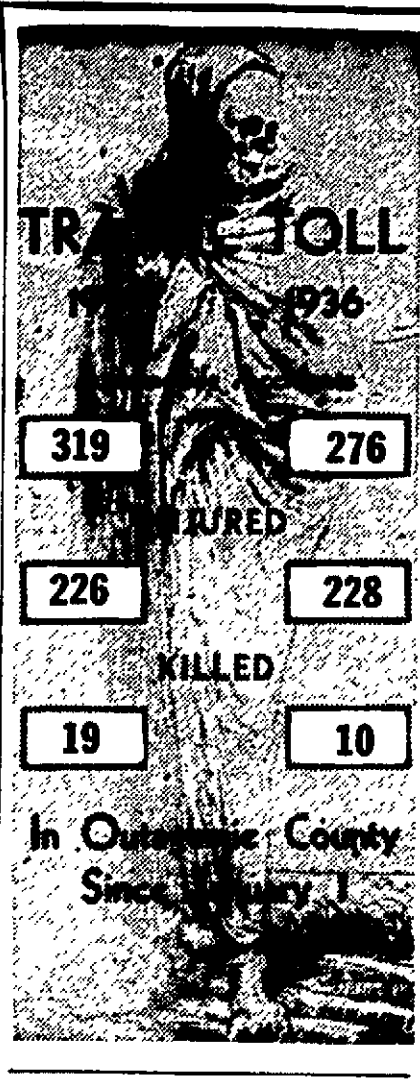

Members of the Guernsey Bull association met last night at the courthouse and made plans for a meeting with a representative of the Dairyman's association about the middle of next month. A number of bull breeders are attending a state sale being held at Waukesha today.

It Is Said--

That a Boy Scout from one of the troops in the valley council in applying for advanced rating related several good turns which he had done recently. Among his benefactions he listed stopping a dog fight, helping a dog over a high fence, picking up a mail box that had toppled over and restraining two boys from fighting with a girl.

That the crowd which came to hear Dr. Clarence Dykstra talk at the joint luncheon of the chamber of commerce and three service clubs Wednesday noon in the Conway hotel was so large that several little informal dinner parties became a matter of necessity. Those who couldn't find seats in the main dining room were placed in two ante rooms where tables were set up or ate their meal in the coffee shop. In the words of Dr. Joseph L. Benton, who was off in one of the rooms a half-mile or so from the speaker's table, "Tell me when he starts to talk."

When Dr. Dykstra was introduced, Dr. Neidhold mentioned his work during the flood last year when he was city manager of Cincinnati. Just as the president started his talk, a photographer standing in front of him set off his flash bulb. "Well, it's either flood or fire," Dr. Dykstra commented.

Oral Arguments Will be Presented at Final State Hearing

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — A sweeping investigation into coal freight rates in Wisconsin by the state public service commission moved nearer to a conclusion this week when the commission ordered briefs to be filed by the parties by November 1.

Hearings in the contemplated revision of coal freight rates, the first in 15 years were begun by the commission early last July, continued for two weeks, and produced more than 1500 pages of testimony.

It is expected that soon after the filing of briefs, the commissioners will set a date for a final hearing at which oral arguments will be presented. Because all members of the public service body heard the original arguments, it is not expected that there will be any delay in their final decision.

The proposed revision which is considered by state authorities to be the most important of the last ten years, may result in savings for both domestic and industrial consumers of coal and electricity, and involves all the railroads, coal dealers, manufacturers, utilities, and dock operators in the state.

One of the principal questions at issue is the proposed abandonment of the port equalization principle, which is backed by the organized paper manufacturers of the state. The port equalization principle means that the freight rates on coal from Lake Michigan shores points to points more than 40 miles inland are the same regardless of distance. Because Wisconsin paper manufacturers used about 700,000 tons of soft coal last year, of which Fox River Valley mills accounted for more than one third, the issue is an important one to them.

TAKE IN WASHING
Toledo, O., Oct. 27.—Four University of Toledo football players are "washermen," but that doesn't mean they are softies.

Art Van Ryzin, Ted Osborne, Don Ferrer and John Petrakis are working their way through the university by doing the laundry for the varsity team and gymnastics.

Their normal week's wash is 1,000 towels and 200 jerseys.

PAW PAW'S START DRIVE
Paw Paw, Mich., Oct. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Dana Smith, loyal Paw Pawians, have set out to make Paw Paw extend due recognition to the paw paw trees from which the city took its name.

The couple has started a movement to have Paw Paw residents go in for reforestation in a big way, planting scores of paw paw trees in Paw Paw yards.

Green Bay Company Wants to Abandon Street Car Line

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — The public service commission said Tuesday that it will hold a public hearing at 10 o'clock on the morning of Nov. 3 on the application by the Wisconsin Public Service corporation for authority to abandon its street railway system in the city of Green Bay.

All persons interested in the proposed abandonment have been requested by the commission to appear at that hearing.

The commission has found it necessary, in the investigation of the contemplated street railway abandonment, to assess the expenses incurred against the Wisconsin Public Service corporation, as permitted by law, an official announced here yesterday.

Notice of such assessment, signed by Fred S. Hunt, commission chairman, has been sent to the officials of the utility corporation.

Faulty Basement Stairways Cause Home Accidents

Simple Precautions Can Prevent Falls, Medical Society Warns

Madison — "Home accidents take more lives than highway accidents," declared the Wisconsin State Medical society in the first of a series of articles on "How Safe is Your Home?"

"Accidents in the home claimed the lives of more than 38,500 people in the United States in 1936. In Wisconsin alone, 1,200 deaths resulted from accidental injuries sustained in the home. Falls accounted for 500 of the 1,200 deaths—nearly half. Many of these deaths could have been avoided if a few simple precautions had been taken."

"Many of the falls which ended tragically could have been avoided if the basement stairs, the 'ugly duckling' of the house, had been given a little attention. Because the appearance of the basement stairway is not important, it may be too steep, too skimpy, or minus handrails, head room and adequate light. Yet, the basement stairway is used numerous times during the day; in fact, it is often used more frequently than the stairway to the second floor, which, as a rule, is kept spotless and is well-built. Broken steps are not to be ignored. They are the cause of many unnecessary accidents in the home. Falling from the lowest step of a cellar stairs is a common accident and one which may be remedied easily. It is a wise idea to paint the bottom step white as a kind of bulletin board announcement that the cellar floor is reached."

"The basement stairway should not be used as a storage place. Brooms, mops, waste basket, canned goods, polishes, nails and tools should be removed from their precarious position on the stairway before they cause trouble. They are apt to be set in the way, and one might easily fall over them while going down the stairs.

"Fix up your basement stairway and avoid falls and broken bones."

o'clock in the afternoon and will be featured by the sale of the Wisconsin State fair first prize 4-H bull. Emory C. Meltz will be auctioneer.

Terrors Work Against Oshkosh High Plays

Doctor to Pass Today on Sample's Injured Shoulder
VIKES GET PLAYS
Go Through Dummy Session, Then Oppose Freshmen

SCRIMMAGE against Oshkosh high school plays last night featured the workout of Appleton's Terrors as the squad completed heavy drills for Friday night's game at Oshkosh.

A squad coached by Myron Seims drilled on Oshkosh plays for almost an hour and then showed the other half the team how the Indians do things. Sweeps and pass plays, especially the latter, featured the workout and before it was all over the Terrors knew pretty much about the Indian offense.

The Oshkosh attack features the running and passing of Dick Erditz and Dick Hara. Either boy can pitch passes, can catch passes and both can run with the best in the conference. Aside from that the Indians don't offer much—but that's enough.

Sample a Question
Whether Chuck Sample will show with the Terrors Friday night depended on what the doctor had to say today. Sample hasn't been out for practice because his shoulder, still is heavily taped and he can raise the arm only part way. The chances are that even if he does play a heavy fall will put him back on the sidelines.

A victory for the Terrors Friday night will assure the team of second place in the standings and the possibility of moving into a first place tie if East should show to West. East is idle this week, meets Sheboygan on Nov. 6 and West on Armistice day.

Lawrence college gridiron continued working on fundamentals and new plays last evening. The regulars set up the blocking dummies and then rehearsed their assignments and again in a spirited workout.

Later in the evening the squad went on defense against the freshmen who used the plays and formations they'll test out against St. Norbert freshmen tomorrow afternoon. The yearlings showed all kinds of enthusiasm during the drill and their sweeps and some of their passes clicked well.

Nebraska Star Is Man of 8 Letters

Elmer Dohrmann Slated to Win 12 Major Athletic Awards

Lincoln, Neb.—(U)—Elmer Dohrmann, who will captain Nebraska's Cornhuskers in the football fray against Indiana here Saturday, is a man of letters, eight to be exact, with more on the way.

The big end, six feet and five inches tall, is as a matter of fact, one of the most lettered men in University of Nebraska athletic history. He was the only sophomore in the school's history to win four major "N" awards—in football, baseball, basketball and track. He won the same awards again as a junior and if all goes well he'll have four more this year.

First Stringer
And if he does it his home town backers, from Staplehurst, Neb. (Pop. 253) are ready to put the dozen-letter record up against anything in the U. S. A.

Elmer is one of the tallest gridironers in the nation and has been a first stringer since he started. He got his prep school experience at Seward with Lloyd Marshall, now in the pro ranks. Elmer is an accurate pass catcher, fast under punts, weighty enough to be a terror on defense, and coach Bernie Bierman of Minnesota likes to cite Elmer as an example of how he does not like to have his team played against.

In basketball, Dohrmann is mostly a center but coaches use him as general utility at both guard and forward. He's a javelin tosser on the track squad and his best heave was 179 feet 24 inches last spring. In baseball he plays centerfield.

Clark Hinkle On His Way to Scoring Record

Green Bay Fullback Has Chance to Better Pro Loop Mark

FOUR new individual National Football league records are in the making, according to statistics released today. Two marks in pass receiving, one in forward passing, and one in scoring are expected to go by the boards before the conclusion of the current season during which all individual offensive standards are above those of a year ago.

Clark Hinkle, Green Bay fullback from Bucknell, took the scoring leadership during the past week and now has 40 points. This is nine more than he tallied last year in finishing eighth and past the half-way mark of the record 79 established by Jack Manders, Bears, in 1934. Manders is now third with 31 points, close behind Dutch Clark, player-coach of the Detroit Lions, who has 32 points. These three men passed Gaynell Tinsley, Chicago Cardinals, and Johnny Blood, Pittsburgh, who were tied for the lead with 30 points last week and are in a tie for fourth, having failed to score last Sunday.

Tinsley is well on his way to two new National League records for pass receiving. He has caught 23 passes, which is only 12 from the record 35 set by Don Hutson, Green Bay, last season. He has gained 456 yards on the receiving end of aerials and needs but 71 more yards to break the record 526 also made last year by Hutson. Charlie Malone, Washington, is close behind with 20 successful catches, and Hutson is third with 15.

Monnett Pass Baugh
Bob Monnett, Green Bay, has edged past Sammy Baugh, Washington, for forward passing efficiency with 51 per cent completions to 48 per cent for "Slingshot" Baugh, however, has thrown more than twice the number of Monnett, and has 53 completions in 109 tosses for 707 yards put him close to the record 77 completions made by Arnie Herber, Green Bay, last year. Only 25 more completions will give Baugh a new record, and he has five games in which to do it.

Cliff Battles, Washington halfback from West Virginia Wesleyan, has gained over one hundred yards for the past three Sundays and now has 476 yards to lead the circuit in ground gaining. Although he missed playing in one game for Washington this season, he is well on his way to recapture the individual ground gaining championship he held five years ago. George Grosvenor, Cardinals, is second with 366 yards, 110 less than the total of Battles, while John Karcis, Pittsburgh, is third with 319. Clark Hinkle, Green Bay, is right behind in fourth place with 313 yards.

Make Changes in Kimberly Lineup

Hamann Strengthens His Squad for Final Game On Friday

Kimberly—The Kimberly High school gridironers will travel to Pulaski Friday afternoon for a game with the high school there.

Coach Ray Hamann tried several new men in practice to bolster up the line for this last important game of the season. Should Marion lose this week and the Papermakers win, both teams would be tied for top honors. Marion is leading the Tri-County conference with three wins while the Papermakers have two victories in three starts. Injuries sustained to Coach Hamann's keymen in the game with Chilton were a drawback in last week's tangle when the Papermakers lost to Marion. The injured gridironers have reported for duty this week and are expected to show in Friday's game.

Joe Weyenberg has been shifted to full, with Krueger, Vander Boogaard and Van Dyke, alternating as half backs. Williams and Rooyakkers also may see action at Pulaski.

Shields Gets Invitation To Enter Relay Carnival

Coach Joseph Shields today received an invitation to enter a team in the state relay carnival to be held at Waukesha May 14. Included in the meet will be high and low hurdles, 440-yard relay, 880-yard relay, 1-mile relay, 2-mile relay and 4-mile relay. The meet will be open to all Class A schools in the state. Coach Shields said that Appleton's entrance in the carnival depended on the dates to be set for conference track meets in the spring.

25 Specials Going To Minneapolis for Irish-Gopher Tilt

Minneapolis—(U)—Twenty-five special trains, including one from Denver, will bring outside fans to the University of Minnesota for the football game with Notre Dame in Memorial stadium Saturday.

The first one will arrive Friday, carrying the Fighting Irish eleven, their 100 piece band and a large group of students. Others will come from points in Montana and North Dakota and from the larger midwestern cities, including Chicago and Milwaukee.

LAWRENCE COLLEGE GRID SQUAD POINTS FOR HOMECOMING TILT

Lawrence college football squad, which this week is pointing for the annual homecoming game Saturday with Ripon college at Whiting field, is shown above as it appeared earlier in the season. Since then several boys have joined the squad and a couple others who are shown won't be able to play Saturday because of injuries. Lawrence hasn't won a homecoming game in something like ten years and Saturday it will be out-Derr, C. Gerlach, Captain C. Grode, W. Masterson, C. Burton, K. Baesing, F. Skov, E. VandeWalle, R. Fischer, A. Matmillier, R. Garvey, line coach Adolf Dillon.

C. I. Perschbacher bowled a 626 series for Idaho and Carl McKee a 238 game for Utah to top high scoring honors in the Western league at Elks alleys last night.

Leading his team to a 3-game win over Washington, Perschbacher had games of 226 and 208 and his teammates, Harlowe and Dan Steinberg, Jr., scores of 210 and 208 respectively. The Idaho keelers hung up a 985 for high team game. Thompson with 220 and 589 and Lehman with 205 and 207 paced the Washington game.

McKee followed his high game with a 203 and a 614 series as Utah took two from California and dumped the pine for high match score. 2,815. Kahn had 220 and 203 and McKee 204 for the Mormone Powers' 517 was best for California.

Kranhold had a 237 game and a 615 series to head St. Mary's in its 3-game win over Montana. Henderson hit 213 and 202 and Rothchild 205 for the Gaels. Parnell's 553 series stood out in Montana scoring.

Oregon, led by Gleisner who had 212 and H. Tillman who had 555, won two from Gonzaga. R. Wenzel's 213 and L. Hornke's 549 topped the Gonzaga column.

M. Herner wrote down 228 and 545 as Santa Clara won two from Stanford. For the Indians, J. Feavel had 213 and 554 and G. Gerrits 201.

Discuss Lazzeri's Part In Bruin Setup Today

Chicago—(U)—Tony Lazzeri, for 12 years star second baseman for the New York Yankees, was signed today by Owner Phil K. Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs as player and coach for 1938.

CHICAGO—(U)—Owner Phil K. Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs and Tony Lazzeri, recently of the world champion New York Yankees, had a date today to solve one of the last of major league baseball's big mysteries.

The mystery was what part, if any, Lazzeri, an American league stalwart for 12 seasons, will play in Wrigley's campaign to bring the National league championship back to Chicago.

Before the last world series, Lazzeri hinted that the 1937 season would probably be his last as an active player, provided a big league managing job turned up. After the series, Wrigley arranged with the Yankee management for Tony's release, saying he felt that an ambitious baseball man of the Lazzeri type would be a big help in the Cub organization. But, he also reiterated that Charlie Grimm, pilot of the club since midseason of 1932, would continue as the Cub's manager.

No hint of plans Beyond saying that he thought he wanted Lazzeri, Wrigley has given no hint of his plans. He has neither denied nor affirmed reports the second baseman and sparkplug of the Yankees' championship infield would be signed as a coach for next year, with the possibility that the managerial job would be turned over to him in 1938. The same has gone for guesses that Lazzeri might be made manager of the Los Angeles Pacific coast league club, a Wrigley-owned organization.

Lazzeri probably got an idea of what Wrigley wants in a telephone conversation 10 days ago, and was interested enough to make the trip from his home in San Francisco to talk it over with the Cub owner.

Play Finals in Junior Badminton Tournament

The finals in the junior intramural badminton doubles tournament will be played today at Appleton High school gymnasium. The team of John Trautmann and Robert Morris will battle the team of John Blick and William Zapp for the junior title. Robert Kessler and Carlton Burmaster have reached the finals in the sophomore doubles tournament.

Ancient Rivals Tangle on Grid

Leading Candidates for All-America Berths Await Saturday

BY ALAN GOULD
NEW YORK—(U)—Notwithstanding rain, snow and conditions generally calculated to make football life unhappy for ball-carriers, this week's All-America roundup features the lads who have been going places and scoring touchdowns for the old alma maters.

With a bow to Vanderbilt's 60-minute line, chiefly responsible for overthrowing Louisiana State and featuring an All-America candidate for center in Captain Carl Hinkle, the fact remains that halfbacks monopolized the latest big-game headlines.

Nearing the halfway mark in the pursuit of all-star recognition, the backfield list of favorites includes the following talented young men:

Outstanding Players
Yale's Clint Frank, a 1936 All-America, who gave another superb all-round exhibition against Cornell; Bill Hutchinson, who tallied all three of Dartmouth's touchdowns against Harvard; Vic Botari, who twice crossed Southern California's goal line for California, the nation's No. 1 team; Bullet Bill Patterson, dynamo of Baylor's unbeaten and untied powerhouse; Marshall Goldberg of Pittsburgh, who had one of his best days against Wisconsin; Byron (Whizzer) White of Colorado, who tallied 23 points against Colorado State; Jack Pingel of Michigan State, a broken-field terror against Marquette; Jimmy Fenton and Henry Kelly, the twin ground-gaining sensations for Auburn, and Andy Farkas, who has scored 11 touchdowns for Detroit's unbeaten outlaws.

List Other Stars
Two of the Big Ten's finest blocking backs were on opposite sides of last Saturday's main event, with Ohio State's Jim McDonald apparently enjoying an edge over North western's Fred Vanzo. Don Heath did some spectacular ball-carrying for Northwestern, but could not turn the tide, even with the 213-pound Vanzo's help.

The passing show continues to feature the work of Dwight Sloan of Arkansas, Joe Kilgore of Alabama, Joe Gray of Oregon State, and Sid Luckman of Columbia, although these busy boys do not confine their work to the aerial game. Gray's all-around talents have been outstanding, even on a second-division club.

Injuries Darken M. U. Chances to Stage Upset
Milwaukee—(U)—The possible absence of two first string men, darkened Marquette university's chances today of staving an upset in its football battle with Santa Clara university at Chicago Saturday.

Andy Bakula, recently promoted to a varsity backfield post, injured his knee yesterday as Coach Paddy Driscoll tested defensive innovations in a long scrimmage with the Hilltop freshman squad.

Leroy (Bunny) Schoemann, veteran center, was ill and did not take part in the practice. A light drill was scheduled for today.

Meet Kaukauna Sunday, Appleton Reds Wednesday Night
Little Chute—Little Chute Flying Dutchman football team will meet Kaukauna in the local park Sunday afternoon and the Appleton Reds under lights on Wednesday night. It was announced here today.

Sunday afternoon's game will bring together two old rivals who clashed last week with the Chutes coming away with an 18 to 13 win. Needless to say the Kaws hope to avenge the defeat.

The Chutes came out of Sunday's game in good condition with the exception of Koehn who injured his knee, and Van Handel who bit his tongue and a couple stitches had to be taken in it. Both are expected to be ready for Sunday, however.

The night game with Appleton was closed at a meeting of managers of the teams last night and it was decided to put the Fox river valley football championship on the block. The teams will use their regular lineups and the game will be divided evenly. The Dutchmen plan to use their share of the money for uniforms for next fall's team.

Some price-proud smokers say: "Marvels don't cost enough." That's true—they're worth more. But what a sensation to get such high quality for less money.

Two games were won by the O. K. Taxis over the Mellow Breds. W. Fries cracked the pins for a 620 series to pace the Taxis and A. Brandt pounded the mallets for a 216 game and 534 series to lead the Breds.

Kugler's 231 game and 642 series led Heinie's Tavern to a 2-game win over the Ashauer Taverns. R. Exert smashed the wood for a 225 game and 558 series to pace the Ashauer team.

The Lutz Ice team won three games from the Old Town Beers. H. Lutz cracked the mallets for a 222 game and 618 series to lead the winners and M. Fraser hit a 534 series to pace the Old Town Beers.

Junior Pin Finalists Will Meet at Y. M. C. A.
Gervase Blick and John Blick will meet Ralph Kamps and Charles Sample in the finals of the junior bowling tournament today at the Y. M. C. A. alleys. Prescribes "Salt Air" For Boss of Athletics
Atlantic City, N. J.—(U)—A tonic of "some good salt air for a week or two" was prescribed today for Connie Mack, 75-year-old manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, who is resting here after an illness which confined him to his Philadelphia home two months ago.

We'd like to have seen Bill Schroeder, Manitowoc city football team coach and player, and former-lawyer Lawrence staff last Sunday afternoon after he and his team handed the Appleton Reds 38 to 0 shellacking. We'll bet there was a mile long across that map of his. It seems that Bill didn't like the trimming his boys took here a couple weeks ago when Appleton came to Manitowoc last week it found that William had gone out and rounded up the biggest and best talent he could find in the lake shore city. And then, with himself furnishing the spark in some sensational running and passing, he built up a team that was a peach.

All of which probably was the answer to that crafty smile he gave us at Manitowoc a couple weeks ago when we kidded him a bit during the minutes we spent together at the Appleton-Manitowoc high school game.

Lawrence and St. Norbert college freshmen football teams will clash at 2:30 Friday afternoon at Whiting field. Wonder if the game will mark a step toward resumption of varsity grid and perhaps basketball relations between the two schools. Here's hoping.

Manitowoc High school already is licking its chops over football prospects for next year. The feeder system started with the junior high schools will bring 65 well-trained sophomores to the senior high next fall. It is said.

Richard "Red" Smith, now assistant coach of the Packers, will be back as manager of the Hopkinsville team in the Kitty league next season. If there isn't a Class D league here in the valley The Hopkinsville team is a Milwaukee Brewer farm.

The mail this morning brought a letter from D. W. Burdick, Black Creek, in which he suggested that Black Creek would like to become affiliated with a basketball league. And we think he has something there.

Why wouldn't it be possible to organize a county basketball league much on the order of the county baseball league which just closed its season. The teams could play once a week, have a split season, perhaps, and award championship medals at the end of the year. Who'll start the ball rolling?

HIGH scores were monopolized by Tuttle Press baggers during industrial league matches at Arcade alleys last night as they spilled the pins for a high 1,035 game and high 2,838 team series. Orville Strutz led the quintet with a high 593 series and Wally Gressens took high game honors with a 246 game.

Despite the high scores, Tuttle Press dropped one game to Atlas Printers, paced by Urban Vandervelden who smacked the maples for a 224 game. Atlas Embossers jumped into first place on a 2-game win from Wadhams Oils as the Woolen Mills forked over three games to the up-and-coming Ponds Sport team. Fox River Paper went into third place with a grand slam over Montgomery-Ward.

Lyle Vandervelden topped Atlas Embossers with a 543 series while Bob Kramhold hit a 225 game and Freddie Yelg scored 203 for Wadhams Oil.

Fox River Win
Toppling the pins for a 200 game and a 579 series, Stan Bauman led the Fox River against Montgomery-Ward and was backed by E. Wegner with a 204 game and F. Schrieber with a 214. Joe Hermann was high for the losers with a 475 series.

Kon Smith scored a 210 game for Ponds Sport and M. Seims chalked up a 202. Lee Barlament was high for Woolen Mills with a 549 series.

Telephones were credited with three games in the win column as they trounced Schlafer Hardware bowlers. Frank Briske paced the winners with a 213 game and Loppnow had games of 203 and 207. Walter Wunderlich led the losers with a 533 series.

Three games were won by Power company baggers as they defeated Tuttle Cubs. Mike Sakalakis thumped the pins for games of 200 and 204 for a 592 series for the winners and Chet Merkled scored a 544 series for the Cubs.

Coated Papers dropped two games to the Appleton Wire Works as Earl Joecks hit 201 and 204 for a 581 series for the winners. Lloyd Schroeder headed the losers with a 533 series.

Jones and Sellers Lead Vike Frosh Against St. Norbert Tomorrow

Former to be at Tackle, Latter in Backfield

LAWRENCE college freshman footballers who have furnished sometimes too tough opposition for the varsity, will have their big moment at 2:30 Friday afternoon at Whiting field when they clash with the St. Norbert yearlings. The game is one of two carded for the frosh, the other being scheduled for Nov. 5 with Mission House college. There will be no admission.

The yearlings are reported to have a pretty fair ball team headed by a couple Appleton boys in Vine Jones, huge tackle, and Jack Sellers who is playing in the backfield.

During the last couple weeks, the frosh have reported only three times a week and have rehearsed plays brought to them by Lawrence scouts. As a result they've seldom tried the same stuff twice and only a few days ago took instruction on the half dozen or so plays they'll use against the Saints.

Marty Bridges and Bob Durbow of the varsity squad of last year and assistant varsity coach Adolf Dillon have been directing the team.

Sellers has been named captain for Friday's game and will call the signals. He has been running the ball and doing some of the passing. As a running mate, Sellers will have Bob Everett, who looks like one of the best yearlings in several seasons. He can run, pass and kick. He spent his freshman year in college at Toledo with Doc Spears' charges.

The blocking back probably will be Art Kaemmer, captain of the Kiel High school team last year, while the other back will be Bob Braun, Sheboygan, who was at Mission college last year.

In the line Warren Dean of Highland Park, Ill., will toss the ball from the center position. Robert Shockley, Menominee, Mich., will work at one guard and Jack Goes at the other. The latter prepped at Culver last year and Shockley won his letter at Menominee.

Vine Jones will take care of one tackle position and there's no doubt about his doing plenty there. The other tackle will be Robert Protz, Manitowish, who was at St. John Military academy last year. The ends will show Robert Hrudka, another Manitowish youth, and Ed Atkinson, St. Paul, who prepped at Blake school, St. Paul.

Four rather promising reserves are John Nieholdt, Mayville, a back; John Wood, a guard; Ed Wendland, New London, who plays tackle and hits about 200 pounds; and Curtis Stevens, Appleton, a back.

The freshman backfield is reported to average about 165 pounds while the line with Jones is exceptionally heavy. It averages about 170 pounds without the big guy.

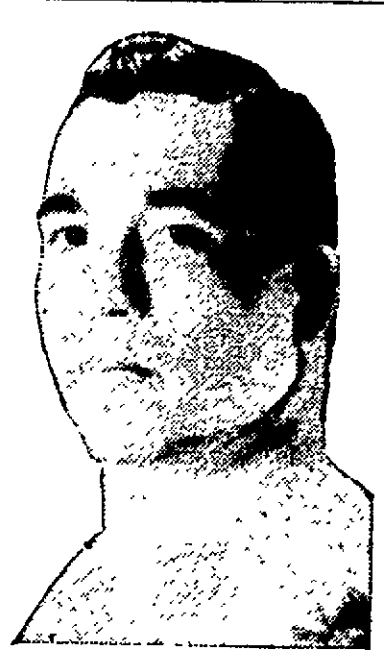

In the matter of speed, unquestionably they can travel at a great clip, but they are a much larger target than a blue wing and cannot get started so quickly as the little fellows, or dive in and out so rapidly as when the small duck wants to escape the contents of a scattershot.

In many localities upon their arrival blue wings are almost afraid of man. They will stick to little stock ponds and holes back in the marshes, or in the timber, or in bays on mountain waterways as though they were their domain and the thought of danger never entered their minds. They will suffer close approach of man without attempting to fly. When they find they have to take wing, the manner in which they will return and return to these places is akin to suicidal.

Time and again I have seen flocks almost exterminated because of their fatal determination to return to some little bit of water from which they had been flushed and which formerly had proven a haven of safety as well as an ideal feeding ground. The last one that survives through excessive speed, augmented at last by realization of its danger, escaped.

On a certain mountain water way I have seen in early fall the gravel bars literally covered with blue wings. In fact on one occasion I witnessed fifteen birds killed with a double gun where they arose from close to a feeding and resting place. The balance of the flock was for a while determined to alight from where it had been flushed. Eventually after circling close to the gunner five times and losing more of the flock, it suddenly decided to pass over him for the last time. So incredibly fast was the flight of the ducks while doing this that he failed to hit a single one. Talk about a hundred and forty mile clip—any sportsman would have sworn they were doing at least two hundred!

Jump shooting is a favorite method of many where conditions are right for this sort of sport. Contrary to the accepted opinion of many in localities of the south, jump shooting of teal is quite the thing. While blue wings are supposed to be most everywhere an open country duck, they are very plentiful at times way back in heavily timbered swamps where most think only the mallard and woodcock frequent. INDIAN WRESTLER

Menasha—Two Indians will be on the warpath next Wednesday evening in the windup of the wrestling show sponsored by the Twin Cities Union club at the S. A. Cook armory. Chief Thunderbolt, Black Hills, S. D., shown above, has been imported to bring a stop to the rough tactics employed by Chief White Cloud from Yakima, Wash.

Indians to Clash In Tugging Bout

Thunderbolt and Whitecloud Scheduled in Menasha Ring

Menasha—Action is assured in the wrestling card arranged by William Erickson, sports promoter, for the next show Wednesday evening, Nov. 3, at the S. A. Cook armory under the sponsorship of the Twin Cities Union club.

The windup bout will bring two Indians, both noted for their Texas tactics, together. Chief Thunderbolt will oppose Chief Whitecloud in a two out of three fall match with an hour time limit.

Grandpoy Meyers, who gave a clever demonstration of real wrestling in his last appearance, will be back again. The veteran will oppose Vic Weber of Texas in the semifinal, another two out of three fall match with an hour time limit.

A newcomer to Twin City wrestling fans, Pete Bartu, Chicago, will appear on the opening match. He will oppose George Bennett, Tulsa, Okla., in the half hour, one fall limit bout.

Begin Memorial to Knute Rockne Nov. 5

South Bend, Ind.—Erection of Notre Dame's memorial to Knute Rockne, a massive $550,000 fieldhouse, will be started Nov. 5. The permanent tribute to the memory of the man who established Notre Dame as the country's most famous football power before he lost his life in an airplane disaster near Bazaar, Kas., March 31, 1931, will be a three-story building of red brick with Bedford stone trim. It will be 210 feet long, 182 feet wide. Rather than a varsity home, it will be devoted to meeting the physical training needs of the student body.

Plans call for a party of the fieldhouse to be ready for use by early next fall.

Leg of Lake Forest Grider Amputated Because of Injury

Lake Forest, Ill.—Physicians amputated the right leg of Albert Kroil, 20, Lake Forest college football player, last night. Four days after he suffered an injury in the school's homecoming game with James Millikin university.

Kroil was blocked out of a play attempting to rush an opposing passer. The injury, said Drs. D. T. McGrew and John D. Claridge, caused formation of a blood clot. Gangrene set in and amputation of the leg was ordered.

Dr. Herbert M. Moore, president of the college, said the two remaining games on the Lake Forest schedule—with North Central college of Naperville, and Kenyon college of Gambier, O.—probably would be cancelled.

Sammy Baugh Says He'd Rather Run Ball Than Pass It

Likes Pro Game Better Because of Tougher Competition

NEW YORK—(AP)—Scratch the average millionaire, they say, and you find a guy who always yearned to be a fireman and wear red suspenders.

Sammy Baugh, who turned his passing ability into big business, is no different. He always wanted to carry the ball, but they wouldn't let him until now.

Sammy made the shy admission at the coming-out party thrown for him here by Dan Topping, wealthy young president of the Brooklyn football Dodgers. Baugh's modesty, incidentally, made an obvious impression on his audience, which is accustomed to hearing the personal pronoun banded about.

Likes Running Better
"I like runnin' with the ball better than passin' it," the former T. C. U. terror told them. "I guess it's because you can see 'em hittin' you. You don't get up wonderin' who it was knocked your head off that time."

The man, who is drawing a fancy salary from the Washington Redskins solely because of his ability to sling strikes with a football, acted real embarrassed when they kept asking him about how he learned to pass, and commenting on the fact he had completed 53 out of 109 so far. But he became expansive the moment somebody observed that he also had proved himself a very handy ball-carrier.

"There wasn't much said about my runnin' in college," he said, "but I handled the ball a lot just the same, especially on spinners."

Pros Hit Harder
Sammy says he likes the pro game better than the college brand because, as a rule, it's more offensive and the competition consistently tougher. They hit a man much harder, he claims. However, he wouldn't admit the pass-receivers are any better than the young men who caught his aerials at Texas Christian.

"I had some great ones with me down there, else I wouldn't be here now."

Cliff Battles, his teammate on the Redskins, is Baugh's choice for the greatest runner he's seen. He is borne out by the figures, which show Battles far and away the leading ground-gainer of the National league.

There were all sorts of eulogies for Baugh. Patsy Clark, coach of the Dodgers, said Sammy was "one of the very few players who had entirely lived up to their reputation—and then some." Bo Molenda, assistant coach of the New York Giants, placed him on a par with Benny Friedman and Arnie Herber.

Sammy only sat and looked embarrassed.

T. Radtke had 242, Vick De Long 202 and 531 to top the Photos, who hit the high team game of the evening, 969. The Schabo team tied with Lenkes Meats for high match score, 2779.

The Lenke team whacked out a 2-game victory over Huesemann Insurance, with Tarnow rolling a 531 series. Risse led the insurance leggers with a 529.

Plammann bowled 207 and 551 to lead the Plammann Insurance to a 2-game win over Checker Lunch. Smith paced the lunchroom men with a 486 series.

COMMON SENSE CONSERVATION

By L. H. KINGSTON

live buck is worth much more to them as tourist bait than he is strapped to the fender of a hunter's car.

It occurs to me that hunters could improve their relations with people of the north by spending more money up there. Instead of stocking up with provisions and hunting supplies at home why not buy them up in the deer country.

Perhaps you think that would amount to much. Well, I estimate that normally it costs each hunter $10 for the supplies he could buy up north; so 100,000 hunters could spend a million dollars right up there where it would do the most good.

Would that make a difference? Well, consider this: last year there were some 29,000 legal bucks killed in seven days and it is estimated that only about one-tenth that number of legal muskies were caught in nine months, but did you ever hear any agitation for a closed musky season? No, you didn't because muskie fishermen are spenders.

"The list of their rudenesses and discourteous acts is a long one and a particularly disgraceful one, and any fair-minded resident will realize that the protest is not entirely from sentimentalists, but from indignant residents who dread the deer season not because deer are killed, but because the type of hunter is such an unpleasant person."

"Deer hunters, first of all, swarm into the region on a holiday and leave behind them all their inhibitions. They climb over fences, race through gardens, ignore the protests of owners and help themselves to anything they may fancy."

"Pellets whiz in every direction. All wood cutting operations and any type of outside work must stop. The entire country is at the mercy of a horde of deer hunters who know no mercy. Stray bullets kill dogs that are loved by families, cows that mean revenue to farmers living in tar paper shacks, horses whose loss means real tragedy."

"Worse than all these, however, is the terrible threat to human life. A deer hunter will shoot at anything. The one buck law is degrading to stop this reckless shooting and the forked horn law is planned to curb it, but it still remains a fact that the average deer hunter shoots first and looks afterward."

Hunted in Area
It happens that for the past several open deer seasons I have hunted right in the county where this newspaper is printed and honestly, now, I never knew we were as bad as all that. Fact is, I was beginning to think that deer hunters were getting educated because only one deer hunter was shot last fall and wardens, rangers and CCC officers said that they found very few illegal deer dead in the woods after the season was over. I am forced to admit, however, that there are a few of the 100,000 deer hunters who ought to be in jail rather than running loose with a gun in their hands, and they surely make it tough for everybody.

But that is not the real cause of the northern peeve against deer hunters. Further on in the above quoted editorial I find what I believe is the chief cause of the whole controversy. Here it is:

"It is also a fact that three-quarters of the deer hunters are not sportsmen at all. They are farmers who build themselves a trailer and park it somewhere along the highway. Father gets a deer, the two sons get a deer and the uncle gets a deer. Four deer go out with them. The sole purpose of their hunting expedition is to get meat for the winter. While here they eat venison, and maybe partridge or rabbit or whatever small game they can shoot."

There you have it. The average deer hunter belongs to the farmer-laborer class and he is too busy in the summer to have much fun. The deer season comes at a slack time when it is possible for him to get away from the farm and it gives this hard working man one of his few chances for a vacation. He does not have the money to spend that the summer tourist has and he cannot afford to stay at a resort or rent a cabin. Consequently, he leaves very little money in the north country in exchange for the buck he brings home. But he is a citizen of the state—not a non-resident as many summer vacationists are—and as such he certainly merits some consideration.

Tourist Bait
On the other hand, now that the timber industry is gone there is little left for northern Wisconsin except the tourist business and people who live up there cannot be blamed if they play it for all it's worth. They too have to make a living. As matters now stand a

Frisk Confident Grid Game Is Not Cutting in Dallas—(AP)—Football, with its weekly Saturday hysteria, is not threatening baseball as the great American pastime, says shrewd Ford Frisk, president of the National baseball league.

"As a sport football is grand—certainly not harmful to baseball. Perhaps there is just one thing in football that could harm baseball," Frisk said today.

"Some colleges have these high pressure, high-powered football coaches who must win. They take good baseball players out of circulation in colleges and use them in their spring football training. To balance this, however, there are some baseball coaches who keep their talent in baseball."

Badger Reserves Look Good in Drill

Milwaukee Halfback Gets Away for Long Jaunts In Scrimmage

Madison—(AP)—With hard body contact concluded, Coach Harry Stuhldreher will concentrate on offensive and defensive tactics for the next two days in preparation for the University of Wisconsin's football game with Northwestern.

Yesterday the Badger reserves ran through a hard scrimmage and looked fairly good. It was halfback Tony Gradisnik, Milwaukee, who stole the show. He sliced through the line for a 90 yard touchdown jaunt and swung around end for 40 yards and another score. His passes to Fred Benz and Ralph Moeller, ends, also gave the reserves large gains.

Schultz Receivers
Benz and Neil Pohl, center, were shifted to the reserves and Jim Riordan and Jack Murray, both sophomores, took their posts in the first string line. Both, however, will see plenty of action in the Wildcat game.

All injured men will be ready to play Saturday. John Doyle and Bill Davies, both left guards, are favoring leg injuries and Bill Schmitz, left halfback, was running signals with the varsity. He suffered a severe bump on the head Wednesday but showed no ill signs. Roy Belin, right halfback, is favoring a wrenched ankle but also ran signals.

All indications point to another wide-open game this year. Wisconsin's passes almost upset the Wildcats last year, and Stuhldreher probably will rely on that phase of the game for yardage again Saturday. Stuhldreher also stressed the down-field blocking, which was none too good in the Pittsburgh game.

Indications are that about 31,000 will attend the game, according to Harry Schwenker, athletic ticket manager.

John Polich, Hitting, Minn., end, and Bill Magee, San Juan Capistrano, Calif., tackle.

Catholic Youth Council Formed With 125 Members

Henry McDaniel Named President of New Group At New London

New London—About 125 young people organized a New London Catholic Youth Council at a meeting at the parish hall last night. The group elected officers, planned to meet the second and fourth Thursday of every month, and will lay out a program of activities at the next meeting in November.

Henry McDaniel, high school senior, was elected president; Miss Betty Morse, vice president; Miss Ruth Kurszevski, high school senior, secretary; and David Knapstein, a senior, treasurer. The group consisted of high school boys and girls and young men and women out of school up to 26 years of age.

The local council is a part of the Green Bay Diocesan council which will hold its first meeting at a Catholic youth rally at Green Bay Sunday. The newly elected officers and several other members of the group plan to attend the meeting at Columbus hall.

The organization was accomplished under the direction of Miss Anna Rose Kimple, youth field secretary for the National Council of Catholic Women, Miss Edna Quinlan of Green Bay, past-president of the women's diocesan council, and the Rev. Paul E. Herb, local pastor.

Miss Genevieve Smith was named New London deanery chairman of youth and Mr. and Mrs. Orr Glandt as parish sponsors of the group. Miss Smith and the Glandts will select others from the older members to aid in carrying out the youth program.

After the meeting a lunch was served under the direction of Mrs. H. J. McDaniel, deanery chairman of New London women, assisted by Mrs. D. B. Egan, Mrs. E. H. Smith, Mrs. John Knapstein, Mrs. Henry Knapstein, Mrs. R. D. Wilkinson and Mrs. Henry Monroe.

New London May Have Civic Chorus

Candidates Will Hold Organization Meeting Tuesday

New London—Organization of a community chorus in New London will be undertaken at a meeting of the interested public at the Washington High school auditorium next Tuesday evening, Nov. 2, at 7:30.

Interest in the community project was aroused by the performance of the New London High school choruses in recent appearances before church and study groups. Miss Mary L. Donohue, director of vocal music in New London schools, has consented to direct a community chorus and Mrs. D. N. Stacy will serve as accompanist.

All persons who like to sing or hear community singing have been publicly invited to attend the organization meeting. Regular meetings are planned thereafter. While the project is not directly sponsored by any city organization or group, Mrs. Beatrice Monsted and Mrs. A. L. Severance have taken the initiative in promoting the general interest to a climax.

Sugar Beet Shipments At New Peak This Week

New London—Sugar beet shipments from this area reached the peak this week according to Hugo Holtzman, Hortonville, who is supervising loading of cars at the Chicago and North Western freight depot here for the Superior Sugar Beet company of Menominee, Mich.

The seventh carload was started yesterday and a total of about 12 cars are anticipated, each carrying about 35 tons of beets. A greater acreage of beets was planted in this area this year than last and haulers report the crop yield better than last year. Shipments probably will continue for another week or two with total tonnage easily exceeding last year's output.

Vanderveer Team Crowds Top Place With Double Win

Standings:

Orange Kists	W.	L.
Daves Service	12	9
Cristys	9	6
Wadhams Oils	8	10
Daves Service (2)	7	11

The scores:

Daves Service (1) 761 867 756—2374
Wadhams Oils (1) 864 846 734—2444
Orange Kists (1) 792 834 814—2440
Cristys (2) 838 768 833—2439

New London—Dave Vanderveer's quiet but only .029 per cent behind first place as he garnered two wins over the oil men at Prahl's alleys last night. With a 600 average the leading Orange Kists have six games to make up.

Keith Prahl led the service men with a 578 series in games of 196, 197 and 198. For Wadhams, Pete Laux cracked a 543 total starting with 197 and 204 to blow for 142 in the final frame. Harold Steingraber cracked 554 and 207 for the Kists, George Krueger a 515 total and Lawrence Miller a 190 game for Cristys. G. A. Wells rolled 534 and 203.

Girls Club League

Prahl's Newbies tied the lead with the Carter-Hanson studios at 10-5 by lacing the New London Constructors for three games. Irma's Hot sank to a par with the Constructors for low honors at 5-10, losing two games to the studio girls.

Mrs. Ralph Hanson set the pace with a 182 game at the start, earning a total of 461, with Mrs. Oscar Nemschoff pounding 180 and the high total of 467. Miss Irma Rucker hit a 462 series and Miss Kathryn Wilson cracked another 180 game.

Home Talent Play to Be Given at Waupaca

Waupaca—"Sky High," a home talent play directed by Miss Marietta Jackson of Kansas City, Mo., is to be staged in the social hall of St. Mary Magdalene church Nov. 4 and 5. The cast includes 12 characters, supplemented by a chorus of 18 members.

"What Fools We Mortals Be" is the subject of an address by Judge A. M. Scheller at the Northeastern Wisconsin Chinese and Buttermakers convention Thursday afternoon at Shawano. The address is scheduled for 3 o'clock.

A tile floor in the lobby of the courthouse is replacing the old wooden flooring, and a new walk has been laid on the west side of that building some distance from where the old one was. The walk was changed to do away with one of the winter hazards. According to Julius Frederickson, janitor, a number of persons have narrowly escaped death from the falling ice and snow from the steep courthouse roof. The space between the walk and the building has been planted with shrubbery and tulips.

A social meeting followed the regular business session of the Eastern Star Wednesday evening. Musical numbers by Miss Brena Gibson and Mrs. C. H. Bachner, and a vivid description of the Eastern Star home at Washington, D. C., was given by Patron Roy Holly. Mr. Holly visited the home while in attendance at the scout jamboree this summer. Bridge and refreshments followed the program.

Mrs. Jay Keller was hostess to the Study club Wednesday afternoon.

New London Students to Attend Halloween Parties

New London Society

New London—The young people and school children of this community will engage in a whirl of social activity Friday night when Halloween will be celebrated in traditional style at several parties and dances.

Heading the list is a Halloween dancing party for all young people of the community, sponsored by the American Legion auxiliary at the legion clubhouse Friday night as a part of the auxiliary's community service program. The hall will be appropriately decorated and refreshments will be served. On the serving committee are Mrs. W. P. Brown, chairman, Mrs. Leonard Cline, Mrs. George Ross and Mrs. D. B. Egan. Two members of the post and auxiliary will act as chaperones.

At Washington High school the Senior class will hold its annual class party in Halloween fashion. In charge of entertainment are David Knapstein, chairman, Paul Monroe, John Restle, Rosanna Garot, refreshments, Lois Vanderveer, chairman, Helen Davy, Richard Thorn and Gordon Egger. Faculty advisors are D. N. Slacy and E. N. Calef.

Junior High school pupils at Lincoln school will throw their own Halloween party at the school's study hall Friday evening under the supervision of teachers. Lina Kellogg was placed in charge of the lunch at a meeting of the seventh and eighth grade this week and Doris Markman was named responsible for the entertainment. Each chairman will select her own committee to plan the food and fun. Impromptu parties are planned by many of the different grades in public and parochial schools Friday. Many of the children will bring lunches for classroom parties.

Twenty-eight members of the Senior Young Peoples' society of the Emanuel Lutheran church joined in a Halloween party at the home of Miss Gladys Prahl Tuesday evening. Games furnished entertainment and a treasure hunt was

The study of Poe and Holmes, their lives and works, was conducted by Mesdames C. H. Bachner and George Hendrickson.

Plans to entertain the Senior and Junior Young Peoples' societies of the Clintonville Lutheran church here Sunday, Nov. 7, occupied the Junior society of the Emanuel Lutheran church at a meeting Tuesday evening. An informal get-together of the two city groups is planned. The New London senior group will supply the refreshments and the juniors will provide the entertainment.

Methodist Board Will Hold Business Session

New London—The official board of the Methodist church will meet at the church parlors this evening at 8 o'clock to conduct important business. It was announced by the Rev. Ralph R. Holliday. Choir rehearsal will be held at 7 o'clock.

The Rev. Mr. Holliday, state chaplain for the American Legion, spent Monday and Tuesday at the Wisconsin Veterans' Administration hospital at Milwaukee on a tour of inspection.

won by John Restle and Roland Rosenberger. Assisting Miss Prahl in the role of hostess were Miss Sylvia Prahl, Chester Paap, Hugo Bachman and Wallace Wendt.

Thirty Children Get Examinations At Health Center

New London—Thirty babies and pre-school children were examined free of charge at the year's second maternal and child health center at the city hall yesterday.

Assisting Dr. Charlotte Fish, staff physician of the state board of health, were Miss Loretta Rice, local public health nurse and Mrs. E. C. Jost, Mrs. C. D. Feathers, Mrs. A. C. Borchardt and Mrs. John Maloney of the Civic Improvement league, local sponsors of the clinic.

Because of the large attendance, infants were still being received for examination as late as 5:30 yesterday afternoon instead of 3:30 as planned.

A continuance of the child health program was shown in the school system recently when all kindergarten and other new pupils received school disease census slips to be filled out by their parents. The blanks solicit information as to the illnesses suffered by the child since birth and what anti-toxins have been administered. The information is filed on each student's individual record card kept by the public health and school nurse, Miss Loretta Rice.

Defer Decision on Fate Of Fire Damaged Barn

New London—The fate of the Hatten Lumber company horse barn which was badly damaged by fire Tuesday evening will remain undecided until a report has been made by insurance adjusters, officials of the company said yesterday. Adjusters are expected this week and final data will determine whether the structure is replaced with a new modern fireproof building or the present barn is rebuilt.

Parochial School Team Loses to Clintonville

New London—A grade school football team from the St. Rose Catholic parish at Clintonville yesterday afternoon beat the team of the Most Precious Blood parochial school here 19 to 12 in a game at the Washington High school grounds. Edward Huettner and Leon Bodoh scored for the New London parish.

Work on Mosquito Hill Ski Slide to Begin This Week

Landing Slope Will be Widened to Approved Specifications

New London—Improvements to make the Mosquito hill ski slide one of the best in the country will be started by workmen this week. It was announced by directors of the New London Ski club after a meeting last night.

A 10-year lease on the hill was granted last Saturday by Mrs. John Cousins, owner, with an option for a succeeding 10-year period, assuring a definite skiing program for New London in the future.

A complete survey of the hill was finished recently and engineers' sketches have been provided for the club. Dr. George Polzin, Dr. J. W. Monsted and G. A. Wells were named a committee to start improvement work immediately.

The most important work is to widen the landing slope to approved specifications. Only a slight improvement in the angle of the hill is necessary, the directors said. Grading is to start at once.

The club was not represented at the recent Milwaukee meeting of the Central United States Ski association of which the group is a member but application for a sanctioned meet will be made in the near future.

Flush Kidneys of Acid and Poisons

Gain in Health and Stop Getting Up Nights

When kidneys are clogged they become weak—the bladder is irritated—often passage is scanty and smelly and burning—sleep is restless and nightly visits to the bathroom are frequent.

The right safe harmless and inexpensive way to stop this trouble and restore healthy action to kidneys and bladder is to get from any drug store a 35-cent box of Medial Haarlum Oil Capsules and take as directed—you won't be disappointed.

But be sure and get GOLD MEDAL Haarlum Oil Capsules—the original and genuine—right from Haarlum in Holland—a grand kidney stimulant and diuretic. Remember also that other symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble are backache, leg cramps, puffy eyes, moist palms and nervousness.

Birthday Party Given At Sugar Bush Dwelling

Sugar Bush—Mr. and Mrs. Emil Peters entertained at 6 o'clock dinner Monday evening in honor of their daughter, Jeanette, it being her birthday anniversary. Guests were Carlo Faebel, Appleton, La Verne Peters, Esther Witte, Jack Rennich and Harold Steingraber.

The Ladies Aid society of Grace Lutheran church is sponsoring a chili and oyster supper at the church parlors Sunday evening. Serving will start at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and continue through the evening. Bingo and other games are planned. Those in charge of the arrangements are: Mesdames J. P. Thoma, Andrew Ruckdahl, John Ruckdahl, Emil Peters and William Gielow.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thoma entertained in honor of their birthday anniversaries Sunday evening. Four tables of schafkopf were played, with high score going to Jerome Hurley and Mrs. J. R. Thoma, low to Adeline Thoma and Orville Heinke. Lunch was served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. James Hurley and family of Clintonville, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Thoma.

Firemen were called out about 6:15 last night when a fire started in a car owned by F. Grist at Rankin street and College avenue. The blaze started from a short in ignition wires. Little damage resulted.

Pegler Says It Might be Smart to Drop Olympics

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York.—In 1936 the more or less decent nations of the world decided against their better judgment and instincts to send athletic teams to the Nazi Olympics in Berlin. They knew the Nazis had lied about several matters. They had not only excluded Jews from competition for places on their team—a violation of the Olympic conditions—but in their holding of the winter games at Garmisch, a preliminary to the main program, they had converted the occasion into a military and political display, also contrary to the spirit of the games and in flagrant violation of a special vow which nobody had believed, anyway.

Moreover, in the very headquarters of the world press assembled to cover the sports they had distributed a mimeographed memorandum calling on those present to "make propaganda" for Doktor Henlein, the Nazis' sedition master in Czechoslovakia, a neighbor country whose team was competing in the sports. This act of political treachery under the banner of the Olympics so incensed some of the guests from the free countries that the Nazis hastily tried to recall the memorandum, explaining that it had been meant only for Nazi correspondents. That only made it worse, if possible, it was being caught that hurt.

Knowing that the Nazis had neither honor nor the faintest appreciation of the spirit of the Olympics, the Americans and others who thought of withdrawing from the summer games decided to participate, nevertheless.

Their motives were not noble. The officials had set their hearts on the trip and the honors which would be paid them by the politico-military bosses of the Nazi regime, and the athletes, having won their positions on the team, cared less for principle than for the gratification of their own athletic ambitions and the trip to Europe.

Show Was Dominated by Politics, Militarism

Possibly there were some who thought that an example of civility would appeal to the Nazis' better nature, if any, and shame them into an outward show of human manners. If so they were mistaken, for the show was dominated by politics and militarism, and the settlement built for an Olympic village was designed to serve afterward as an army reservation.

True to form, the Nazi violated every pledge, conferred political honors on some of their winners and when the games were over announced that for the Tokyo games of 1940 they were planning to create a class of state gladiators who would be subsidized by the party. They would be professional career men in sport, as officers are professionals and career men in the army and navy.

In consideration of all such muckrakerism two American teams which toured Europe last summer avoided Germany, and this now has led to a protest which demands in effect that the Nazi standards be forced upon the civilized tribes. The protest calls for an apology to the Nazis or expulsion of the American Amateur Athletic union from the International Amateur Athletic federation.

Nazis Feel Invitation Is Same As Command

The Nazis, with their keen sense of their social inferiority in such matters, feel that the invitation from them is the same as a command and that a declination is an insult to that which they quailly regard their honor. If the protest is upheld by the politico-sporting diplomats of the international federation it will mean that the Nazis are free to compel other nations to play with them and treat them as equals regardless of any outrages which they may commit against the accepted rules of sporting decency.

Inasmuch as the Japanese are to be hosts to the next Olympics and considering the state of things in the Orient, this is a good time to begin to think of withdrawing from the whole Olympic business. These games have now fallen into government hands in many self-conscious nations and are becoming political and military occasions in

Bonneville Rates Receive Approval

Roosevelt Supports Amortization as Basis for Setting Prices

Hyde Park, N. Y.—(P)—J. D. Ross, administrator of the Bonneville, Ore., power project, announced Wednesday that President Roosevelt had approved 34 per cent interest rate and 40 year amortization plan as the basis for fixing rates for Bonneville power.

Ross, one of the president's chief advisors on power matters, said he hoped the same interest and amortization—paying back the capital cost—plan could be applied to all federal power projects.

He said the 34 per cent 40-year system would be applied to that part of the cost of Bonneville that is allocated to power production. The federal power commission, Ross asserted, is now engaged in separating the total cost of Bonneville, which runs upward of $50,000,000 into two items—navigation and electricity. The dam there was designed as a navigation aid as well as a power development.

Within a short time after he obtains his capital cost figure from the power commission, he said, he can

Peanuts Used to Trap Parking Law Offenders

Milwaukee, Wis.—(P)—Milwaukee police have been trapping parking violators with peanuts.

They used to mark the tires with chalk but then motorists got wise and rubbed out the tell-tale signs.

A police sergeant instructed his men to buy bags of peanuts. After chalking the wheels as of old an officer tucked a peanut in front of each front wheel and behind the rear wheels.

If the peanuts were whole when he returned the officer knew the car had overstayed its legal parking time regardless of what had happened to the chalk marks.

Police said the plan had worked.

Hollywood News And Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood.—To find bewildered people in Hollywood is easy. Practically everyone is bewildered because all Hollywood is that way either from surfeit of fortune or complete lack of it.

But when it comes to the most bewildered person in this bewildered town, that's a tough one to answer—unless you ask the question right now. Have you asked it? Then the answer is: Sigrid Gurie.

No movie fan has ever recognized her, few have heard of her, and even in Hollywood not one person in a hundred knows she's the luckiest of newcomers.

Miss Gurie, a few months ago just a pretty blonde who traveled to work in buses, brought her first leading role in pictures. And her first leading role—truly her first role—was opposite Gary Cooper in a super-super called "The Adventures of Marco Polo."

Shunned Photographers

Sigrid has been in Hollywood a year, but she knows little of it. It's a plot, of course. Samuel Goldwyn, who signed her, ordered her to stay home nights, to avoid interviews, to shun photographers.

Goldwyn, probably because he had over-publicized another foreign discovery named Anna Sten to no good end, had decided on the opposite extreme for Gurie.

Two months ago she was called from her "retreat" and put to work. She kept on using the public bus as a means of transportation—and each morning she was the only girl aboard who knew that Sigrid Gurie had a date at the studio to make love to Cooper.

She preferred the bus to driving because Los Angeles traffic overwhelmed her. Just lately her father—reading in a Norwegian paper that she was a bus-rider—sent her a new coupe and she's tentatively driving that.

She still stays away from previews, picture shows, and public appearances generally. Ask her how she likes Hollywood and she replies, with a whimsical smile: "How should I know what Hollywood is?"

She does her own housework to fill in her spare time under the Goldwyn "hidden flower" plot, and her other pastimes are planting flowers and trying to tune in Norway on her great extravagance, a multi-wave radio. She has never seen either of her Scandinavian fellows, Sonja Henie or Greta Garbo. She would like to.

Cold Sweat attacks motors all winter long

STOP the RUST and CORROSION it can cause in your car. Use this Fast-Starting, Lubricating Gasoline

"COLD SWEAT" spares no man's car. All winter long, in the form of water, it harasses unprotected metal parts, rusting and corroding valves, pistons and upper-cylinders. Unless checked and checked constantly, this winter menace cuts down motor performance, cripples power, destroys mileage.

Check its ravages. Guard your motor with the gasoline that was created to fight rust and corrosion—Tydol, the lubricating gasoline. Every gallon of this fast-starting fuel contains a special top-cylinder oil that constantly lubricates and protects all upper motor parts. Tydol spreads a tough film of oil over valves, pistons and upper-cylinders. They shed water like a duck's back. In addition, every gallon of Tydol contains a special anti-rust, anti-corrosion cleaning agent.

But that's not all; Tydol is the fastest starting fuel that ever zipped a motor over at 20° below. And all its extra qualities are yours at no extra cost!

SYNOPSIS: Neill, a young federal agent, finds his beloved Janet in a locked cabin aboard Prescott Fanning's yacht at Absalom's Harbor. Fanning is shot dead and Janet in a faint, a gun beside her. Neill hides her nearby in a disused liner, then joins Mark Boninger, keen local investigator, to keep tabs on developments. He thinks Janet shot Fanning until he learns a man was hidden on the yacht. Then he suspects queer little Eyster, who hated Fanning. Also in the picture are Kettering, a Baltimore lawyer down to fish, and Ira Buckless, a tough, who trails Neill. Eyster's tip enables Neill to find wealthy old Miss Rayner in Baltimore.

Chapter 27
A COOL MILLION!
DON'T you read the newspapers, Miss Rayner?"
"Certainly not. I've some thing better to read."
"Mr. Fanning is dead."
She took it more calmly than Neill expected. Death is a commonplace affair to the very old. "Dead?" she echoed sharply?
"Where? How?"
"He was found dead on his yacht in Absalom's Harbor."
"I didn't know he had a yacht."
"Murdered."

"Bless my soul!... Why do you come to me about it?"
Neill endeavored to soften his story. "We can't find out anything about him. Who his folks are, and so on. We thought perhaps you could help."
"I liked the man," said Miss Rayner. "but I was hardly what you would call a friend. We had some business dealings."
"This was what Neill was after. "Who brought him to you?"
"My estate agent, Edward Barney. I have a house for sale on Linden avenue. Mr. Fanning was thinking of buying it for a speculation, but he thought I was asking too much for it. So he persuaded Mr. Barney to bring him here. I wouldn't come down in my price but, as I said, I liked the man. He stayed on here chatting after Mr. Barney left and he came to see me a number of times after that."
"Have you confidence in Mr. Barney?" asked Neill.
"Absolute. A good, faithful creature. He's too dumb to be crooked. He's only my renting agent. He knows nothing about my affairs."
"Well, about Fanning...?"
"He was a man of large means," she went on, "and we had a common interest in our investments. He told me that he had established

Kaukauna Civic Growth Gained Impetus in 1870's

BY WILLIAM DOWLING

(Editor's Note: This year marks the golden jubilee of Kaukauna's incorporation as a city. This is the fourth of a series of articles tracing the development of Kaukauna from early times.)

Kaukauna—The industrial activities of the years 1860-80 were paralleled by developments in religion, education and civic improvement in Kaukauna. Kaukauna's first Sunday school was begun in 1873 by Deacon Brewster and Lobieski Shawron, a university student. In March of 1874 a Congregational mission church was organized, with the Rev. Williams as pastor for the first two years. In March of 1877 Deacon Jackson Tibbits of Appleton held religious services at Kaukauna, and in the fall of the same year he urged the building of a church.

The entire town of Kaukauna joined in the campaign to raise funds for the structure, and the new church was built and dedicated on Oct. 6, 1878, with a sermon by Rev. F. B. Doe.

The village school of Sept. 1, 1879, had 90 pupils enrolled. Attendance was very spasmodic, however, only 53 attending on an average each day of the school year. A few weeks after school started 25 pupils withdrew to attend the German school which had been organized. In February of 1880 Jeanne Scott was teacher of the primary grades, and Charles D. Conkey of the grammar department. About 20 more pupils withdrew at this time and joined the Catholic parochial school.

Raise Bridge Funds
In 1873 and 1874 measures were taken to insure Kaukauna with an adequate system of bridges. The town voted to raise $3,000 to rebuild the bridges at Kaukauna and Little Chute. The state legislature also authorized Kaukauna to borrow on the town's credit a sum not to exceed $5,000 for the purpose of building and repairing bridges. A tax was provided for to meet the bonds and interest.

In 1875 there were 400 men at work on Kaukauna improvements under the firm of Day and Call. The dam was built by Knapp and Gillen, and was 14 feet wide and 580 feet long. A new schoolhouse was also in the process of erection, the feature of which was to be a tower and bell. It was to cost $2,000.

One of Kaukauna's first organizations, the Good Templar's Lodge, in 1876 had over 50 members.

Social Items

Kaukauna—A state deputy will be present at the next meeting of the Royal Neighbors, Nov. 10, to take charge of the drill team, it was announced at a meeting held last night at the Odd Fellows hall. Prizes in schachkopf were won by Mrs. August Stegeman, first, Mrs. Emma Busse, second, and Mrs. Elizabeth Buerth, low.

Fire Chief Warns About Fall Bonfire Dangers

Kaukauna—A warning of the dangers attendant upon the burning of rubbish and leaves this fall was given to Kaukauna residents yesterday by Henry Esler, fire chief. "We had one fire last year about this time," Esler said, "caused directly by such a bonfire." In addition to the fire danger, Esler pointed out that children were particularly prone to play with fires, and warned parents against this practice.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. William Dowling is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

School Library Gets New Non-Fiction Books

Kaukauna—Several new volumes have been added to the Kaukauna High school library, all non-fiction. "The Making of American Civilization," by Charles A. and Mary R. Beard; "Economic Principles, Problems, and Policies," by William H. Kieckhefer; and "The Winnebago-Huron Basin—A Type Study in Western History," are three historical books purchased. The latter deals with the history of four Wisconsin counties, Calumet, Dodge, Winnebago and Fond du Lac. "Our Literary Heritage," by Blankenship, Russell, and others, and "American Literature," by Weeks and others, are two additional purchases.

4 Student Talks On Program for Armistice Day

Kaukauna High School Band Will Play Two Selections

Kaukauna—Tentative plans for the Armistice day program to be given in the civic auditorium by high school students Nov. 11 have been announced by Miss Ethlyn Handman, faculty adviser for the program. La Verne Kromer is the student chairman in charge of arrangements.

The program as planned includes four talks by students. Robert Cooper will speak on "The American Legion," Floyd Hooyman on "Have You Forgotten Yet," Kathryn Van Lieshout, on "Peace Plans of the World," and Ralph Bauer, "What Americans Believe In."

In addition to the speeches the Kaukauna High school band will present two selections, opening the program with various songs popular during the World War, and closing with the Star Spangled Banner.

Taps will be sounded by buglers Earl Treptow, Floyd Hooyman, Junior Swedberg, John Velte and Clifford Fernal.

Richard Hoolihan will give a vocal selection, entitled "My Buddy."

Committee Confers on Street Name Changes

Kaukauna—The first step in taking measures to change the names of some of Kaukauna's streets was made last night when the committee consisting of Aldermen Otto M. Ludtke, G. S. Mulholland and Jule Morten met to form resolutions which will later be presented to the council.

The changes contemplated will be the elimination of one name from streets that have two names; one Kaukauna street, for example, now has three names, Depot, Green and Meade. The committee will recommend this be made just Green street. Other similar changes will be made.

Discuss Club Growth At Rotary Luncheon

Kaukauna—The regular noon meeting of the Rotary club yesterday at the Hotel Kaukauna was devoted to a round table discussion, in which all members took part. Discussion centered about the possibilities of opening new Rotary clubs in this district, and also about increasing the membership of the Kaukauna chapter.

Collect Rubbish on North Side Next Week

Kaukauna—The regular monthly rubbish collection on the north side will be made starting Monday. Thomas Reardon, north side street commissioner, announced yesterday. Only rubbish and ashes which have been deposited in containers and placed upon the curb will be collected.

Parochial School Gridders Score Seventh Victory

St. Mary Team Defeats St. Boniface Eleven of DePere, 32-20

Kaukauna—The St. Mary's school gridders rang up their seventh successive victory of the season yesterday afternoon on the high school grounds against St. Boniface of West DePere, coming back in the second half to score two touchdowns to clinch a 32-20 triumph after leaving the field at the end of the first half with no better than a 20-20 tie.

Ranquette started the St. Mary's scoring early in the game when he scampered around right end for a touchdown from the 14 yard line. His attempted pass for the extra point was incomplete. The score shortly became 13-0 when Ranquette passed to Stulver who ran 60 yards to score. Ranquette added the point on an end run.

A poor St. Mary's punt gave the visitors the ball on the St. Mary 35, and a touchdown followed when a pass over the goal line was allowed because of interference. An end run for point was good, making the score 13-7. St. Boniface scored again in short order when, after several good gains through the line, Pauls ran the ball over from the 15 yard line. A pass for the extra point was good, putting the visitors in the lead, 14-13. This margin was increased to 20-13 when Skendore dashed 70 yards for another touchdown shortly after. A minute before the first half ended Danner crashed center for 12 yards and a touchdown to make it 20-20, a plunge for point being good.

13 Kaukauna Gridders Played in Menasha Game

Kaukauna—Thirteen Kaukauna football players made further strides toward earning their football letters in the game with Menasha last Friday night. Coach Paul E. Little announced yesterday. This number is the fewest to play in any game so far this year. The players participating and their times were: Alger, 48, Lambie, 48, Pendergast, 48, Hilgenberg, 48, Farnk, 48, Hooyman, 48, Niesen, 48, Kobussen, 48, Peterson, 48, Giordana, 48, Nole, 32, Ashe, 2, and Powers, 16.

2,500 Persons Visited Grignon Home This Year

Kaukauna—The largest number of persons to visit the historical Grignon home in one year have called at the residence so far this year, according to the records of the home. Up to now over 2,500 visitors have called, exceeding already the former record of 2,100 in the entire year of 1934. The home will remain open as long as favorable weather prevails.

Badgers Will Defend Women's League Lead

Kaukauna—The Badgers will bow out against the Tittmans at 9 o'clock tonight in the feature match of the Ladies bowling league. The Badgers are now in first place and the Tittmans in third. Also at 9 o'clock the fourth place Renns will attempt to improve their position against the Kalpas. At 7 o'clock the Lucky Strikes will roll against the Golden Stars, and the second place Schell team will play the Ristaurals.

BRITISH COOKS SCORED

Doctors and dentists of London and other cities in England are denouncing British cooking and point for proof to bad teeth and weak digestions. Dame Louise Mellory, an expert on household economics, says the average woman does not even know how to boil a potato.

Kaukauna Girl Scouts Hold Halloween Party

325 Hunting Licenses Are Sold at Kaukauna

Kaukauna—A total of 325 hunting licenses has been sold so far this season, Lester J. Brenzel, city clerk, said yesterday. No official count of year to year sales is kept in Kaukauna, but in general the sales are high. The hunters seem to outnumber the game available, however, as first reports of Kaukauna sportsmen show no large bags and generally poor prospects.

School Newspaper Gets Top Place Certificate

Kaukauna—The Kau-Hi News, high school newspaper, has received an engraved certificate showing an international first place award, from the Northwestern university headquarters of the national Quill and Scroll society. The award was won in the recent school newspaper competition sponsored by that body. The certificate will be framed and placed in the journalism room.

North China experiences the coldest winters in the world for its latitude.

Kaukauna Ready For Neenah Tilt

First Strong Squad Scores Almost at Will in Practice Session

Kaukauna—Coach Paul E. Little's Kaukauna high school football squad again enjoyed an afternoon of success against Neenah formations as employed by a group of reserves yesterday afternoon. Taking the ball on offense the veterans scored almost at will during the first part of the practice. The squad has received several new plays this week which will be used against the invaders Saturday.

With the return of Bill McCormick to the first string backfield after being out for two weeks due to injuries, Little once more has his best combination on the field.

With this backfield functioning behind a line which has been steadily improving throughout the season, the Kauks will be ready to play their best game of the year Saturday. They will also be fighting to preserve an unbeaten record at home this year, having taken successive contests from Clintonville, New London and St. Mary's of Menasha.

WORKERS VISIT ARCTIC

A 22-day excursion into the Arctic was given as a premium to 135 workers in Russia's largest plants. Organized by the All-Union Central Council of Trade Unions in Moscow the party visited Murmansk and crossed Barents Sea to Cape Desire, in the extreme north of Novaya Zemlay, returning by the same route. Many others visited the Arctic during the season.

Still Coughing?

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membrane and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Gather Material For Grid Bonfire

Classes, Organizations Putting Last Touches on Homecoming Floats

Kaukauna—With the opening of Kaukauna high school's homecoming activities little more than 24 hours away final preparations for the events are being completed. Material for the huge bonfire which will be set off at the Kaukauna ball park is piling up, and the various classes and organizations are putting the last minute touches on what they hope will be prize winning floats for the parade tomorrow night.

The parade will be led by the high school band and will march through both the north and south sides. It will break up at the ball park, and, after the bonfire and a shore pep meeting, interest will shift to the high school gymnasium where the annual homecoming dance will be given.

The dance is sponsored by the athletic council and will last from 8:30 until midnight. Music will be provided by the high school orchestra. The public is invited. Refreshments will be sold by Quill and Scroll, high school literary society, for the benefit of the athletic council.

Darboy Pair Gives Party in Honor of 30th Anniversary

Darboy—Mr. and Mrs. Anton Simon entertained at a dinner and supper at their home Sunday in honor of their thirtieth wedding anniversary. The following guests were present: the Rev. E. J. Schmidt, Miss Marie Kersten, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Simon and daughter, Patricia, Darboy; Mr. and Mrs. Art Simon and daughter, Heane, Little Chute; Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Simon, Appleton, and Miss Geraldine Lepp, Green Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. John Beelen who for the last year have been residing at the Fred Behling home, have moved to Appleton.

Miss Margaret Simon, who spent several weeks with her aunt, Miss Josephine Otto at Manitowish, returned to her home here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ashauer entertained relatives and friends at their home Sunday afternoon and evening, the occasion being Mrs. Ashauer's birthday anniversary. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fosterling and family, Neenah; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mielke and son Leo, Menasha; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Drexler and family, Mrs. Leona Ashauer, Miss Cole, and Clifford Hurley, Appleton; Matt Kuepper, Menasha.

The Misses Hildegard and Angela Wittmann entertained a number of friends at their home on Wednesday evening for Henry Emmers, Jr., the occasion being his sixteenth birthday anniversary. Games and music furnished the diversion, after which a lunch was served. Guests present were Paul and Joe Schwalbach, Cyril and Arlon Mader, Gordon Mader, Louis Borre, Marion; Eunice and Lorraine Emmers and Mary Wittmann.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schwalbach, and family, Mrs. Hannah Fischer and daughter Margaret, John Fischer, Sr., and John Fischer, Jr., attended the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fischer at his home at Wrightstown, Friday afternoon and also the anniversary dance at Little Chicago in the evening.

A daughter was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. George Sprangers at their home.

Personality Best Tool for Success, Kiwanis Club Told

Students Must Learn to Get Along With Other People, Sanford Says

Neenah—Declaring that personality rather than high grades in high school and college is more important to succeed in life, Chester Sanford, vocational counselor, told Kiwanians Wednesday night at the Valley Inn that more people fail in their life work because they can't get along with other people than because of lack of intelligence.

The vocational counselor, who is working with Neenah High school seniors this week, helping them select a suitable vocation, explained the results of an experiment conducted at Purdue University which, he said, proves his assertion.

A large sum of money was spent in this research work in which a graduating class was divided into two groups, the first group having members of the first group were considered the most intelligent, carrying the highest honors through four years of college training, but there young engineers were not liked; they were considered rude, conceited and cynical and were hard to get along with.

The students in the second group were "dumb" in comparison to the first group, the first group having an intelligent quotient of 147, and the second an I. Q. of 100, the average being 123.

Were Cooperative
The engineers in the second classification were easy to get along with, courteous, cooperative and appreciative of the things done for them. They were not snobs, and worked hard for the low mark they did receive. They were not self-centered and were considered gentlemen.

All members of both groups secured jobs when they were graduated, and for five years the progress of each engineer was studied. At the end of five years it was found that the members in the first classification had many jobs, but were not able to hold them, while those of the second group did not do so well at first, had fewer jobs but were able to keep them. It was learned that the earning power of each member of the first group was $200 less than that of each member of the second group at the end of the five-year period, and further checks showed that at the end of 10 years the earnings of the second group was $1,700 more.

During the course of the experiment it was found that many of the engineers in the first classification lost their jobs because they couldn't get along with their fellow employees.

Job For Teachers
"This need of directing personality traits in high school and college students puts an added responsibility onto the teachers, but its importance which is being realized more every day is the present study problem among educators," Sanford said.

"My purpose here is to help the students discover themselves," he explained. He briefly outlined his work with the students, pointing out the various vocations available to them according to the amount of formal education they may attain after leaving school and to their likes and dislikes.

"Students graduating from high school and unable to continue their formal education need the cooperation of the people in the town in which they live to give them work," he concluded.

Legion Quartet Will Entertain at Banquet

Neenah—Plans for the observance of Armistice Day, Nov. 11, have been nearly completed by the committee of Henry J. Lenz, postmaster, under the direction of Charles Baile, Gold Star fathers, as well as gold star mothers, will be guests of honor at the banquet at St. John's school hall.

A Legion quartet, composed of Ben Hart, Dr. Dell Christensen, Earl O'Brien and Harold Brand, will be a feature of the entertainment program.

Following the banquet a dance will be held at Elks' hall, starting at 8:30, for legionnaires and their ladies. Legionnaires are urged to make their reservations for the event early to assist the committee in its planning.

Police Recover One of Two Stolen Bicycles

Neenah—One of two bicycles stolen last night in Neenah was recovered today by Neenah police. A wheel owned by Henry Brown, 836 Broad street, Neenah, which was stolen while parked at the Neenah Paper company, was found by police this morning near Kimberly grade school. Another bicycle owned by Edward Aylward, 402 Ninth street, Neenah, was stolen while parked at Roosevelt grade school.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and advertising departments is located at 510 N. Commercial street and the telephone number is 4100. News items, copy or orders for advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or may be telephoned. This number before 7 o'clock in the evening for delivery of papers missed by carriers in Neenah or Menasha.

Women More Conservative Shoppers Than Men but Hurry Too Much, Clerks Say

BY CHARLOTTE MCINTYRE

Neenah—Contrary to an old theory, women are more conservative shoppers than men and take to fads less readily, according to Neenah store clerks.

But women shop too hurriedly and often leave a store without what they really want and should have according to a survey made this week among Neenah clerks, those people who not only have to be psychologists, tactful and patient people but who must also have an excellent knowledge of human nature, understanding well the unwritten law that "the customer is always right" though he may be wrong.

It is unusual for a woman shopper to enter a store and know exactly what she wants. When she shops for draperies, oilcloth or things for the home, she is particularly forgetful for she hasn't measurements and must go back home to take them.

Women like to browse around when they shop and can have "the time of their lives" window shopping. Many clerks believe window shopping is two thirds of selling although sometimes the response may not come until weeks later.

Price and quality play an equally important part when a woman shops today and she brings her paper and pencil along with her on a shopping expedition. Years ago, there were few things from which to select, today there are many styles and materials, many fads and many articles. There are many imitations, and good ones, on the market.

Like "Hard Customers"
Clerks like to wait on "hard customers" because they are convinced that the customer is more satisfied when she leaves a store and she has what she wants. "Easy to sell" customers are not always satisfied and may return for something different.

Women are not critical nor discourteous as a general rule when they shop. Brides or brides-to-be know exactly what they want and look for quality but are surprised at the expense of pillows.

A tip to those brides from the Neenah clerks is that mother's or grandmother's old feather beds in the attic could be made into pillows that would retail at more than $7 a pair.

When women shop for hats they are extremely conservative and never wear what they really want. The more hats they are shown, the less they know what they want and smart clerks will show them only a small group, determine what style the customer likes, and show the hats in that group. It is hard, clerks claim, to sell women new styles in hats or hats that might be called "fads of the moment." Some people who like a particular style, usually ultra-conservative, will buy as many as four hats, in different colors, in that style. Quality and smartness in a hat are what women look for, not for price.

Consider Husbands
Husbands come in for more consideration than they themselves receive when women shop for a hat because they either consider seriously whether the husband will like it or the hat is taken home for approval to get the man's verdict.

Quality rates higher than price in the dresses women buy too and they select smart lines and dresses that make them look well-groomed. However, women are too conservative in color according to clerks and are apparently afraid to select a bright colored dress even though it may be very becoming.

Women have very definite ideas about the kind of dresses they want when they come into a store but after they have tried on the style they have been seeking, they change their minds and select an entirely different fit.

Need for alterations on a dress often causes the loss of a sale but if a woman can try on a garment and have it fit satisfactorily, the sale is very simple. Short, stout women or heavily built women are willing to pay for a smart dress that fits and will leave the store more satisfied than women who are easy to fit but don't know what they want.

When buying baby clothes or small children's garments and shoes, mothers look for quality above all else. They inspect articles very carefully, ask intelligent questions and know definitely what they want.

When women buy gifts for men in the ready to wear articles such as shirts, ties, pajamas, or socks, they have good taste and rarely need to bring it back for exchange unless they have made a wrong estimate of size. Wives know well what their husbands like and want but sisters and girl friends, buying a gift, ask opinion of the clerks or select gifts on which they can't go wrong. Men are timid shoppers and for the most part are conservative but the young men like to start new styles and are quick to purchase fads in men's ready-to-wear.

Menasha Men Named To State Committee
Menasha—John Kuester, city water and light superintendent, was named to the auditing committee of the twelfth annual state convention of electrical inspectors at Madison Tuesday and Wednesday, August W. Lipske, foreman of the water and light department, was named to the nominating committee of the convention.

The 1937 electrical and safety problems were the chief topics of discussion. State electrical officials, electrical instructors from vocational schools and line and metermen from utilities were among the representatives at the meeting.

Reports Car Damaged By Hit-Run Motorist
Neenah—Carl Conrad, 514 N. Center street, Appleton, reported to Neenah police today that his automobile was involved in a collision with another car on County Trunk Highway A at 9:40 last night. Conrad told police that he was driving his car north on the highway near Adella Beach when another headed south, sideswiped his car. The driver of the other car didn't stop but kept going in the direction of Oshkosh. The side of Conrad's car was damaged, he reported.

Jorgenson Will Build Cage Team Around 4 Veterans

20 Candidates for Neenah Basketball Team Practice Daily

Neenah—Basketball Coach Ole Jorgenson will build his Neenah High school cage team this season around the four returning lettermen, Jack Hesselman, captain, Dan Schmidt, Frank Haertl and Arthur Jackson, he reported today.

The coach has three other veterans returning to the team, Warren Kettering, Donald McDiarmid and Oliver Krueger. These boys didn't earn their letters last season, but they were members of the first squad and saw some action.

Materially brighter than they appear, for the coach has 10 juniors who are either among those players presently working out or who will report as soon as football season is concluded. These juniors showed promise while sophomores on the second team last season. They are Dean Sword, Henry DuPont, Donald Bentzen, Kenneth Krueger, Harold Hockstad, Leo Peterson, Ed Blank, Arthur Karsch, Harold Taves and Kenneth LaBombard.

Twenty candidates for the cage team are working out daily in the gym, preparing for the class tournament. The coach will pick his squad from the tournament players. Football players, however, will not report for practice until the season is concluded. The class tournament will be held Nov. 10, 11 and 12.

Need for a 15-game schedule this season, eight games of which will be played at home. Three of the games will be non-conference contests.

Menasha Society
Menasha—In observance of their first wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jahnke entertained a group of relatives and friends at their home at 804 Eighth street Wednesday evening. Games were played during the evening with prizes awarded Miss Myra Kapingst, Wilmer Foth, Mrs. Gertrude Ecker and Bud Ecker. Traditional Halloween decorations were used at the luncheon tables.

Card parties this afternoon and evening in St. Patrick's school hall will close the fall bazaar of the parish which has been declared "most successful" by the committee in charge. Grand prizes will be awarded at tonight's card party.

About 500 persons were served dinner Wednesday evening and at the card party during the evening, prizes went to Mrs. C. Captain, Mrs. Anna Haysmer, Mrs. William Christopherson, and Mrs. Frank Michalekiewicz in schafkopf, to Miss Augusta Schubart and Mrs. Mary Jensen in whist and to Mrs. Henry Boehnlein and Mrs. Edward Loeschner in bridge. Skat winners were Walter Foth, William Webster and Wilfred Martell. Miss Angeline Dorn won the guest prize.

Members of Group 2, Ladies Society, First Congregational church, were entertained at a Halloween party Wednesday evening in the church social hall. Cash prizes awarded Mrs. Bertha Grant, Mrs. H. Wendt and Mrs. Philip Hoffman. Hostesses were Mrs. Fred Peterson and Mrs. Carl Schwartz. At the next meeting of the group, Mrs. John Kuester and Mrs. Emma Giebel will be hostesses.

Twenty-four members attended the one o'clock luncheon and social afternoon of group one, Ladies Society, First Congregational church, Wednesday. The group will not meet next week as a General Society meeting will be held at which plans for the turkey dinner Nov. 9 will be completed.

Mrs. Eleanor Suess, Mrs. Anna Lawton, Mrs. Rose Erickson and Mrs. Ruth Thomas won honors in bridge at the Halloween party Tuesday evening which Mrs. Arthur Kreckler and Mrs. Ralph Suess gave at the Kreckler home on Eighth street.

Mrs. C. Florence Nerbs was hostess at a Halloween party Tuesday at her home on Appleton street. Prizes in cards went to Mrs. E. Pickard, Miss Ruth Backus and Miss Margaret Golden.

Mrs. Fred Gege, Mrs. E. Sternhagen and Mrs. A. Smith will be hostesses at the Missionary circle meeting at 2 o'clock this afternoon in Trinity Lutheran school. "The Great Reformer, Dr. Martin Luther," will be the topic led by Mrs. Paul G. Bergmann.

Menasha Lady Eagles will entertain at a Halloween party and covered dish supper Sunday for the husbands and friends of members. Mrs. Edith Villiquette is chairman of the arrangements.

Plans for the annual pre-Christmas carnival to be held Dec. 8 with Mrs. Chester Shepard as general chairman were discussed at the St. Anne's guild meeting in St. Thomas Episcopal church parish house Wednesday afternoon. Drive for members and bi-monthly meetings also were discussed. Mrs. Shepard was tea hostess during the social hour which followed.

Mrs. Harold Smith, Mrs. Curt Smith, Mrs. Gilbert Suelow and Miss Pearl Smith will entertain B.B.B. society members at a Halloween party Friday evening in the recreational rooms of the First Congregational church.

Mrs. Flora Borenz, Mrs. Rose Rippl and Mrs. Josephine Traitz won prizes in cards at the social hour which followed the business session of the Catholic Women's Benevolent

Good Posture Bears Important Relation To Health, Club Told

Neenah—Of 33 Neenah High school girls with posture defects such as lateral curvature, sway back, and one shoulder higher than the other, 20 of them were able to take only moderate gym work because of heart condition, Miss Grace Breitreiter, Neenah High school physical education instructor, told members of the Friendly Folk club in the Twin City Y.W.C.A. as she emphasized the relation between good posture and health.

"Only one out of every 17 women walk correctly according to statistics but I am inclined to believe it is one out of every 100," said Miss Breitreiter as she gave four reasons why good posture is an advantage. "It gives better appearance, conserves energy, makes for proper growth and development and makes one feel wide awake."

Miss Breitreiter discussed corrective methods for posture defects and illustrated the waddler, the hip swinger, the bouncer, the pounder and the kangaroo walker.

During the business session which preceded the program, the newly formulated constitution was read and discussed. It is planned to limit the membership to 25 and have dues of $1 per year.

Reilly Says Money Exchange Medium, Measure of Debts

Congressman Claims Constant Value of Dollar Goal of Legislation

Menasha—Congressman M. K. Reilly, Fond du Lac, spoke on money theories and banking Wednesday noon at the meeting of the Rotary club at Hotel Menasha. He contrasted the importance of money in the present machine-age with its importance in the days when trade consisted chiefly of barter.

After explaining that money had two functions, to serve as a medium of exchange and to serve as a measure of deferred payments, Congressman Reilly went on to say that a dollar with unvarying purchasing power was the goal of all money and banking legislation today.

"What we are trying to seek today is to make it possible for the borrower to pay back a debt in a dollar of the same purchasing power of the dollar he borrowed," Reilly said. As an example of the varying purchasing power, Reilly said that $1,000 could have been deposited in a bank in 1902. In 1920 interest would have increased the amount another $1,000, yet it would have required a third $1,000 in 1920 to purchase what only $1,000 would have bought in 1902.

Mr. Reilly also explained the quantitative and qualitative theories of money. According to the quantitative theory, he said, prosperity depends upon the amount of money in circulation, while the other theory holds that it is the quality of the dollar and not the number of dollars in circulation which affects business.

St. Mary Squad Faces Marion in Final Home Tilt

Invaders Lead Tri-County Conference With 3 Victories

Menasha—St. Mary gridders will be facing no set-up when they oppose Marion Tuesday in the last home game of the season. The Marion team leads the Tri-county conference with a record of three straight victories and probably will clinch the title this Friday in its game with Manawa.

Marion this season has scored five victories, one tie, and received no defeats. Their goal line has been crossed in only two games, Mosinee getting one touchdown while Omro scored 13 points and gained the tie. Among the victims of the Marion team are Clintonville of the Northwestern Wisconsin conference by a 39 to 0 score. Kimberly, which held the Zephyr squad to a scoreless tie, was defeated by Marion by a 20 to 0 count.

Meyer, shifty halfback, is the spearhead of the Marion attack with 76 points on 12 touchdowns and four conversions. Bochar is the second leading scorer on the team which has accounted for 179 points to 20 for its opponents.

The fact that Marion plays Manawa on Friday and then comes here for a game on Tuesday, may find the St. Mary gridders with a bit of an edge in physical condition. The Zephyrs will not be content with a defensive battle and yesterday drilled on offensive maneuvers which it is hoped will be effective against the Marion defense.

Neenah Society
Neenah—Neenah freshmen Girl Reserves, group two, will meet at the Twin City Y. W. C. A. at 3:30 Saturday afternoon for a hike to Miss Vician Knorr's home on route 1, Menasha, where they will have a Halloween party and supper. Betty Hardt, Mary Jane Schmidt, Virginia Kuchenecker and Dolly Glinke are planning the entertainment.

Miss Ruth Rouse entertained at a surprise party in honor of her mother, Mrs. Bert Rouse, 111 E. Forest avenue, who observed her birthday anniversary Sunday. Schafkopf provided entertainment for the guests and prizes went to Henry Klundt, Menasha, Ervin Simon, Appleton, Mrs. Anna Teske. Games were played and prizes were awarded Mrs. Henry Klundt, Menasha, and Mrs. Reine Pruchmotski, Appleton. Eighteen guests attended.

Girl Reserves in Neenah and Menasha are busy these days planning renovation of toys, games and dolls for Christmas baskets and more old games, toys and dolls are needed for rebuilding and reconstructing. If any resident in either of the cities has any old toys, a call to the Twin City Y. W. C. A. would bring a Girl Reserve after them.

Library to Display Water Colors, Oils By Carl Christensen
Neenah—About 50 water color and oil paintings by Carl Christensen, Neenah artist and director of the Neenah Vocational school, will be shown at the public library Tuesday under the auspices of the Museum society of the library.

Mr. Christensen has gained considerable recognition from his works of art, especially his water color paintings. The pictures that will be on display Tuesday are those which he painted last summer while attending art school in Maine. The majority of Mr. Christensen's work deals with the coast of Maine, and he tends toward the more tranquil subject such as aged wharves, moored schooners, and rocky coast lines.

an investment trust in New York which paid 6 per cent and over on its stock. I was getting less than three on my government bonds. I am interested in many philanthropies and I need all the income I can get. I exchanged my bonds for stock in Mr. Fanning's trust. I took a little at first, and as the price continued to rise, I got more."

"Without any investigation?"

"Certainly not! I investigated it thoroughly. I received very fine references and testimonials on Mr. Fanning's behalf from New York People. I'll show them to you."

"Did you consult with any Baltimore business men, or with your lawyer?" he asked.

"No, I prefer to act on my own initiative."

"Do you know a man here called Horace Lettinger?"

"He's a lawyer in town."

"I've never seen the man nor had anything to do with him."

"Did Mr. Fanning ever speak of him?"

"No."

"Did Mr. Fanning introduce you to any of his friends or associates?"

"No."

"Did you ever hear the names Ira Buckless or David Eyster?"

"No."

"Of course, they might have gone under other names. They are peculiar looking men. They described Eyster and Buckless."

"I don't know any men of that sort," she said scornfully. "Is all this leading up to the suggestion that there is something crooked about Fanning?"

"Neill didn't answer."

"That's ridiculous on the face of it," said Miss Rayner. "He only promised me 6 per cent. A swindler would have guaranteed 10 or 15."

The Fake Certificates

In spite of her confident talk, Neill had roused an ugly doubt in the old lady's mind. Hoisting herself out of her chair, she tottered to a safe that stood open against the wall. Taking from it a portfolio she brought it to him.

Opening it, Neill thumbed over a sheaf of beautifully engraved certificates, not worth the paper they had spoiled.

"Aren't they all right? Aren't they all right?" she demanded.

He had not the heart to deliver the blow. "I reckon so," he said. "I know nothing about such matters. How much did Fanning charge you for the stock?"

"It sells at par over the counter," she eagerly explained. "That's 10. He let me have it for 9."

The certificates in the portfolio represented 125,000 shares. So Fanning had raked her for over a million dollars. Neill inwardly gasped at the thought of such a sum. What had become of it? He handed back the portfolio.

"The first dividend was paid on the nail," said Miss Rayner. "Naturally! thought Neill."

She brought him a sheaf of letters. "These will tell you all about Mr. Fanning. Who his associates are, and so on."

Neill took down names and addresses in order to satisfy her, and got out as soon as he could. It made him feel a little sick to think of the brutal awakening that was in store for the frail little old lady.

In the street he thought things over. Beyond establishing the identity of Fanning's victim, he had not got very far. The manner of Fanning's introduction to the old lady suggested that the estate agent was in no wise implicated and Miss Rayner had confirmed it.

Neill drove back downtown and called at Mr. Osgood's office. He found him a conservative specimen of the genus Family Lawyer. Impossible to suspect such a one. Mr. Osgood claimed not to have met Fanning. He was deeply shocked to learn that Fanning had been a frequent caller on his client.

"I must look into this," he muttered.

Neill didn't envy him that job. Mr. Osgood said that his acquaintance with Fanning was very slight. He made it clear that he did not care for the man. "A successful criminal lawyer, I understand," he said condescendingly.

Before returning to Absalom's, Neill had himself carried over to Washington. In the treasury department he cashed a check for all he had coming to him in order to be ready for anything. He looked in on his chief.

"Having a good time?" asked the latter.

"Well," said Neill. "If you knew the half of it! he thought grimly. 'I'll have an assignment for you on Monday.'"

As he started out of town, Neill bought the latest papers and found, as he had foreseen, that they were now playing up the theory that Fanning had been decoyed into the girl's cabin and killed by a man for his money. Neill flung down the sheets with a groan of helpless anger.

The Mob Matters

It was approaching seven o'clock when he got back to Absalom's. Late the papers had been sent down from town as fast as issued and the latest story was already having its effect. From the crowd that pressed around the store, Neill heard a new note, a slow growling sound that once heard can never be forgotten.

As he crossed the porch on his way in, he overheard a snatch of talk.

"When we catch them two we ought to string them up."

"Not the woman," answered another. "That's never been done."

"Well, we can string him up and let her watch. That'd learn her!"

Neill swept a glance around. Every face bore the same dark look and he knew then what it was to be alone. Hycenas! he thought, hardening.

He found Bonniger with Sergeant Wilson and the constables in the loft over the store, and made his report.

"Good work," said Bonniger. "It fits in with other information about Fanning that has come over the wire today. During the past four or five weeks he opened accounts with half a dozen banks in Washington, Baltimore and New York. Large sums of money passed through these accounts. Just before he died, he closed them all out, and got his checks back, thus blocking our investigation of his operations."

"Pretty slick," said Neill. "It's clear that he converted his million into something easily portable," said Bonniger. "He must have had it with him, and there's your motive for the murder! A cool million! This case looks bigger and bigger!"

Neill noticed with considerable uneasiness that all the constables with the exception of the man guarding the yacht had been called in. He had evidently interrupted a conference. "What are you getting ready for?" he asked.

"We have not been idle while you were away," said Bonniger. "This afternoon a fisherman called Jake Loker brought me a packet containing 100 new $5 bills that he had found floating in the river."

Neill's heart began to sink like a piece of water-logged wood.

"He picked it up at a point off Northern's pavilion," Bonniger went on. "The tide was then at half flood. The money had been in the water more than 12 hours, but not much more, because the paper was not yet pulpy. Of course the fact that the bills were bound in a tight bundle helped to protect them. Through the Merchants National Bank of Baltimore, I established that these same bills had been drawn by Prescott Fanning last Monday."

"So what?" asked Neill. (Copyright, 1937)

Church Women Plan to Give Public Card Party

Bear Creek — The women of St. Mary's congregation will give a public card party Monday evening at the Forester rooms. Bridge, five hundred and bingo will be played.

Members of the W. C. O. F. met at the Forester rooms Tuesday evening. After a business meeting the time was spent at cards. High score was awarded to Mrs. R. J. Neely. Plans were made for a Halloween party for the girls and boys' courts of Foresters which will be held Sunday evening, Oct. 31, at the Forester rooms.

The girls' court of Foresters held a meeting Tuesday evening. Installation of officers took place. After the meeting, bingo was played. Stella and Ellen Nordner were on the serving committee. Those who attended were: Marion Flanagan, Vivian Brice, Dorothy Thebo, Vivian Lorge, Helen Gough, Jean Long, Virginia Dempsey, Anna Mae and Irene Smith, Jeanette and Frances Lorge, Bertille and Mary Wied, Helen and Kathleen Rebmman, and Marjorie Bates.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Gough of the village, accompanied by Mrs. George Ross and Miss Eileen Scanlon of New London, were weekend visitors at Waukegan, Chicago and Evanston.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Reinke and family have moved from rooms over the bank building to the F. B. Larson house.

Mrs. P. J. Dempsey, Mrs. M. M. McCone, Mrs. Charles Miller and Mrs. Fred Reinke spent Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. James Dempsey. Cards were played.

ISLAND CAUSES SUIT

Because one island in the Danube defied the fate of many which have appeared, waned and disappeared in Budapest, Hungary. The prosecutor is the little village of Dunapentele, 30 miles south of Budapest, and the defendant is the church community of the village of Dunavecs, about a mile downstream. Fifty years ago Dunapentele sold an island of three acres to the church community. The little island grew until it now covers 19 fertile acres. The Dunapenteles are demanding payment for the additional 16 acres, but the Dunavecsians say, "No, we bought the whole island and paid you the price you asked."
